OKAY SCHOOL PLANS

Schools Plan Complete Use Of Tax Boost

Preliminary estimates of 1965-66 receipts and expenditures in two operating funds of Arlington Heights School District 25, presented at Monday's school board meeting, anticipate full use of the district's maximum tax rate.

If all taxes and other sources produce as expected, receipts for the coming budget year should total $3,137,300 in the educational fund — the district's main operating fund.

Building fund receipts are expected to total $509,250, but this fund covers only maintenance and repairs—not construction projects.

Anticipated receipts are up substantially over 1964-65 totals of $2,835,000 and $450,450 respectively.

District Supt. Ralph Clabaugh explained that expected receipts in both funds again include amounts of "new taxes," or taxes to be levied in 1965 which would not normally be used until the 1966-67 budget year.

HE ESTIMATED that this year's use of new taxes would come to approximately $750,000 in the educational fund and $70,000 in the building fund, and explained that he has included $800,000 and $95,000 in estimates for the coming year.

Receipts this year will show the gain of a 21-cent tax increase in the educational fund authorized by referendum in 1963 and levied last year.

But the amount estimated to be received from current taxes in that fund is only $1,155,300. Another large segment of the total is state aid, figured at $1,019,000—though it may be raised in this session of the Illinois Legislature.

If that were raised, Clabaugh said, the amount of new taxes used could be reduced by the same amount.

Other anticipated revenue sources for the educational fund include delinquent taxes, military encampment, state funds for special education, tuition, and excess township funds.

THE TOTAL expected receipts for both the building fund and educational fund will serve as a guide during formation of the district's budget over the next three months.

The only variable in these anticipated receipts which may now be controlled by the board, since maximum tax rates are being used in both funds, is the amount of new taxes to be used.

But Clabaugh said he felt the district could operate on his projections, assuming growth and salary boosts in proportion to those factors of previous years.

See Budget Draft Ready By Feb. 1

The first draft of Arlington Heights' 1965-66 municipal budget is to be presented for discussion by the village board Feb. 1, finance committee chairman Norval Stephens announced this week.

He said his committee would also probably make a recommendation at that meeting for adoption of a revised capital improvements budget which maps out larger projects for a period of five years.

STEPHENS SAID his committee had discussed the improvements budget last Wednesday and had scheduled another meeting for yesterday (Wednesday) evening to discuss it further.

Action on this document is advisable before the annual budget comes before the board, he said, because large capital expenditures must be mapped out on more than a yearly basis.

The board has already roughly projected village expenditures for the next two years under a system of three-year budget planning adopted last year in an attempt to stabilize the tax rate.

NON-CONFORMING use of garage-like structure in downtown Arlington Heights for moving storage was made even more obvious by a brilliant orange paint job. But that will all be changed within 90 days, according to owner Nicholas M. Lattof. Movers will go, and something better is coming. (Staff photo by Larry Cameron)

Furniture Store Coming?

Van Firm to Move from Dunton Street Location

A large building in downtown Arlington Heights, recently used for new car storage and now used as a warehouse by a moving and storage company, is destined to see better days.

A petition before the village's zoning board which sought permission for continuation of the present use in conflict with commercial district requirements was withdrawn Monday.

Nicholas M. Lattof, owner of the structure just north of Sigwalt Street between Dunton and Evergreen avenues, said in his letter explaining the withdrawal that, "It stands to reason that we would want better use for our buildings in the downtown area."

HE SAID HE had been unaware, when he leased the building to Von Sydow's Fire Proof Warehouse, agents for Allied Van Lines, that their contemplated use would violate the village's zoning ordinance.

Lattof also added that, as soon as he had learned the use of the premises was in violation, he had informed village officials the lessee would move out as soon as he could make other arrangements.

But this notice came after an original petition to allow the use to continue for the term of Von Sydow's lease had met strong opposition from retailers in neighboring Dunton Court.

The petition was withdrawn on the condition that the village would not prosecute the present user for 90 days, during which another location could be found.

Lattof announced in a letter to his attorney, Stephen Jurco, who in turn presented it to the zoning board, that he was working on plans for the building which "will certainly be a credit to the business area."

NO INDICATION was given at the hearing of contemplated use for the property, now suitable for 10-story commercial or apartment development; but Arlington Heights furniture dealer Joseph Schneller will apparently move at least part of his operation into the present building.

Schneller, whose Colonial Shoppe building at 15 N. Hickory Ave. is now being offered for sale, said this week he is in the final stages of negotiations for a lease on the Lattof property.

He said his move into the central business district would be preceded by extensive remodeling of the single-story, 9,000 square foot structure.

OTHER PLANS for more intensive commercial use of the property are under consideration, Schneller said, but he did not elaborate on these.

Schneller had proposed construction of a 10-story building in downtown Arlington Heights more than a year ago, but the plan for a combination store, office and apartment structure at the corner of Davis Street and Evergreen Avenue never got further than the preliminary discussion stage.

Since that time, the entire central business area has been rezoned to allow 10-story building height essentially as he had planned.

LATTOF ALSO has been an active participant in discussions of possible downtown development and revitalization. He owns or controls other parcels in the central area in addition to the property between Dunton and Evergreen.

At least four other large parcels of downtown property are under consideration for redevelopment under the village's new B-5 commercial zoning classification, but only one has been removed from the wraps of secrecy.

The single announced development plan is for a 10-story apartment building with a floor of stores and offices, to be located at the intersection of Highland Avenue and Eastman street.

Public Will Vote Feb. 20

Preliminary floor plans for four building additions in Arlington Heights School District 25 were approved by the school board Monday without change. Citizens crowding the small board room were given their first glimpse of a massive building program for which they will be asked to authorize a $2½ million expenditure by referendum Feb. 20.

The schools for which plans were presented are Olive, Patton and Dunton, serving kindergarten through fifth grades, and Thomas Junior High School.

Additions to these, and construction of a new school in Ivy Hill subdivision for which plans were not ready, are proposed as the first phase of the two-phase program which residents will be asked to approve.

In his presentation of the addition plans, architect William Ganster complimented district officials for their foresight in originally requesting that all four schools under consideration be constructed to allow for easy and economical expansion.

ENOUGH HEATING capacity and all utilities were provided in the original construction of the buildings to allow additions without supplementing the central plant or tearing into the existing structure.

Included in the three planned K-5 additions, as approved, are eight new classrooms each at Olive and Patton schools, and five new classes and a library at Dunton.

At Thomas Junior High School, the number of teaching stations, including physical education and band rooms, is to be raised from 23 to 40. Ganster said the building would end up within a few square feet of the size of Miner Junior High School.

He said all of the additions were as originally contemplated when the first building sections were built, but still further additions could be made to the K-5 schools if growth in the district warranted them.

GANSTER ALSO said that, figuring normal costs per square foot of school construction, estimated cost for these buildings at least would remain very close to what was originally quoted to establish a referendum total.

Plans for the fifth school in the first construction phase are to be presented at an adjourned meeting of the school board Feb. 1. The Ivy Hill construction is to include seven classrooms with a physical plant suitable for future expansion.

The first phase, if the referendum is successful, is to be completed to allow occupation of facilities in September, 1966.

Additions planned for the second construction phase include six rooms at Dryden School, six at Greenbrier, and six sections at South Junior High.

IN ADDITION, the referendum is to cover extensive remodeling in the South Junior High building, an addition to the administrative wing at South, and a maintenance shop addition—all for the second phase.

Tagged onto the first phase is acquisition of two lots in the block which contains South and Park schools.

Estimated cost for the first segment is $1,490,000; and the estimate for the second is $970,000. The largest single project would be addition and remodeling at South Junior High, estimated at $460,000.

The construction, in addition to present facilities, is expected to handle 9,100 students in 1967-68, compared to present enrollment of about 7,800.

GOP to Interview For Township Slate

A slate of Republican candidates for Wheeling Township offices will be lined up for approval by a party caucus following interviews next week.

This is the first time a regular party slate will be formally organized on the township level. Thomas J. Houser, township committeeman, had indicated such action would be taken following the Nov. 3 general elections.

Democrats will not present a formal slate.

A Republican slate also has been organized in Elk Grove Township.

Houser said the Wheeling Township Regular Republican Organization will "totally support" its slate in the April election.

A NOMINATING committee composed of 20 of the 55 precinct committeemen and headed by Houser will interview prospective candidates and draw up the slate. Houser said anyone interested in running should call either Mrs. Frank Kolerus, CL 5-0629, or Albrt Miller, 392-4231, to arrange an interview appointment for next Tuesday, Jan. 19, or Wednesday, Jan. 20.

The slate will be presented before the official caucus Feb. 2, to be voted on by the party in accord with state statutes regulating township campaigns by regular party organizations.

Under the statute, caucuses must be called for the second Tuesday in February by the Township Board of Auditors if regular parties are backing slates. However, since the Democrats will have no slate, they may choose simply not to attend their caucus.

OFFICES INVOLVED in the coming election, and the incumbents are: supervisor, Albert C. Peters; clerk, Mrs. Dorothy Hauff; auditors, Russ Conklin, Ethel Kolerus, W. Edward Fritz, tax collector, Marjorie Carter; tax assessor, John Peters, and highway commissioner, William Luehring.

Except for Fritz, an independent, all are regular Republicans.

Supervisor Peters Wednesday said he will run again, and, "I think the others probably will. However, the incumbents have neither gotten together nor discussed the election."

"I've made it a point not to talk with the incumbents," Houser said, "and I'm not going to talk to them before they come before the slating committee."

Refuse Bus Plea by Ivy Hill Delegation

Wondering why their children should be denied free bus transportation to Thomas Junior High School when others living closer were granted such service, 18 residents of Ivy Hill subdivision in Arlington Heights appeared before the District 25 School Board Monday.

Over the past several years, the board has held to an established policy that children living within a mile and a half of their school must walk or pay for bus transportation, while those living beyond that distance may ride free.

BUT CONTROVERSY arose in Ivy Hill over how that distance should be measured. Residents from Cherry Lane could point to others at least two blocks south of them toward the school who received the free service — yet they were denied it.

The apparent incongruity is caused by a further policy that the distance to be used in determining those eligible for free service is the shortest driving distance from home to school.

In the case of many Ivy Hill residents living south of the Cherry Lane protest group, that distance is less than a mile and a half to school, but far greater on the trip home because of one-way traffic on access roads along Palatine Road which provide access to their streets.

In such cases, board President Victor Myer explained, the average distance both ways is computed and used to determine eligibility.

BUT JOHN Caldarazzo, speaking for the protest group, contended that the system was unfair since none of the children attending Thomas Junior High drove cars.

He and other members of his group agrued that their children are forced to walk along or across hazardous streets including Rand Road, Palatine Road and State Road.

They questioned a policy which would establish a cutoff for free service in the middle of a block or a subdivision, but Myer countered that free service was based entirely on that for which the district receives state reimbursement. He said the standards the district used were thus set up by state statute, and showed favoritism to nobody.

Caldarazzo then further questioned the method used to determine distance between home and school. He claimed the only accurate method would be a bicycle wheel odometer walked over the routes, rather than a car.

AGAIN, MYER said the district had depended on an outside agency — the office of the Cook County Superintendent of Schools — to measure the distance, since one measurement by district personnel had proved inaccurate.

Myer offered a re-measurement by the county office, but the board remained inflexible on its policy. Other board members brought out instances in other areas of the district in which walking distance and computed driving distance were widely variant.

The board president also said the matter of walking hazard could not be considered, since hazards existed all over the district and a bus would always be provided — only those within a mile and a half would have to pay for it.

BUT THE protestors' ears were tuned for compromise, and when the policy remained firm their rank broke toward the door with angry queries of "What do we pay taxes for?" and threats that the next school tax would not be paid.

"You must do what you think right," president Myer concluded.

Suburban Officials To Hear Daley

Richard J. Daley, Chicago's Democratic mayor, will address the Northwest Municipal Conference Jan. 27, at the Old Orchard Country Club in Mount Prospect.

This will be Daley's first appearance in the northwest suburban area. The occasion is the annual ladies night and election of officers for the coming year of the organization.

Slayer of Stepmother Committed

Charles A. Buckholz, admitted slayer of his stepmother Mrs. Paul Buckholz at their home, 2420 E. Kensington Rd., Arlington Heights, last Oct. 29, was committed to Elgin State Hospital Jan. 6 for an indefinite term.

In Buckholz' trial in criminal court that date, Judge Herbert C. Paschen instructed the jury to find the defendant insane after expert testimony that he was schizophrenic.

THE 20-YEAR-OLD Buckholz had spent four months in the Illinois Psychiatric Research Institute before the slaying, and had been treated as an out-patient that same day.

Mrs. Buckholz was shot once through the hips with a 30.06 hunting rifle as she entered the family home between 7 and 7:30 p. m. Oct. 29. Charles Buckholz was waiting on the porch steps when his father came home and discovered the crime.

The gun had been kept away from the youth in a locked room, but a door had been broken to gain access.

Surveyor Errs, But No Harm Done

There is no need to feel low just because Thomas Junior High School is, architect William Ganster told the Arlington Heights District 25 School Board Monday.

Ganster and Hennighausen, Architects, who have designed all schools constructed recently in the district, discovered too late that a surveyor's error had set the entire Thomas building a foot lower than it was designed.

TOO LATE, THAT is, to do anything but charge the general contractor W. F. Fitzsimmons for an extra pavement drain which had to be installed adjacent to the school to assure proper drainage.

The bill was $1,300, and beyond that Ganster said the contractor could be held liable for any future damages due to the mistake.

But he told the board that, in his opinion, the difference between planned and completed elevation would not cause any difficulties now that the extra drain had been added.

The board decided to send formal notice to Fitzsimmons of his possible liability, just to be sure.

United Fund Sets Jan. 27 Election

Annual meeting for the Arlington Heights United Fund, at which new officers and several new directors are to be elected, has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 27 at the Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home.

All persons who contributed $5 or more in the 1964 campaign are qualified as voting members of the organization, according to Fund President C. Fred Leydig.

The annual meeting will also include a report on last year's drive, and organization plans for this year.

A SPECIAL nominating committee is to present a list of candidates for posts open in the 1965 election, including all offices and nine director slots; but nominations may also be made from the floor, Leydig said.

The United Fund charter requires an annual meeting each January, but the requirement has not been met in past years and campaigns have suffered from last-minute organization.

Officers selected for the 1964 drive in August vowed that the situation would not be allowed to come up again.

Scarsdale Group Slates Meeting

Th annual meeting of the Scarsdale Estates Association will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) at the Dryden School.

Allresidents of Scarsdale Estates are urged to attend. Election of officers and directors for 1965 and other area business are on the agenda.

Charged in Theft Of Trailer Hitch

Police arrested a Westchester man Friday for theft of a trailer hitch from the State and Central Shell Station, Arlington Heights, last Dec. 23.

Local officers also questioned the subject, George Chiavola, in connection with the burglary of furnishings from a model home in Surrey Ridge subdivision that same night, but no charges have been made.

CHIAVOLA WAS suspected of connection with the burglary when residents near the model home told police that a car similar to his, pulling a rental trailer, had backed the trailer into the garage of the display home the night of the burglary, then driven away.

The suspect had rented a trailer that night at the nearby gas station, and returned the trailer but never returned the hitch which went with it.

Westchester police had also reported that Chiavola was seen moving furniture from his apartment the night before he was arrested, but Chiavola has denied this according to the Arlington report.

NO FURNITURE answering the description of items taken was found at his Westchester residence, police said.

Chiavola, who moved to Illinois recently from Missouri, is employed in Chicago by a furniture dealer. (A

Mrs. John Mullen of Barrington, a League of Women Voters state board member, will speak on the need for state election law reform at the Tuesday, Jan. 19, meeting of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters.

The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park fieldhouse.

As legislative chairman for the Illinois League, Mrs. Mullen directs LWV efforts to see programs they support adopted by the State of Illinois. In the current legislative session the League will be urging election law reform revision of the Revenue Article, and calling of a constitutional convention to rewrite Illinois' 1870 document.

WITH ILLINOIS Leagues winding up a two-year study of welfare services, members of the Arlington Heights League will consider what recommendations they should make for a new state study project.

First-round suggestions are due from Illinois' 76 Leagues by Jan. 28, with the final selection of a new state LWV agenda to be made at the state convention in Springfield in late April.

Mrs. Stephen Caruso of Prospect Heights will be in charge of the discussion of new state projects, while a discussion of state "continuing responsibilities" — League language for stands the League has taken in the past and continues to support — will be led by Mrs. Bruce Kelly, continuing responsibilities chairman.

A NEW UNIT of the local LWV, to meet in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Bruce Bremberg, 1111 Greenwood Dr., will have its first regular meeting Monday. Jan. 25, at 1 p.m. The unit will have its meetings on Monday afternoons and will be open to all League members who prefer an afternoon meeting.

Two other units will have meetings this month. The evening unit will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26, in the home of Mrs. Robert Bishop, 1035 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, and the morning unit will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Hal Cress, 926 N. Yale, Arlington Heights. Babysitting for the morning unit meeting will be available in the R. J. Schlott home at 1010 N. Princeton, also in Arlington.

At all three units the topic will be Cook County governmtnt, with a discussion to be led by Mrs. Bremberg, local League delegate to the Cook County LWV Council. Assisting her will be Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Herbert Anderson of Wheeling and Mrs. Edward Venetianer of Buffalo Grove. (A

There is no entry fee for any of the events, and no fee for spectators.

There will be four open events, with most of the others separated according to sex and age groups. Contestants will compete in the following age brackets: 7 years and younger, 8-9 years, 10-11 years, 12-13 years, 14-15 years, 16 and older.

THE PROGRAM will include 110-yard dashes for boys and girls in the younger age brackets, and 220 yards for intermediate and older youths.

The two figure skating competitions, one for boys and one for girls, will be open to all ages, as will a 440-yard dash for girls and an 880-yard dash for boys.

Two other events scheduled are novelties for boys and girls 11 years and under called shuffle races, in which each person pushes a shuffleboard disc with a stick.

IN CASE of bad weather the event will be held the following Saturday, Jan. 23.

Starting times for all events will range from 10 a.m. through 11:50, according to age bracket. Shuffle races are to start at 11:20 and 11:25, and figure skating competition for both boys and girls is to start at 11:50.

Peterson Outlines Syndicate History

The history of the Chicago crime syndicate was outlined by Virgil Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, Friday night at a meeting at the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

Approximately 400 persons heard the former FBI agent issue a warning that organized crime is attempting to infiltrate legitimate business.

Seven Arlington Churches joined in sponsoring the public meeting: Christian Church, Congregational Church, First Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, St. John's United Church of Christ, Evangelical Free Church and St. Simon's Episcopal Church.

AT THE conclusion of the program it was brought out the Crime Commission has drawn up a 12-point legislative program for consideration by the state.

Persons desiring the commission's booklet, "A Twelve-Point Legislative Program for Illinois," may obtain a copy by writing the Chicago Crime Commission, 79 West Monroe St., Chicago.

Set 2 Hearing Dates on Junior College Proposal

Tentative hearing dates of Feb. 9 and 10 have been set on the referendum for a community junior college to serve Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove and Schaumburg Townships.

This is a part of the overall time schedule leading to a Saturday, March 27, referendum on creation of the junior college.

Thursday members of the Area Community College Committee (ACCC) delivered petitions containing more than 2,500 signatures to Dr. Noble Puffer, Cook County superintendent of schools. The petitions were forwarded to Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction, Monday.

It will be up to Page to determine if the petitions and the accompanying report by the ACCC are in proper order. Page will return his recommendation to Puffer, who will call hearings in both Arlington High School District 214 and Palatine-Schaumburg High School District 211. Following the hearings the referendum will be called by Puffer.

VOTERS WILL be asked to approve establishment of a community junior college district. The original referendum will not include tax funds or a bond issue for construction.

Estimates by the citizens committee show that a tax rate of 15 cents per $100 valuation should provide operating funds for the college, with an additional estimated five cents per $100 valuation for college site and buildings. This would provide $7.2 million for buildings and site.

The actual funds to operate the college, if the new district is approved by voters, would be set by the college board. The board would be elected as the first step in organizing the community college.

It would be up to the college board to hire a president and other key personnel, lay out a program, search for college sites and get estimates of building and operating costs before going to the voters to approve any funds. Special funds available through the office of the county superintendent would be used to finance the district before tax funds were available.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, planning committee member of the ACCC, estimated it would be at least 1967 or 1968 before community college levies would appear on area tax bills.

THE 20 CENTS per $100 tax bill estimated by the ACCC compares with the general $2 per $100 tax bills of most other school districts in the area.

Erie Jones of Palatine acted as chairman of the ACCC which organized the work of the study committee which prepared the favorable report submitted to Puffer with the petitions for a referendum.

The Citizens' Study Committee, composed of more than 75 residents of the four townships, was headed by Frank J. Sander of Mount Prospect. Chairman of the study finance subcommittee was A. M. "Bud" Bernstein of Arlington Heights, a member of the Elk Grove District 59 school board. William Gallagher of Arlington Heights headed the curriculum and programming subcommittee. Population and enrollment figures were established by the subcommittee chaired by Ronald R. Luba of Hoffman Estates.

A STEERING committee coordinated the entire study. This was headed by Dr. Frank Smith of Arlington Heights, a member of High School District 214 board. Other steering committee members from District 214 were Supt. Harold Slichenmyer, school board secretary Mrs. Gerald M. Chapman (now a member of the Illinois House of Representatives), Mrs. Yadon and Sander.

Steering committee members from District 211 included Supt. Gerald McElroy, school board members Willard Brown Sr. and Donald E. Truitt, Mrs. Fred Nicklas and Jones. (B10

PETITIONS WITH more than 2,500 signatures and the study report for the establishment of a Community Junior College for the northwest suburban area were presented Thursday to Dr. Noble Puffer (center), Cook County superintendent of schools by Erie Jones of Palatine (left) and Dr. Frank Smith of Arlington Heights, who headed the Planning and Steering Committees for the study. Clearbrook Plans Adults' Workshop

Clearbrook School for Retarded Children has announced plans to open a sheltered workshop for handicapped adults in September 1965, along with new school facilities in Rolling Meadows.

The workshop would be open to adults with all types of handicaps, and Clearbrook has tentatively been designated by the Illinois State Department of Mental Health as the agency it would fund to operate such a program in Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg Townships.

To plan for next year's budget requests to the mental health department, the school must have an estimate of the need for such a program in the community.

EXECUTIVE Director Byrn Witt has therefor requested that parents or relatives caring for handicapped individuals 16 years of age or older who might need such services contact Clearbrook School for Retarded Children.

Those persons may write Box 213, Arlington Heights, or phone 253-0440. (B10

Bell Added By Church

A second bell has been added to the tower of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Euclid and Wolf Roads, reports C. Paul Carlstedt, tower committee chairman.

The bell is a gift of congregation members Mr. and Mrs. Gus Erickson.

The Lutheran Church has a long tradition in the use of church bells in calling people to worship and as a signal for special events. Correct usages of the bell are outlined in the liturgical handbook of the church. (ACM

YR's Have 2 Speakers

Today (Thursday) the Wheeling Township Republican Club will have Sen. John Graham of Barrington and Rep. Eugene Schlickman as guest speakers at an 8:30 p.m. meeting at Old Orchard Country Club.

Graham, Senate reapportionment committee chairman last session, will center his talk on this prime issue, with specific reference to the northwest suburbs. Graham has recently been appointed chairman of the Senate election law committee and will have discussion on that also.

Schlickman, a proponent of home rule for municipalities, will center his talk around that theme.

Village, Hospital Sued By Meat Company Owners

Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, and the Village of Mount Prospect have been jointly named in a $250,000 damage suit filed by proprietors of the S & W Meat Company of Mount Prospect.

The complaint alleges the hospital was negligent in failing to properly dispose of an amputated right leg which subsequently was found at the rear of the S & W Meat store on Jan. 21, 1964. The complaint charges the hospital amputated the leg in October, 1963.

The plaintiffs, Edward Schleiter and Robert Winkler Sr., further charge the police department of Mount Prospect with publicly picking them up in the presence of customers to be taken to the police station for questioning.

MEYER S. MILLER, Chicago, attorney for the plaintiffs, said it was assumed it would be five to six years before the case came to trial. He indicated his clients were not interested in any pre-trial settlement, but felt strongly they wanted to have a jury hear the case.

Alan Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community Hospital, said this week the hospital had not yet received a copy of the complaint. "Since it is a legal matter, I cannot make any statement," Campbell stated. Once a copy of the complaint is received it will be forwarded to the hospital insurance carriers and the hospital attorney to handle according to Campbell.

"If there is any liability, which I seriously doubt, the attorneys for the village insurance company will respond to the complaint." This was the comment by Edward Hofert, Mount Prospect village attorney.

"Under the circumstances (the finding of a dismembered limb), anyone would become suspicious and would want to make an immediate and thorough investigation. Naturally, the police suspected a crime might have been committed," Hofert stressed.

Hofert called the complaint "spurious in nature." He emphasized, "From what I see, I do not think there is any serious merit to the action."

Trip-Tips

Wayne Griffin

Two weeks ago I talked about the beautiful sight during a night landing in Honolulu. There is another spectacular airstrip offering a terrific view too. It is Hong Kong. I landed there in a BOAC Britannia jet-prop aircraft coming from San Francisco via Hawaii, Wake Island and Tokyo.

The trip extends out into Hong Kong Bay from Kowloon and has a landing runway and taxi strip only. Otherwise there is water on all sides. On the approach the captain makes sure your safety belts are securely fastened as sharp banks and turns are necessary because of the surrounding mountains. Kowloon means "nine dragons," the dragons being the nearby mountains.

Hong Kong, of course, is a shopper's and sightseer's paradise. One should plan to spend at least four or five days there to take advantage of the bargains offered. As an example, I bought ivory earrings for 60 cents a pair that would cost over ten dollars in Chicago. And suits — I had one tailored overnight. I picked out the material and was measured at 8:30 p.m.; had my first fitting at 9:30 p.m., had a second fitting at 9:00 the next morning and wore the suit out of the shop at 10:00 a.m.

Hong Kong, of course, is a regular stop on many Orient tours being offered by such well known tour companies as Olson, Sita, Cartan and others. They are all available through Griffin Travel.

Plan a trip to the Orient soon. Call us at CL 5-7010 or stop in at 104 N. Evergreen for colorful brochures. We'll help with your passport and visas, too.

The projection is a replica of the $5 million development on Foundry Road in Arlington Heights, and is scaled to reflect the variety of types of homes in Regent Park.

The development when completed is to have 193 town-and-garden homes and condominium apartments as well as four models of single family residences.

Post-Holiday Lull Matches Thud of Sonic Boom

Strategic Air Command flights that were scheduled to produce window-rattling, plaster-cracking sonic booms in the Chicago area have so far caused only a few dull thuds. SAC is happy to be causing so little disturbance. Our local SAC (Social Anti-Climax) is resulting in the loudest — and dullest — of all thuds as the post-holiday lull settles in, and hardly anybody is objecting to that, either. If sonic flights or local sociability should suddenly start rattling windows we'll be delighted to report it here next week.

Returning holiday vacationers join the rest of party-weary society in being glad that there are a few breath-cathcing moments at this time of the year. Recently home from a weather-fine, all-'round-perfect holiday vacation in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barnes and Timmy, 702 S. Dunton. They were a welcome part of a Christmas celebration in the home of relatives in South Miami, and also enjoyed lots of sightseeing on both coasts of the state.

Timmy, a 5-year-old Flipper fan, was especially delighted with the family's visit to the Seaquarium, where the TV porpoise made his home and near the filming locale of some of the television shows. "Carolina Snowball," the only known albino porpoise, lives there, too, and performs daily. A couple of adults at 702 S. Dunton admit that little kids aren't the only ones who think porpoises are fun.

AT THE RISK of turning local golf addicts green with envy we report that the Howard Wests' recent month in Texas included several opportunities to tee off and perfect weather to go with the opportunities. Mr. and Mrs. West returned Sunday night to 207 N. Stratford after a vacation that was motivated by Christmas, not golf, and visits with their son, John, and his wife in Dallas. Mrs. West's mother and sister live in Dallas, too, there are the occasional rounds of golf. day get-togethers punctuated in Houston, and lots of holi- other relaives as well as friends Before returning home the Wests also visited in St. Louis with Mr. West's sisters and their families.

Mrs. Henry Taylor, 1201 N. Dunton, returned early last week from a trip that began sadly and ended happily. She was called to Huntsville, Ala. New Year's Day by the illness of her father, Edward Whitney, who later underwent surgery, passed the critical stage and recuperated well enough to turn the bedside-gathering of his children into a happy family reunion.

Joining Mrs. Taylor in Alabama were her sister, Mrs. Ellsworth Beeman of New York and ther brother, the junior Edward Whitney of Chicago, who was vacationing in New Orleans at the time of the emergency. The elder Mr. Whitney makes his home in Huntsville with another daughter and her husband, Maj. and Mrs. Arnold Millner, who hosted a super-happy family get-together when the crisis was past.

MANY VISITORS here are ending stays with local relatives, adding to the post-holiday quiet that's been descending everywhere. Goodbyes were said early last week at 801 S. Walnut where the Saunders Reinhard family had welcomed the new year with holiday weekend visitors, Mrs. Reinhard's mother and aunt, Mrs. F. M. Winbigler of Monmouth, and Mrs. Roy Walker of Kewanee.

Mrs. Ethel Allen of Cleveland is especially newsworthy at this time of the year; she's beginning, rather than ending, a visit here. She arrived last Friday for a week-plus stay with her son and family, the Robert Allens, 131 N. Gibbons.

Among local ski enthusiasts whose post-holiday weekends were not uneventful are all the Swansons at 901 S. Highland. They weekended on the slopes at Lake Geneva, accompanied by a few of Jean's fellow ski buffs.

Birthday celebrations, often ignored in the holiday news hustle, regain all due attention comes mid-January. Clarence Loechl, 1213 N. Dunton, had one Tuesday evening, marking his 12th birthday and entertaining his four neighborhood buddies. An after-school supper 'n' games session ended early enough to meet homework demands, darn it, but it was fun anyhow. A group gift of bookends was autographed by the donors so that Clare would some times think of the guys in Arlington Heights after the Loechl family moves to St. Louis next month.

DEAN MUENCH, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Muench, 124 S. Ridge, had a birthday Tuesday, too. He was 16 and happy with a family dinner-out celebration.

Robert Clausing, 9 last Friday, waited until Saturday to celebrate and then celebrated some more Sunday. His first party was with four local friends and included lunch and bowling. A family supper party Sunday evening brought him the congratulations of 16 relatives who came to 913 S. Vail to help him celebrate.

Van Ostermick, 126 N. Forrest, turned 17 last Friday and after a dinner date with the family celebrated some more with a few local friends at a bull session in the home of one of them.

Michael Saar, 122 S. Evergreen, was the very surprised guest of honor Saturday night at a family celebration of his 65th birthday in the home of his son and daughter-in-law, the Eugene Saars, 3020 N. Schoenbeck Road. Mickey, as the birthday boy is better known to his many local friends strolled in the door and went into a state of happy shock when the "Surprise!" shout greeted him Among the 20 family members waiting to wish him happy birthday were his sister, Mrs. Fred Kestner, and a niece, Mrs. George Hampe, here from Bremen, Ind. for the big occasion.

MICKEY HAS been on the traffic squad of the Arlington Heights police department for the past 10 years, and prior to that worked at a local shop for nearly 30 years before his semi-retirement. He and his wife are long-time Arlington Heights residents and well-known to almost all local "old timers."

Friends and neighbors of the Elmer Schmidt family, 1209 N. Dunton, were sorry to hear of the death last Thursday of Mr. Schmidt's brother, Edward of Chicago. Immediate neighbors extended sypathy at a supper in the Ernest Poulos home following Monday's funeral service and family gathering in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hines, 216 Drury, recently returned from a 10-day holiday stay at the Lazy-K Bar Ranch in Tucson, where the weather was ideal and so was the company. They were met at the ranch by Mrs. Hines' sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Behling of Los Altos Hills, Calif. and had a delightful Christmas vacation with them.

Mrs. Adolph Lindstrom is home again at 214 S. Pine after a 3-month stay with her daughter and family, the Dr. John D. Osmonds, in suburban Cleveland. Suburbia in Ohio, at least where the Osmond home is stiuated, includes a specia! nature treat for visiting Chicago suburbanites. Mrs. Lindstrom reports that on her first morning with her daughter she saw a doe with two fawns amble out of the nearby woods to use the salt lick in the Osmond backbackyard. Pheasants were a common sight, too, in the scenic surroundings that were a picturesque part of a very merry Christmas for Mrs. Lindstrom.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS with family and friends offset unpleasant weather that plagued the 3-week visit in northern California of the C. K. Godfreys, 307 S. Carlyle. They returned last Tuesday from the San Francisco area home of their son, Bradford, and his family with whom they celebrated Christmas. The new year was welcomed in the company of old friends formerly of Arlington Heights and Chicago, the Hal Wrights, who moved from Scarsdale Estates about a year ago, and the Dick Grobles.

The Wrights, now of Carmel, and the Grobles, with their son and family from Haywood, joined the Godfreys in San Francisco for a gala 1964-into-1965 get-together. Returning to more "high humidity" after 18 days of rain on the west coast, the Godfreys nevertheless report a wonderful three weeks. They brought with them greetings to other local friends from the Wrights.

Aslo returning early last week from a west coast visit were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skinner, 721 S. Beverly. They were with friends in Hacienda Heights for eight days and with their hosts, attended their first Tournament game. Early morning ice on parade-watchers' benches temporarily chilled Skinner enthusiasm, but they warmed to the spectacle. The afternoon's football game was a total joy for Mr. Skinner, a native Michigander, whose cheers no doubt helped the University of Michigan victory over Oregon State.

THE DANIEL Lanes of Columbus, Ohio, recently ended their holiday visit here with their son, Alfred, and his family, 619 Davis.

The Edward O. McKown home has a hollow sound to it this week, devoid as it is of house guests for the first time in many weeks. Leaving her final touch of emptiness to 206 S. Gibbons Sunday was Mrs. McKown's mother, Mrs. Geroge Fraley, returning to her home in St. Augustine, Fla. after a week's visit. She left here on her birthday, an event celebrated early when she was the honor guest at neighborhood cocktail parties last week.

Crossing paths with Mrs. Fraley in the hospitable McKown doorway was the senior Mrs. McKown who left here early last week after a Christmas visit with her son and his family. She was en route to Long Island and a post-holiday stay with another son, C. S. McKown.

The local McKowns also enjoyed a reunion last week with long-time Boston friends at a party in the home of their son, Ted's, godparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Simons of LaGrange Park.

A PAIR of generations-apart Kindelins at 202 S. Gibbons shared a birthday party Saturday night when 16 neighbors and Chicago relatives brought congratulations to Laura, 2, and her grandfather who was 74. Laura was a bit feverish, holiday-weary and not too clear on what all the excitement was about, so she left most of the celebrating to her Gramps. He had a fine time and so did their mutual well-wishers.

Mrs. Ralph Lilleberg, 322 S. Derbyshire, came home early last week tanned from an 8-week stay in St. Petersburg, Fla. She was accompanied by her father, George Jorgensen, who stayed in Florida when she returned here, and they were joined for the Christmas holiday by her son, Tom, when the local school vacation began. Dad's settled in the Sunshine State, Tom's back at the books, and Mrs. Lilleberg's tan is fading.

The William Tobins, 339 S. Carlyle, have a fine new reason to be proud of their "daughter pro tem," Miss Margaret Starr of Rhodesia, South Africa, a Prospect High School foreign exchange student. Margaret took two trophies, a first and a third, in speech contests Saturday that brought into competition nearly 300 students from 50 Illinois high schools. Full details may be found in the "High School Highlights" sectin of this issue.

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Reports from the Al Zmrzly home, 521 S. Forrest, regarding Rob's condition, are not as encouraging as it was hoped they would be. He suffered a setback last week and, as of this writing, is on the critical list in Holy Family Hospital.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Soderberg, 436 S. Phelps, extended a business trip to Belvedere to include a pleasure trip to Rockton so Lorraine could enjoy her favorite dinner of roast pheasant at one of her favorite dining spots, the Wagon Wheel.

It took a queen-size cake to fill the plates of Nathalie Straub's friends when they gathered at the Straub home, 521 S. Phelps, on Saturday, to help the 8-year-old mark her Jan. 5 birthday. Among school and neighborhood friends present were Gail Gislason, Nancy Wolf, Carol Streng, Karol Mc Cammon, Susan Pierce, Cindy Christiansen, Laura Post, Kim Rose and Nathalie's sisters Cindy and Danielle. After enjoying cake and ice-cream and playing a few games, they went to the movies.

JAN. 7 WAS a red letter day at the Louis Schultz home, 528 S. Waterman. It was the first birthday of Steven Rex, who was delighted with his candle-lit cake and the attention he received from his parents and sisters, Connie and Janet, at the family dinner in honor of the event.

The weekend brought further attention from Mrs. Schultz's sister and brother-in-law, the Jack Martins, who arrived from Rockford to take part in a second celebration.

Susan Gryzik, 4-year-old daughter of the Frank Gryziks, 417 S. Forrest, was honored Saturday at a party to mark her Jan. 4 birthday. Sharing ice cream and a gaily decorated cake were Keith Moller, Julie Dombrow, Kari and Konni Knutsen, Tommy McNulty, Kathy Wright, Lisa Morgan and Nancy Ashbrook, as well as Susan's sisters and brother, Linda, Donna and Frankie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle, who were married 20 years Jan. 10, celebrated Friday by having dinner with friends at Martinetti's in Crysta' Lake.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY wishes go to Mark Obuchowski, 409 S. Forrest, who was 14 Jan. 6.

Belated birthday congratulations go to the Schneider twins, Edward and George, on their 18th birthday Dec. 31. The Schneiders live at 424 S. Prindle.

The time that Roni Jo Rold has gained since she gave up her modeling assignments has gone into dancing engagements. The 6-year-old daughter of the Ron Rolds, 433 S. Gibbons, danced at five parties during the recent holiday season.

WHAT IS ITCHING?

Itching is often a symptom of an underlying disorder. It is very closely related to the sensation of pain and by following the natural reflex to scratch it will after a time initiate pain — which is temporarily more comfortable!!

Itching can be caused by many conditions — local infection, allergy, nerves, nutrition, etc. Self-treatment could delay proper therapy. A persistent itching should be checked with a physician. He can find out the cause and advise the proper treatment.

KENSINGTON

Kensington PTA will meet Jan. 19 at 8 p.m. to hear Dr. Franklin R. Fitch, Health Chairman of the ICPT, Associate Medical Director of Northwestern University Medical School and well-known authority on sex education, speak on "Education for Family Living." Refreshments will be served by all sections of the second grade.

Art work of all Kensington School children will be displayed in the Multi-purpose Room and the first floor corridor from Jan. 14 to Jan. 29. Parents attending the January PTA meeting are invited to view this added attraction.

Ways and Means Chairman, Mrs. Erv Thurek, announces plans for the showing of the Walt Disney movie, "Dumbo," at Kensington School Monday, Jan. 25. As January 25 is Arlington Area Institute for Teachers Day there will be no school, and children are invited to attend the movie which will be shown at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the Kensington Multi-purpose Room. Donation will be 50 cents.

THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH

School "dropouts," a relatively new but important national problem, will be the subject of Dr. Richard J. Mueller at the Jan. 26 Thomas Junior High School PTA meeting. Dr. Mueller, School of Education of Northern Illinois University, has just recently completed a study on "dropouts" and will have suggestions for parents on how potential "dropouts" can be identified and often prevented.

A presentation of the Feb. 20, District 25 school bond referendum will then be given by Robert Campbell, Assistant Superintendent District 25.

The January 26 meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the school cafeteria and all PTA members and interested persons are invited.

Thomas Junior High School recently held a successful Bundle Day collection with Section 7-2 bringing in the most bundles.

WINDSOR

"Values and Today's Child" will be the topic discussed during the buzz sessions to be held during the PTA meeting Tuesday, Jan. 19 at 8:15 p.m. at Windsor School. As an aid to the discussants, the following questions have been posed: (1) How are values best taught—by word or example? (2) Do we teach children values by what we make them do, let them do, buy for them, let them buy, take them to or where we let them go? (3) What is the role of the school in teaching values? and (4) What should it be?

Parents and teachers will work together on these topics. They will divide into topical groups to prepare their subjects. All Windsor school parents are urged to participate.

A school board member will also be present at Tuesday's meeting to discuss the forthcoming bond issue.

Mrs. Lewis D. Gregg has been nominated from Windsor to serve on the Parent-Teacher Association Council; and Glenn Pace and Mrs. Lambert Bredehoft are representing Windsor this year on the school board nominating committee.

WESTGATE-DWYER

Westgate-Dwyer PTA members will hear Dan Stanbury, Director of Guidance at Arlington High School, when they meet at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19, for their monthly meeting.

Mr. Stanbury will speak on a variety of subjects designed to help parents in guiding and directing children through adolescence and future accomplishments. A question and answer period will follow the speaker.

Also on Jan. 19, a nominating committee of five persons will be formed to nominate PTA officers for 1965-1966. Two members of this committee have been selected from present board members and three remaining members will be selected at the meeting by nominations from the floor.

Those wishing to nominate someone are asked to ask permission of the proposed nominee prior to the meeting. (A

Special Census Workers Sought

Applicants are still being sought for interviews Monday which will produce a group of enumerators to assist in a special Arlington Heights census.

About 65 applicants are wanted, according to Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson. Those interested are asked to contact Kent Bristol, administrative assistant, for proper forms.

Those selected must be citizens over 18 who are willing to work full-time until the task is completed, at a pay rate of 6 cents per properly recorded name.

THE CENSUS, to bring the village's population up to date, is supervised by the United States Department of Commerce, under immediate direction of Martin W. Bauer.

Hanson expects that increased state motor fuel tax allotments to the village at the rate of $5 per resident will more than pay the cost of the tally.

The counting process is expected to take about three weeks from the beginning of interviews.

Money raised from the Bon Appetite project is almost exclusively used for charity and youth activities by the local chapter.

A booklet of tickets for the meals can be purchased from any Arlington Heights Jaycee or by calling 392-4955. (A

Church of the Cross Eyes $25,580 Budget

Lutheran Church of the Cross, 2025 S. Goebert Rd., Arlington Heights, will consider a budget of $25,580, representing an increase of $5,770 over the 1965 budget, at the annual meeting of the congregation Sunday, Jan. 17, at 3 p.m.

The congregation will vote at this time on details of this budget and on the projected program for 1965. Additionally, the congregation is contributing about $12,000 per year toward debt retirement. This total income of over $37,000 is received from 73 families.

PRESENT membership figures indicate the congregation received 26 children and 54 adults in the year 1964, thus providing a current membership of 140 children and 203 adults — totaling 343 persons which represents a 34 per cent increase in membership.

The church council, by official action Jan. 6, voted to approve formation of an executive building committee looking toward anlysis of congregational needs for a second building unit, construction of which is projected for late 1965 or early 1966. (A

Elk Grove Township GOP Files Slate

A Republican slate of candidates for Elk Grove Township offices has been filed under a little used Illinois law.

The same law now prohibits the filing of a Democratic slate for the offices.

The slate was filed before Dec. 26, deadline, for filing under the law, according to Carl Hansen, Township Republican committeeman.

THE DEMOCRATIC Party may file a slate if they wish, but cannot use the name of the party.

Hansen said the law pertains to townships with fewer than 7,500 inhabitants, adjoining a city of 75,000 or more inhabitants.

Elk Grove Township, connecting with O'Hare Field, a part of the City of Chicago, qualifies under the law. Hansen said the law provides for the primary form of nominating candidates.

He said, however, that since the closing date for filing petitions was past, no primary is necessary. He said other parties may file slates, but that the party name cannot be an established one, such as the Democratic Party.

OTHER CANDIDATES for the offices, now held by Republicans, must file by Feb. 15, Hansen said.

The law provides that an established party wishing to use its name in fielding candidates must operate under the primary system. No primary is necessary because no other candidates filed by the Dec. 26 deadline.

The Republican slate sponsors William Rohlwing for supervisor; Robert L. Greinke for clerk; Charles A. Holdmair for assessor; Arnold Scharringhausen for collector; Ronald L. Bradley for highway commissioner, and Carl Hammerl, David J. Regner and Joseph C. Anzelmo for township auditors.

ALL ARE incumbents except Regner and Anzelmo. Hansen said Benjamin C. Campbell, an auditor, has moved to Ohio and Jack Stewart an auditor, has election or the village elections. said he did not wish to run for re-election.

Other townships in the northwest suburban area do not adjoin a city of 75,000 or more population and must select candidates under the caucus or petition forms.

Chester A. Chesney, Democratic Committeeman for the township, said his party has no intention of fielding a slate of candidates for the township "Township government might have been all right 10 or 15 years ago, but the taxpayers are being bilked now," he said.

"WE BELIEVE township government is antiquated, wasteful, and serves no useful purpose. In actuality the whole thing is ghost government and very wasteful.

"With annexations the road commissioner has less and less to dy; the supervisor is in charge of welfare activities, but has to turn over major welfare cases to the county; the collector operates for a short time only and the assessor too.

"We aren't coming out with any type of ticket at all."

STORM DRAINAGE from the roadway and adjacent right-of-way along Rand Road in Arlington Heights is now being channeled through sewer pipes rather than ditches. New Sewer Will Speed Water Flow

by JIM CARNS
News Editor

Many residents along McDonald Creek in Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights may have a surprise in store for them when spring rains come this year.

Still others who have been watching construction of storm sewers along Rand Road from Dundee Road to Schoenbeck Road will not be surprised by the increased water runoff, but they are worried about it anyway.

The storm sewer project, now well under way, is designed to drain the state right-of-way of Rand Road (Route 12) through cement sewer pipe rather than through the present system of ditches and culverts.

But drainage from the highway must still go into natural run-off channels once it leaves the right-of-way, according to Al Sifrer, state design engineer on the project. He said the Division of Highways has authority to work only within its right-of-way.

AND THIS IS where the problem begins. Sifrer and several protesting residents are agreed that the installation of sewer pipe up to 42 inches in width where there had only been ditches before will greatly speed up entry of runoff water into the natural drainage channels.

All the same water would get to the same drainage channels eventually, Sifrer said; but with the sewers installed it will definitely get there a lot faster—thus creating a greater flood potential along these channels in a short, heavy rainstorm.

He added that the problem was caused mainly by the fact that builders and subdividers had developed property in the area without regard to flood plains through which water should flow or in which water should gather during a storm.

Primary concern of residents protesting the state's plans is the release of a substantial portion of the highway drainage into the headwaters of McDonald Creek, just southeast of the intersection of Rand and Palatine roads.

IN THIS AREA, the pipe is visibly below the level of the creek, and the anticipated result is standing water across the highway on the south side in a low area connected to the beginning of the creek by a culvert.

Although Sifrer said such work is not actually within the jurisdiction of the division of highways, he indicated the creek will be dredged down to the level of the pipe for at least enough distance to get the drainage water started on its way.

An engineer on the job said the anticipated distance was about 2,000 feet.

Both he and Sifrer admitted this would only shove any potential flooding problem about 2,000 feet downstream, but added that from that point on it would have to be the problem of the division of waterways, which handles work on all natural drainage channels in the state.

THE PROBLEM there, Sifrer said, is that "the waterways division doesn't have money or men to do the job or keep up with all the subdivisions being put in."

Large paved or roofed areas in subdivisions also increase the flow in drainage streams, since there is little open ground left to absorb or temporarily hold rain water.

Another primary release point for water from the Rand Road project is the Palatine storm sewer, which was intentionally oversized when it was installed so that the Rand sewer could lead into it.

But again the Palatine Road sewer empties into McDonald Creek in the middle of Prospect Heights near the intersection of Palatine Road and Elm Street.

Other release points in the section of Rand between Dundee and Schoenbeck are minor, and would apparently not affect the McDonald Creek flood plane area.

RESIDENTS had also complained that the state was not connecting old farm tile drainage systems to the new storm sewer as work progressed, but the engineer supervising construction said such connections were being made where no sanitary waste would be introduced into the system by the process.

In addition, Sifrer said these connections were illegal since highway projects were only allowed to drain the right-of-way for that highway. But he added that many times the taps of small drain tiles were made as a matter of convenience.

Though Sifrer saw the potential of either new or increased flooding along McDonald Creek as a result of the highway project, he said probably only severe storms would produce severe runoff since this section of Rand Road is so flat.

No matter what the probability, though, he said the problem rests squarely with the division of waterways—a state body almost powerless to do anything about it. (A

Parks' Liability 'Boon' for Insurance Firms

Ruling Will Boost District Expenses

by T. WILLIAM SWINFORD
Staff Writer

An Illinois Supreme Court decision rendering park districts liable for negligence was described as "a great boon for insurance companies," by Victor Dixon, president of the fledgling Itasca Park District.

Dixon was asked what the decision, rendering a section of the park district code unconstitutional, would mean to his district and what steps would be taken by districts for protection.

The Supreme Court reversed a Cook County Circuit Court decision which had absolved the Clyde Park District of liability in action brought by William Harvey as a result of an injury suffered on a park district slide.

THE SECTION OF the code nullified by the Supreme Court decision provided that a park district could not be liable for injuries or death "caused by or resulting from the negligence of its agents, servants, officers or employes in the operation or maintenance of any property, equipment or facility under the jurisdiction, control or custody of the park district or otherwise occasioned by the acts or conduct of such agents, servents, officers or employes."

Park district officials contacted by Paddock Publications seemed unanimous in the view that liability insurance has become a necessity.

Tom Cooper, superintendent of the Mount Prospect Park District, said a binder on district insurance was secured shortly after the decision was reached by the court, so the district would be protected.

He said a study of insurance programs is planned, and added that cost of the necessary liability insurance may reach $8,000 annually for the district.

He said the district's attorney, Robert Downing, recommended securing the binder and getting insurance.

THE RULING AROSE from an accident in which a child suffered injuries from an improperly maintained slide.

The circuit court decision that the injured parties could not secure relief from the district followed the lines of the section ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court said the law violated Section 10 of article II of the State Constitution, which provides that "every person ought to find a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries and wrong which he may receive in his person, property or reputation."

Prior to the decision, school districts were liable for injuries to a certain amount while village governments were liable for injuries to an unlimited amount.

THE COURT mentioned in the ruling that it was inconsistent to have varying laws on liability.

The same law that exempted park districts from liability also pertained to forest preserve districts and to the Chicago Park District.

Dixon, who is president of a paper park district, in that tax monies will accrue to it this year for the first time, said he thinks the ruling is unfair. He explained that park commissioners serve without compensation but are now held liable for their actions.

WILLIAM MILNE, director of the Palatine Park District, said insurance programs there are being reviewed. He added that reports on progrmas will possiblv be made and a deeision reached at the next board meeting, Jan. 19.

Milne indicated no extraordinary precautions are planned for park equipment since "our facilities are in good shape all the time. We constantly make a conscieutious effort to keep them in good shape in accord with our moral and legal responsibility to do so."

Cooper said, "There has been no trouble that we know of which might produce a suit. I don't think the courts would award damages on anything that happened prior to the ruling anyway."

Tom Thornton, superintendent of the Arlington Heights Park District, said, "We took out a liability insurance policy to cover us against accidents."

THE POLICY carries an annual premium of $5,378 annually and provides coverage of $200,000 to $500,000 on bodily injury and $50,000 on property damage.

Thornton said no suits have been filed against the district. He said the district has not carried medical coverage in the past.

Some districts have carried insurance to pay such bills as might be incurred by a person injured on park facilities.

Thornton said any money paid to an individual by the district would have to be the result of a court ruling.

He added, "A suit has never been threatened against the district."

ROGER BJORVIK, attorney for the Wheeling Park Distirct, said the ruling meant that district had to increase its liability insurance coverage and will pay additional premiums totaling $500 annually.

The district previously had liability coverage in conjunction with its use of school facilities and the Wheeling swimming pool, which the district did not own.

Bjorvik said the insurance obtained provides $300,000 for each individual accident and $1 million maximum. It also provides $25,000 for property damage. Bjorvik said the district has covered all employes also.

Although the ruling will result in added expenditures by the districts for insurance, none anticipate additional difficulties. However, some superintendents suggested the added insurance expense might curtail needed equipment expenditures in future years. (A15

Waste Paper Given to Scouts May Come Back as Cookie Box

By LEE SECHLER
Staff Writer

Untold hundreds of tons of paper are collected each year in the northwest suburbs by various groups and organizations to raise money for projects.

But what happens to the paper once the Scouts or the local church group haul it away from your curb? And do the groups really make money?

Boy Scout Troops 55 and 155 in Roselle recently completed a drive which netted them in the neighborhood of $400 based on the amount of paper collected and the price per ton.

But not all troops in the area can or do collect as much. One of the reasons for this might be the way in which the collecting is handled.

Tom McAvoy explained that the troops collect once every three months and make the collection no matter what the weather on the appointed day.

"WE WANT THE people to depend on us and save their papers knowing that we will be around to collect them. Like the post office, we always come through," he said.

McAvoy said the local troops use one of two papers yards in Chicago to get ride of the papers once they are collected.

Ed Baer of Maywood Iron and Scrap Co., which deals with many troops and civic and church organizations in the northwest area, explained that the paper is bundled into bales of 2,000 pounds each and then shipped to firms which use them to make roofing material—and, believe it or not, cookie boxes.

"The paper business is one of the biggest there is in this country," said Baer as he explained that the firm gets a request from at least one group per week for a truck to haul in the collected paper.

BAER SAID THE National Biscuit Co. buys the baled paper from his firm and after going through many refining processes it comes out chip board for the manufacture of cookie boxes.

The average tonage of paper collected by the various groups and sent to Maywood Iron and Scrap Co. is around 10 tons, said Baer.

Price of the scrap paper varies, according to demand and not just the time of the year, Baer explained.

Doug Gilman, of Troop 181 near Palatine, said he has discovered that there are other forms of raising money other than paper drives.

"Our biggest problem is getting people to save their papers. We could have a collection on Saturday and then discover people putting out papers on Monday morning for the garbage man," he stated.

ALSO A PAPER drive requires the services of fathers for most of the day. While selling items can be done by the boys without any outside help.

Gilman said they have people who do save paper for the troop and it is stored under a sheet of plastic until there is enough to make it worth while.

SEVERAL YEARS AGO the troops in Palatine went together on a community basis to conduct a paper drive. The paper was then loaded into several box cars and sold, and the money divided among the troops taking part in the drive.

This is not done any more, apparently because of some problem experienced in the latter years of this type of collection.

Save your paper, because you never know where your next cookie box will come from.

ROSELLE BOY SCOUTS were busy Saturday collecting scrap paper as they do four times a year. The paper is being loaded into a box car here for transfer to a Chicago paper yard. Troops 55 and 155 will receive an estimated $400 from last week's paper drive. This Saturday the Wood Dale troops will conduct one of their regular drives. (Staff Photo)

Casting Sunday for 'Dinny and Witches'

Village Theatre of Arlington Heights, under the leadership of its resident director, Richard Tyler, will hold open tryouts Sunday for "Dinny and the Witches," its second play of the season.

"Dinny" has been described by its author, William Gibson, as a "frolic on grave matters" and a "light commentary on mankind." Gibson is also the author of "The Miracle Worker" and "Two for the Seasaw," both highly successful.

The cast for this play includes seven men and seven women. and newcomers as well as members are invited to the readings. These will be held in the meeting room of the Bank of Rolling Meadows from 1 to 4:30 p.m. The play will be given the first two weekends in March in the auditorium of Arlington High School.

Those who want further information about casting are invited to call Mrs. John Lobenhofer, stage manger, at CL-5-1585; for backstage work, newcomers are invited to call the production manager, Mrs. Al Estrella, CL 3-1819.

Realty Sales Up, Debt Down in 1964

Real estate activity in Cook County in 1964 showed there were more transactions and less indebtedness than in 1963, County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen disclosed this week in his annual report.

The number of transfers increased to 57,938 from 57,112 while trust deeds and mortgages decreased to 85,190 from 87,927, the report stated.

The stated consideration of trust deeds and mortgages also fell from the record 1963 level of $2,033,534,575 to $1,985,897,785 last year.

Olsen said: "These figures indicate that people are putting more money in down payments and that the real estate industry in Cook County can look forward to continued growth in this healthy economic climate."

He said the last time there was an increase in transfers was in 1959.

As in previous years, the vacation months of July and August were the busiest while February was the least active. (B10

It's Time to File Those Tax Reports

Taxpayers are receiving notices through the mail that it is time to file 1964 federal income tax returns.

Director E. C. Coyle Jr., of the Chicago District pointed out that although the 1964 Revenue Act made many changes, the basic filing requirements remain the same. Every citizen or resident of the United States—whether an adult or minor—who had $600 or more gross income in 1964 is required to file a return. For taxpayers 65 or over, a return is not required unless gross income was at least $1,200.

Millions of taxpayers for the first time will receive Form 1040 with their name and address pre-stamped on the face of the first copy of the form.

COYLE URGED taxpayer who received them to use the preaddressed, identified form for filing purposes, making correction in the label if necessary. This will help assure correct crediting to the taxpayer's account and will facilitate processing of tax returns, including issuance of refunds, he explained.

Taxpayers are encouraged to prepare their own returns. Various government publications, particulary tax guides, are available at local Internal Revenue offices. The 1965 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax" has been enlarged to 160 pages and may be purchased for 50 cents at any Internal Revenue office.

For those who need help, a staff of experts will give tax information and advice by telephone through April 15. The number to call is State 2-1060. Assistance also may be obtained by calling or going to the following branch offices:

Des Plaines — 1831 Prairie Ave., 824-5131; Elgin — 164 DuPage St., SH 1-9360; Wheaton — 211 E. Illinois St., 665-0295. (A15

County to Sue for Delinquent Taxes

Cook County Monday began filing the first of more than 21,000 suits to collect approximately $10 million in delinquent personal property taxes.

The suits were being filed in the county's five suburban Circuit Court districts at the rate of approximately 300 per day, according to Chief Judge John S. Boyle.

Edward Hladis, chief of the State's Attorneys Civil Division reported that during 1964 the court collected approximately $7,311,764 in delinquent personal property taxes through court action in Cook County. Of this amount, Hladis said, $1,014,789 was collected in the five suburban districts.

Gerald W. Shea, administrative assistant to Judge Boyle, gave the following breakdown on the number of suits to be filed in each of the five districts: District 2, 8,412; District 3, 2,949; District 4, 6,286; District 5, 2,095; District 6, 1,529.

Shea said that each court district will set aside one day a week to try the delinquent tax cases.

The 21,000 cases were delinquent 1963 taxes which were payable in 1964, Shea said. The county has already begun court action against additional thousands of delinquent Chicago taxpayers.

Boyle reported that during 1964 there were 17,500 personal property cases filed in the five suburban districts, and that all but 3,800 of these cases have been disposed of. The remainder will be completed by March 1, 1965. (B10

THE LITTLE TUBES
by ED LANDWEHR
Everyone worries about the picture tube when there's TV trouble because that's the expensive one. Happily most of the time it's not the big one but a little one.
These little tubes do a lot of work to bring you a good picture. If they are of poor quality, you can have "snow" on the screen, foggy pictures, fuzzy sound, slipping picture hold and maybe no picture at all. This is why you should insist on first line quality tubes in servicing. The small difference in price is more than made up in better viewing for a longer time.
Don't take a chance on "wayside" tubes. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and let LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, assure you the best picture possible from your set. We use only first line tubes and parts.

Bank of Arlington Heights To Observe 5th Birthday

The Bank of Arlington Heights will observe its fifth birthday on Friday, Jan. 22, with assets more than four times what it had at the end of its first year of operation.

According to W. C. Wolf, bank president, assets on Dec. 31, 1960, totaled $2,619,610 while on Dec. 31, 1964, they amounted to $11,314,237.

When the bank opened in Arlington Market on Jan. 22, 1960, there were 13 employes. The bank now employs 27 persons full time, and of the original 13, seven still work at The Bank of Arlington Heights.

THE BOARD OF directors also is the same with the exception of Robert Bukowski, who, while instrumental in getting the bank started, did not join its board until March 8, 1960, said Wolf.

At the end of 1964, The Bank of Arlington Heights was serving 11,711 accounts. Among its special services are its free checking accounts for college students and its new low interest rate College Student Loan, the latter without any federal regulations or assistance.

In addition to the two special cash dividends the bank has paid during its operation, it will pay a third plus a 20 per cent stock dividend, both approved at the stockholders' meeting last Tuesday.

WOLF SAID the bank was the pilot bank in this area in the use of computer operation and has both its demand and time deposits on a computer service basis.

The bank directors, president Wolf and their wives celebrated the institution's anniversary at the Itasca Country Club Jan. 8.

A week-long special observance is planned at the bank next week. (B10

Dissolution Looms For Anti-Bias Group

The North West Suburban Council on Human Relations may be dissolved this month, depending upon response to a call for new leadership in a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m., Jan. 19 at Our Lady of the Wayside Roman Catholic Church, Arlington Heights.

Edward Maclennan, president of the council, announced this week he intends to resign due to business responsibilities.

In a statement thanking Maclennan for his year of service, the human relations group's board of directors urged that all members and interested persons attend the coming meeting at which new officers are to be elected and plans discussed for the coming year.

But the statement also indicated that "if continued leadership and support is not manifested it is possible that a motion will be made to dissolve this organization."

All persons are asked to bring suggestions on how the council might become "more effective." In addition, the board indicated "The council will be happy to consider any new ideas and projects that will promote interracial understanding." (B10

Rip Democratic Plan

Schlickman on GOP Remap 'Task Force'

by NANCY ANDERSON
Staff Writer

State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman of Arlington Heights is one of 15 House Republicans named by the GOP Monday to draw up a reapportionment map for the House.

The task force chairman, Rep. Lewis V. Morgan of Wheaton, said the map will be ready when the House goes back into session Jan. 26.

Democrats introduced a remap, generally described by Republicans as gerrymandered and unconstitutional because it overlaps districts from Chicago into the suburbs, and across county lines, at the opening session last week.

BOTH PARTIES have called for reapportionment of both houses to be complete by March 1. The Democrats filed a resolution for the Senate re-map also last week, and Republicans are preparing one under Sen. Robert F. Hatch of Chicago.

The Democratic House map outlines 16 districts entirely in Chicago, seven overlapping into the suburbs, and seven solely suburban, for a total of 30 in Cook County; and 29 Downstate. Population per district ranges from 152,229 to 189,437.

The map proposes to include the six northwest townships — Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Hanover and Barrington — plus segments of Northfield and Maine Townships in one district, the 30th.

The Republican plan will follow the 1963 Legislative Council recommendations of 21 districts for Chicago alone, nine for the suburbs and 29 for Downstate, Morgan said.

"The trouble with the Democratic proposals," Schlickman said, "is that while the districts established are of approximate equal size in population, the overlapping of counties Downstate and the City of Chicago and suburban area within Cook County violate our present State Constitution. These overlappings are designed to secure maximum partisan advantage for the Democrats.

"They contend that the U.S. Supreme Court decisions completely eliminate the requirements of our State Constitution as far as the specific bans on the overlapping of counties and Chicago and the suburban area," he continued. "But even Illinois Atty. Gen William Clark has conceded the mandate of 'one man—one vote' is separable and not in conflict with the State Constitution prohibition on overlapping.

"The Republican objective is to present reapportionment bills early and on a completely fair, constitutional basis," he said.

REP. EUGENIA Chapman, (D-Arlington Heights) contended the Democratic bill "offers the people of Illinois equal representation. Under this plan, each person's vote would be just as good as anyone else's, following the directive of the U.S. Supreme Court."

To charges of gerrymandering, she said, "I see no evidence of it. It's a time-worn custom to say this when the other party draws up a map. To me, this plan offers justice."

"As for constitutionality, there are differences of opinion."

Pointing to the fact that both the Republican-dominated Senate and the Democratic-controlled House will have to okay both reapportionment resolutions, she said, "From a sheer realistic point of view, this must be worked out by the party leadership. The Republican plan obviously will not be identical to the Democratic. Then, I hope, we will have a meeting of the minds."

Gov. Otto Kerner, who underscored the critical need for reapportionment in his inaugural address Monday, has promised again to veto reapportionment he considers unfair. (B-10

JOB OPPORTUNITY

We at Flick-Reedy realize that all unemployed should be given the opportunity for work. We have always been an "equal opportunity employer."

It is realized that there are many people who lack skills required in today's labor market and therefore need specific job training.

There are many proposals for solving this grave problem, from pure socialism to a "do nothing" policy.

Flick-Reedy's contribution to the solution of this unemployment problem is an offer to train men and women who have a desire and willingness and capability to learn the skills needed in our operation even though they have no previous experience in the required skills. This training is given at no cost to the taxpayer.

This is not a new concept at Flick-Reedy. We have followed this philosophy since our company was organized. We have found through the years that many of our best, most loyal, and longest service employees obtained their start in this manner.

Opportunity for further training and schooling is constantly encouraged in our corporation. 100% of our present foremen and supervising staff and the majority of our top management have been promoted from within the organization.

For 12 years supervisory and management personnel have completed company sponsored voluntary classes in supervisory development. Bread and Butter courses for practical shop training are standard. All employees may participate voluntarily in any of these classes.

With this short summary of some of our background history of employee relations we invite applications for employment and those of your neighbors and friends to fill the ever increasing job opportunities in our growing business. Fiscal 1963-64 saw a 22% growth; 1964-65 first 6 months produced a 36% growth over last year. Flick-Reedy is now experiencing a machine tool expansion program upwards of a half-million dollars and is looking for employees who are willing to be trained in any of the following skills — General Machine Shop Operators — Assembly, Inspection and Shipping Operations.

Flick-Reedy has operated for twenty-four years without a single layoff due to lack of work or a curtailed work week.

Clubs Aim to Make Dogs 'Better Citizens'

Varied Training Classes Offered

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

A boxer hearing the yip of a small poodle and associating it with a squeaky toy he owned wandered to find it.

This harmless wandering caused chagrin to his master since the dog lost points in the obedience training test he was taking.

Two dog obedience clubs in the area and the Arlington Heights Park District conduct dog obedience training sessions. They reason that "your dog should be a pet rather than a pest" and that obedience training makes the dog "a better citizen."

Both clubs have their headquarters in Palatine—the Northwest Obedience Club, Inc. of Suburban Chicago and the Tree Town Dog Club. But the Northwest Obedience Club is the only area group with advanced obedience training and the only group licensed to give a show where dogs can get credit for an advanced degree.

The Northwest club formed in the fall of 1953 is an offshoot of the North Shore Dog Club. The group began its dog training sessions in the Palatine fire house then moved to the basement of the old Jewel Tea store at Brockway and Wilson Streets.

THE NORTHWEST club restricts its classes to purebred dogs, the participants in its training sessions. This does not mean mongrels are not trainable, said David Terrill of Long Grove, one of the charter members and former director of training. "People get involved in this and want to take their dogs to American Kennel Club obedience trials," he explained. The AKC allows only pure bred dogs to enter its obedience trails.

All the training the Northwest Club offers is done on an amateur basis. The club's directors, officers, judges and volunteers.

Northwest Obedience Club has people qualified to offer the four courses set up by the AKC for training: C-D, companion dog, an elementary course of on and off leash training in exercises such as sit, heel, stand, go down and stay down, and come; C-DX, companion dog excellent, a "high school level" course concentrates on improved off leash training and skills; U-D, utility dog, a "college level" training is off leash and gives work with objects; and T, tracking, a specialized course with emphasis on scent differentiation and other tracking exercises.

MANY PEOPLE join the group because they've had a situation where they have called the dog and he won't come in, said Bob Moriaraty of Hoffman Estates, the new director of training. He recalled that he joined the group five years ago "when I called my beagle and he ran like the devil." Many women come because they can't handle their dog, he said.

Terrill estimates three in 20 will stay for all the advanced work.

He remained in the group as he got interested in more advanced work, typical of many members. The group charges a family membership of $10 and 50 cents for each training session. Of the approximately 100 members officially registered, about 50 per cent are active.

Though the group has an annual show and schedules social affairs for members, its basic purpose is training dogs.

Terrill believes in the beginning session 90 per cent of the work is teaching the handler, 10 per cent teaching the dog. All dog training is based on physical action by the trained placing the dog where he should be and making him associate the sound of the command with action.

BOTH TERRILL and Moriaraty agree that the working class of dogs such as the German Shepherd might as a group be the most adaptable to obedience training. Terrill also has found that poodles absorb obedience training readily.

The 115 purebred dogs recognized by the AKC are divided into six groups, the working dogs, sporting hounds, terriers, toys, and non-sporting dogs.

Some breeds such as the toys have a tendency to get nervous when they are surrounded by the bigger dogs, he points out.

Northwest Obedience Club limits its class to 20 dogs and their handlers. It requires that a handler be a minimum of 14 years old and prefers adults. It also asks that the same handler work with the dog throughout the one hour weekly sessions for 10 training sessions in the three month course.

Classes have both men and women handling dogs and neither is better than the other, according to Terrill.

He advises the handlers to wear comfortable shoes. They bring their dog with a leash and a choke chain collar.

THE ATTITUDE of the handler affects the dog, said Terrill. He admits to "bearing down on some handlers" because of this. Too harsh a handler will make a dog shy, he said.

Patience is the primary ingredient necessary in the handler training his dog, Terrill said. The dog also has to be interested in what he is doing.

A professional can train a dog faster but Terrill prefers the amateur training his own dog. He agrees that someone can train a dog independently as one boy did who had his first "leg" toward C-DX. However, a handler can develop improper form, Terrill comments.

Dog experts warn for example never to teach a hound the wrong thing because he won't forget it.

THE PROOF of the dog's progress is his performance in obedience trials that are: novice (A and B); for a C-D degree; (open A and B) for a C-DX degree; utility, and tracking. The A and B classification is to differentiate between professional and amateur handlers.

To pass an obedience exam, a dog must make 170 out of a possible 200 points and he must make 50 per cent or better in each category.

Terrill recalls the dismay of an afghan owner at a show he was judging. He commanded the handlers to have their dog in the novice A class do a long sit. The afghan got up and wandered out of the rink. Peeling off in military order 15 dogs followed the afghan hound out of the rink. The afghan was disqualified and the other dogs got a second chance.

In some families this graduation is as significant as a child's graduation.

OBEDIENCE TRAINING for dogs of all breeds is the emphasis of the Northwest Obedience Club which meets in Palatine. The group has classes in beginning and advanced work for dogs. Dalmation practices his hurdle. (Staff photo)

Q. When should you introduce yourself to new neighbors?

A. Not before you're sure they are completely settled down. Don't walk in on people the day they move in when they're busy and tired, and possibly in the midst of what seems to them an inextricable mess. They'll enjoy meeting you much more when you give them a chance to be at their best.

Alcoholism Unit To Be Built

An alcoholic treatment, rehabilitation, research and educational center is being planned by the Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology, Park Ridge, to be built directly west of Lutheran General Hospital on Dempster Street.

Groundbreaking is scheduled for this spring. Total cost is estimated at $750,000.

The Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology owns and operates Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge; Lutheran Deaconess Hospital, Chicago, and a school of nursing in Park Ridge. It also conducts a growing program of research and education.

A $200,000 challenge grant for the center has been made by the Patrick and Aimee Butler Family Foundation of St. Paul, Minn. The Foundation for Human Ecology, the fund raising and development arm of the institute, is raising funds to cover the remainder of the cost.

William M. Carlson, executive vice president of the foundation, said that business and industry throughout the Chicago area will be asked to support the program. Pointing out that alcoholism costs business and industry millions of dollars each year, he said:

.T MAKES GOOD economic sense for industry to support the program."

The four-story building will provide over 28,000 square feet. Included in the center will be private patient rooms, day rooms, therapy facilities, counseling offices and living facilities for resident staff.

The center is believed to be the first major effort of a Christian church body to deal with the problems of alcoholism—a problem medical authorities call the fourth largest health problem in the United States with over 5 million alcoholics.

The center will initially provide resident facilities for 40 patients. Outpatient facilities will also be included in the building.

THE PROGRAM planned at the center is now functioning, Carlson pointed out. The team in charge of the program is currently using facilities of Lutheran General Hospital.

In charge of the new center will be Dr. Nelson J. Bradley, psychiatrist. Working with him are Dr. Jean J. Rossi, a clinical psychologist, and the Rev. John E. Keller, a clinical chaplain and a resident of Palatine.

The three men will be joined by additional personnel when the center is opened. Among those expected to join the center will be an internist, a social worker, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, a research psychologist and several lay counselors—recovered alcoholics in Alcoholics Anonymous who are trained as counselors.

"If enough funds are raised we hope to build an educational facility at the same time," Carlson said.

THE EDUCATIONAL facility would contain 30,000 square feet. Included would be classrooms, seminar rooms, library facilities, research areas and quarters for residents. The educational facility would cost an additional $750,000.

The planned center has received the endorsement of Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism. It has been studied and endorsed by nationally recognized leaders in alcoholism.

The Rev. Mr. Keller, who is in charge of developing the program and philosophy for the alcoholic treatment, rehabilitation and research center, joined the staff of the Foundation for Human Ecology in 1963. From 1955-1963, he was associated with Lutheran Social Services of Minnesota.

During this time he spent two years at Willmar State Hospital, Willmar, Minn., in the alcoholic treatment section. Following that he worked with alcoholics and their families in the Twin Cities.

FOR THE PAST five years he has been on the staff of the summer school of alcoholics studies at Rutgers University. For three summers he was on the staff of the University of North Dakota summer school for alcoholic studies.

Pastor Keller received a B.A. from Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa, and was graduated from Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa. He received clinical training at Elgin State Hospital.

Before entering the field of alcoholic counseling, Pastor Keller served parishes in Medina, N. D.; Sioux Falls, S. D., and Palatine. He is married and has three boys. The family lives at 449 Bennett, Palatine. (B10

INSIDE EACH PIG will be a number. One of these numbers will be a "lucky" number entitling the owner to a gift, to be displayed in our lobby. Bring your pig "to market" any time before March 23, where the pig will be opened to determine the number.

WE PAY the maximum interest rates on savings accounts as allowed under federal regulations — 4% on ALL regular savings accounts.

Interest on our savings is figured by calendar months—on the largest amount continuously on deposit for the whole of each month at 4%. So, if you find it necessary to draw out part of your savings, your interest is reduced only from the beginning of the month in which the withdrawal is made, rather than for the entire semi-annual interest period.

Did you know that 4% interest can be more than 4½%?

District 214 Slates Annual Music Festival

District 214 will present the third annual Music Festival Monday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. at Wheeling High School.

All four high schools in the district, Arlington, Forest View, Prospect, and Wheeling, will participate. About 750 student musicians are preparing for the concert under 11 faculty members in the four schools.

Two outstanding college musicians, Dr. William Revelli of the University of Michigan and Dr. Bernhardt Westlund of Milton College, will direct the festival performance.

DR. B. H. WESTLUND

Dr. Westlund has been chosen to direct the choral portions of the festival. Under his leadership the girls glee clubs, mixed choruses, and choirs of each school will perform collectively. The combined festival mixed chorus will number almost 400 singers. Approximately 160 girls from the girls' glee clubs in each school will comprise the festival girls chorus.

IN ACCEPTING THIS conducting assignment, Dr. Westlund follows two university conductors who directed the choral work in the two earlier festivals: Maynard Klein, University of Michigan; and Robert McCowen, Iowa State University. Dr. Westlund is chairman of the department of music at Milton College.

Choral works from a wide range of music have been selected for this year's festival. For the third successive year, a Bach work will be performed—this time the K. K. Davis transcription of "Sheep May Safely Graze." Another Baroque work to be sung by the girls groups is Hans Leo Hassler's madrigal "Come Let Us Start a Joyful Song."

The mixed voices will sing Pachelbel's setting of the text "On God, and Not on Human Trust" and an amusing "Counterpoint of the Animals" by Adriano Banchieri. The opening chorus of Antonio Vivaldi's choral work "Gloria" will be accompanied by Mrs. Boyd White, one of the festival accompanists.

Performing in the folk song idiom, the mixed voices will sing "Black Rode the Wind" by John Cacavas. The girls groups will perform two numbers in a contemporary vein: Irving Fine's "The Lobster Quadrille" based on a section of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," and Emma Lou Diemer's interprepation of the one-word text "Alleluia."

Faculty musician Terry Blackley of Prospect will be festival accompanist for the girls numbers.

Charles Jenks is choral conductor at Wheeling, the host school. Other faculty members preparing the choral work are Boyd White and John Hicks, Arlington; Sterling Mische and Terry Blackley, Prospect; Vincent Ahnquist and Harry Swenson, Forest View.

Tickets for the festival will be available from participating students beginning Monday, January 18. (Y

Forest View Dramatists Produce English Comedies

"The Importance of Being Earnest" and "A Phoenix Too Frequent" will be Forest View High School's next theatre productions.

"A Phoenix Too Frequent," by Christopher Fry will be Forest View's entry in the district speech meet to be held Saturday, Feb. 13, at Elgin High School.

Students and adults will also have an opportunity to see the play Feb. 6, at 8 p.m. in the Forest View theatre. Featured with the contest play will be short productions by the speech team and the drama class.

The action in the contest play is based upon Petrinius' story of an Ephesian widow, who is determined to die upon her husband's tomb, taking her devoted maid with her.

THE COMEDY will feature seniors Jim McKelvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McKelvey, 73 Forest Lane, Elk Grove; Gale Burnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burnett, 264 Edgeware Road, Elk Grove; and Corrine Palermo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palermo, 1725 Verde Drive, Mount Prospect.

"The Importance of Being Ernest," by Oscar Wilde, will be presented as the winter play and will run for three performances beginning Feb. 25.

The play is a satire of British high society of the Victorian era. The action revolves around a frustrated young gentleman, Mr. John Worthing, who finds himself faced with two seemingly unconquerable problems.

1. His girl friend has an incorrigible addiction to the name of Ernest and refuses to marry any man who does not bear that title.

2. His fiancee's mother remains firm in her belief that John is anything but what she desires in a son-in-law. (Y

Conant Dramatists Stage 'Anne Frank'

The Conant Drama Club will present "The Diary of Anne Frank," in the theater-in-the-round, Jan. 15 and 16 at 8 p.m.

It will be an enactment of the diary written by thirteen year-old Anne Frank who lived in Nazi-occupied Holland.

The cast of the play is as follows: Anne Frank, Stephanie Simone; understudy, Barb McNaughton; Mrs. Frank, Lynne Robinson; Mr. Frank, Ray Zabielski; Peter Van Dann, Rick Ferguson; Mrs. Van Dann, Bryna Solovay, Mr. Van Dann, Bill Runyan; Mr. Dussell, Bill Brescia; Miep, Diane Christian; Mr. Kraler, Marc Kramer and student director, Sue Harmon.

THE PLOT concerns the life of the Frank and Van Dann families in the attic of an old warehouse during the Nazi occupation. After two years of this secret life, the families were discovered and sent to concentration camps.

Later, the sole survivor, Mr. Frank, returns to the attic and unearths Anne's diary of this secret existence.

Nancy Roeser is the director of the play.

This is the first play to be given at Conant High School. Much work has been done by both the cast and crews to prepare this first production. (Y

Debaters Win Televised Bout

Prospect's varsity debate team, enjoying one of its most successful seasons, won its first round on the television debate program Rebuttal recently.

The victory over Niles West was taped Monday, Dec. 21, and was shown on Channel 2, WBBM-TV Saturday, Jan. 2.

The four varsity debaters, Jim Doran, Mike Blim, Bill Doty and Marie Thourson, by winning have earned the right to debate again on television in about one month.

The Saturday before saw the same four varsity debaters take second place in the District 214 tournament held at Wheeling High School. This was the third time in four tournaments that the team finished in second place (about 30 schools usually attend.)

Under the new leadership of their coach, Steve Voelz, the team has a record of 27 wins and 9 losses. (Y Arlington Heights debaters will take the affirmative, coached by Wayne Wagner. The negative position will be taken by the Bowen team of Chicago's south side, coached by Virgil J. Vogel. This will be the tenth debate in the interscholastic tournament sanctioned by the Illinois High School Association. (Y

Jenness Named Miami Panelist

L. S. Jenness, principal of Forest View High School, will be a panelist at the NASSP (National Association of Secondary School Principals) convention at the Hotel Fontainebleau in Miami Beach Jan. 15 through Jan. 20.

Topic for the panel will be "What Is the Role of the Principal in Teacher Salary Negotiations?" Four high school principals will be on this panel, which will be features in one of the many sectional meetings.

"Approximately 10,000 secondary school principals and other administrators are attending," Jenness said. "In fact, this will be the largest convention in the organization's history."

Other District 214 administrators attending will be Bruno Waara, principal of Arlington High School; Alvin Kulieke, principal of Prospect High School; and Dr. Russell Hill, principal of Wheeling High School. (Y

Actors Slate One-Act Plays

An evening of one-acts will be presented by Prospect High Saturday, Feb. 6. Casts have been selected and have begun rehearsal.

"The Slave With Two Faces," directed by George Chard, is an allegory which shows the beauty and terror that can be found in life. Life is portrayed as either slave or master, depending on the attitude of each individual who meets life. The role of Life will be played by Larry Stein, 212 S. Edward.

Othrs in the cast include Cheryl Watson, 511 N. Wilshire; Adrienne Kulieke, 409 N. Elmhurst; Terry Pressel, 2514 Grove St.; Bill Kellin, 105 S. Stratford; Jim Brasic, 210 N. Elmhurst; and Roger Krupa, 603 S. William.

DONALD POSTON will direct "Moonset." This play tells the story of a group of English soldiers, the last survivors of a patrol, who are trapped by the Arabs in a desert wady. They await the setting of the moon and almost certain death.

The cast is made up of Joel Mattson, 624 Bobolink; Jim Smith, 221 S. Wilshire; George Wilcox, 210 Brighton; Paul Thompson, 314 S. Gibbons; Jim Grady, 116 Albert; and Joseph Rosanova, 523 Wego Ter.

The third play, "Sunday Costs Five Pesos," will be directed by Sandra Weiss. This comedy tells of an incident which occurs in a small Mexican village. An old Mexican law which states, "A woman who starts a fight on Sunday must pay five pesos" is the beginning of a series of humorous complications.

INCLUDED in the cast are Sofia Andoniadis, 709 N. Fairview; Douglas Patterson, 322 S. Albert; Coreen Cordova, 213 S. Stratford; and Sherry Miller, 402 N. Fairview.

Christine Gunderson, 213 N. Emerson, will serve as prompter for all three plays and as assistant director of "Sunday Costs Five Pesos." (Y

Is 'Voice' Winner Registration Open

Michael Kopf, Wheeling High School junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kopf Jr., 30 Cedar Drive, Wheeling, has been named a winner in the Chicago Tribune's Voice of Youth writing contest.

Michael's entry, titled "Respect for Teachers," was written in journalism class and submitted to Genevieve Flavin, the Tribune's Voice of Youth editor, by Richard Nelson, his journalism teacher.

Open Lands Film Made Available

A prize-winning film, "The Green City," is available free to organizations which are studying the problem of the rapid loss of open space.

The Open Lands Project of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago will lend the film and provide literature to any interested group.

The 16 mm, 22-minute motion picture won first place in the public service category at the 1963 International Film festival in New York. It shows scenes of spreading construction and shrinking green area and of groups at work organizing to find available property and acquire it.

Program chairmen may write Gunnar Peterson, director of the Open Lands Project at the Council Offices, 123 W. Madison St., Chicago, to reserve the film, or call him at FR 2-6911. (A15

Modern Etiquette

Q. If an usher at a church wedding doesn't recognize a guest, how does he know on which side of the church to seat him?

A. He may ask whether the guest is a friend or relative of the bride or groom. Of course, if the church is filling up on one side and the other is conspicuously empty, the usher may begin seating guests on either side in order to balance things up.

NEW MUSTANGS are being given away by the Grant's stores in Hoffman Estates and Rolling Meadows. Admiring the prize at the store in the Golf-Rose shopping center, Golf and Roselle Roads, Hoffman Estates, are, left to right: Cheryl Cornett, Mrs. Carol Guarino, Mrs. Millie Criel, Carol Tegtow, and Don Whittinghill, appliance manager. All a person has to do to be eligible to win one of the Mustangs is to sign up at either store. (Staff photo)

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

MEADOWSQUARES

Good news to start the new year off right for dancers in Rolling Meadows is the announcement of a new club forming and ready to go Saturday night. Meadowsquares is the name, Salk School is the place, and 8:30 Saturday night is the time. Programing aims at the old — but not too old — and the new — but not too new — in both rounds and squares.

Sharing the mike will be veteran callers "Tib" Tibbetts and Don Finfrock, with a pair of well-known "rounders," Art and Ruth Youwer, balancing out each evening's schedule. They'll all be at Salk School every first and third Saturday night in the month, ready to give Rolling Meadows dancers a full program of tradancing. Of course, you don't need to show proof of Rolling Meadows residence to be part of the fun — everybody come!

Both Tib and Don are VIPs where area dancers are concerned, and for Finfrock fans from 'way back his re-appearance on the dance scene is the best possible way to get 1965 off to a swingin' start. Due to business pressures and only 24 hours a day, Don retired from his several caller spots about two years ago with only a rare guest appearance to keep his followers from complete despair.

A lilt in his voice and a sparkle in his eyes as he talks about his new club suggests that Finfrock is as glad to be back at the mike as his fans will be to see him there. Sixteen years of calling and teaching, and a lifetime of dancing makes Don one of the best in the Chicagoland area.

TIB HAS about 10 years of dancing to his credit and in recent years has been one of the busiest instructors in the area. his classes for beginners and his refresher course, sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park District in cooperation with Arlington Squares and Palatine Squares. Beginners were graduated early this week and the refresher course will soon be underway. Complete information about Tib's park district classes may be obtained from park district office, CL 3-0620.

Mr. and Mrs. Youwer are comparative newcomers to the dance scene, but bring mighty fine recommendations — they are former Finfrock students. They've been concentrating on the round dance for the past three years, and are generally acknowledged by area dancers to be among the finest instructors around — no pun intended hardly.

Salk School is located at Pheasant Drive and Grouse Lane in Rolling Meadows. It'll be easy to find Saturday night; just follow the crowd. Further information about Meadowsquares may be obtained from Tibbetts, CL 3-0776; Finfrock, FL 8-0799, or the Youwers, FL 8-2408.

BRONCO SQUARES

New - this - season Bronco Squares accommodate dancers in the Barrington-Palatine area, from anywhere. They'll be squaring up again tomorrow night as they do the third Friday night of every month, and this is their official invitation to join 'em.

Paul "Foggy" Thompson will clear his throat at 8 o'clock and keep things swinging in Barrington North Park Field House. Refreshments are served throughout the evening, and so is fine dancing. The field house is located one block west of Route 59, one block south of Route 14. Everybody come!

February's Bronco session will feature a guest caller, Fred Douglas, a frequent area visitor who is a regular caller for several Elgin and Aurora clubs. Plan now to dig Douglas next month.

SLOWPOKES

Kicking off the new year for this Mount Prospect club was the election of new officers who will not be able to attend the inaugural ball in Washington, D. C. They're busy making plans for their own next regularly scheduled dance, Jan. 22.

New club presidents are Dick and Mitzie Brush; vice presidents are Warren and Ann Andrews; secretaries, Marion and Judy Duncan; treasurers, Al and Win Clausen. Hail to the chiefs.

Slowpokes dance the second and fourth Friday nights of every month, in Mount Prospect's Euclid School, located on Euclid Avenue about a block east of the north end of Randhurst Shopping Center. Gene Tidwell squares 'em up at 8:30 and keeps the Slowpokes from being slowpokes until 11 o'clock. Guests are always welcome.

PLAIDS AND CALICOS

Hoffman Estaters planning to attend Plaids and Calicos' "Luau Dance" Jan. 30, are advised to hustle. There are only a few tickets left. Club officers remind ticket-holders that tickets with stubs still attached cannot be honored after Jan. 20. The paid stubs must be turned in before that date so that dinner reservations and other final arrangements can accurately be made. Hurry, hurry.

Dinner, luau style, will be served at 6:30 p.m., and a full schedule of square and round dancing will follow. Full information about the dinner dance can be obtained from Jackie Belson, 1110 N. Grove, Palatine; phone, 359-1169 in the evening only please.

SQUARES FOR FUN

Wood Dale dancers square up tomorrow night for another session of fun dancing to the calls of Lloyd Larson. Everyone's invited to join the gang in Highland School, N. Wood Dale Road, at 8 o'clock, for easy-going, relaxed dancing until 11:30 when easy-going, relaxed refreshments are served.

Squares For Fun ended the old year by losing their traveling banner to guest bandits, the Saints and Swingers of Libertyville, during their last dance of the year. They're not letting the theft dim optimistic plans for the new year, though; a traveling banner was meant to travel and it will be more fun for squares from Squares for Fun when they retrieve it. It might even be back by tomorrow night. C'mon on out and see.

A WORD FROM Wendy Ward

by Ann Mahan

Spring Hats are Here! And so very pretty too. Now is the time to put winter chapeaux away and beat the dreary cold weather with a new hat. Wear your new millinery with your winter coat, cloth or fur and give yourself and your audience a delightful lift. What is prettier to see than a lady or teen in a face and figure flattering hat?

Hats at Wards are by all the leading hat designers, European and American. Names such as: Sally Victor, Dana Originals, Dachettes designed by Lilly Dache, John Fredericks, Mr. John Jr., and Monsieur X are some of the originals that we carry. These hats are in leading fashion shapes and silhouettes especially designed for the American market and are Wards exclusively. What are the current shapes and styles in the millinery world for spring 1965?

Bowlers, fedoras, sailors, rollers, bretons, cloches, and turbans are the answer. Side drape brims both narrow and wide are sometimes flexible so that you can flip them to flatter you the most. Watch for the new little helmet perfect for the new closer hairdos.

Just as popular are the adaptations of these famous designers. Each hat is sold to you in its own specially designed box to keep your hat at its original beauty.

A simply outstanding hat by Mr. John Jr. is a shining black loosely woven straw. The brim, wide, is gathered at the crown to form a graceful escalloped edge. A bold black taffeta bow forms the accent point.

A fashion hat is a bubble style made of black-patent-like straw ribbon that forms loops all over. A single white rose bud is the only contrast.

For the lady who likes a touch of flowers in her bonnet, may we suggest a bowler style with a band of avocado velvet. Nestled in the narrow brim is a bouquet of spring flowers. The crown is in a matching avocado tulle.

The all-over petal wig hat is very much with us in an all over flower design. Sewn to a green mesh elastic net this hat can cover your entire coiffure or place it on the back of your head. This eye catching hat is in shades of pink, pale to brilliant. And you'll be amazed when you see how inexpensive this hat is.

A perfect suit hat is a black and white straw woven to form a checked effect. Saw-tooth edge and red grosgrain ribbon trim forming neat bows in the back makes a perfect hat for the discriminating woman.

For the career gal or smart teenager is a jockey cap in a glossy black straw. The bill sports a black patent leather bow for the authentic touch.

Straw yellow, one of the high fashion colors this spring, comes in a turn up brim breton. The straw both narrow and wide gives this hat, by Dana Originals, a hand woven effect.

I could go on and tell you about hat after hat because we have such an immense collection. And even more are coming in! But why don't you come in and try them on for yourself and see why Wards is the millinery store in your town.

TRAVEL ACCIDENTS ARE COVERED BY Paddock Publications
Suburbanite Emergency Protection
Personal Accident Policy
ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- The number of travel accidents is frightening. Practically everyone uses public or private conveyances such as automobiles, trucks, buses, taxis, trains, airplanes, boats and elevators. Pedestrians while walking or standing on public streets and highways are often struck, knocked down or run over by vehicles. Crowded and outmoded streets and highways, speeding, reckless drivers, blowouts and bad weather conditions cause accidents that kill or injure people every minute. If for no other reason, everyone should have protection for travel accidents when you think how much time is spent each day on transportation. At vacation time no one should be without the protection of this policy.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

THE MEDIC ALERT BRACELET worn low on his left wrist by Alfred Snap, reading specialist at Arlington High School, assures him that anybody attending him in an emergency will know immediately that he is allergic to penicillin and signomycin. On file permanently in the Medic Alert registry in California, Snap can add to this record at any time if he has other allergies or physical conditions that should be known to a medical attendant. (Staff Photo)

Vital Information During Emergency

by PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

A thin metal disc worn on a chain around the waist or neck could mean the difference between life and death for the wearer.

The disc bears the universally recognized bright red medical symbol of a caduceus, two snakes entwined around a staff, and its signifies the wearer suffers from disability or allergy. It also means the person wearing the disc is registered with Medic Alert, an international organization headquartered on California.

It is estimated that one person in every five has some disability or physical condition requiring special attention or drugs. If neglected, the condition could cause acute physical distress and even death.

Outwardly there may be no sign of the condition, or the signs may be misread, and in case of emergency, if the person is unable to explain to a medical attendant about his particular disability, it could be overlooked.

SUCH WAS the case that led to the founding of Medic Alert. The daughter of Dr. Marion C. Collins of Turlock, Calif., was administered a tetanus anti-toxin shot following an accident. Allergic to the medication, she reacted and suffered painfully. Her father vowed that would never happen again, and he devised a bracelet for her as a warning signal.

Today the Medic Alert Foundation International has more than 300,000 persons throughout the world wearing its bracelets or necklaces with the attached disc that identifies the wearer and his condition, and carries the emergency telephone number of Medic Alert's answering service in Turlock, Calif., where there is a permanent registry of these persons containing their medical history.

In Illinois a group of life insurance underwriters last summer formed the Illinois Foundation for Medic Alert. In the ensuing months they have been telling doctors, nurses, police and fire authorities about the life saving service and trying to enlist the aid of such organizations as Lions Clubs and Jaycees in spreading the word.

"NOW WE want to tell the public about Medic Alert," explained Robert C. Fagan, the foundation's president.

There are 30-odd organizations providing similar identifications, Alert is non-profit and charita- Fagan said, but only Medic Alert is non-profit and charitable. That is why the underwriters chose to push it.

Before the foundation was formed, Fagan estimated, there were 15 to 20 applications for Medic Alert registration from Illinois each month. Since then the number has jumped to 150, he figured.

Both the Illinois Hospital Association and The Illinois Medical Society have lent their support by calling attention of their members to Medic Alert and its service. According to an official of the State Junior Chamber of Commerce, it is being considered as a health and safety project for local chambers.

IN THE northwest suburbs there still is little awareness of the Medic Alert service, and so far it does not seem to be used much, mainly because people don't know it exists.

Since being alerted to the service by the Illinois Hospital Association, Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge has put pamphlets about Medic Alert in reading racks in the hospital lobby, out-patient clinic and emergency department. However, not many patients coming into emergency wear such identification, a hospital spokesman reported.

The assistant director of nursing at Holy Family Hospital at Des Plaines said she was aware that such tags exist, but added that there is concerted effort at that institution to tell patients about them.

Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights will be putting the Medic Alert pamphlets into its public reading racks, said Alan Campbell, hospital administrator.

THE MOST enthusiastic endorsement comes from those who deal directly with patients who need the device.

"The tags would be really helpful, and I wish everyone who needs it would have one," commented Mrs. Dawn Berngen, chief admitting officer at Northwest Community. However, she has yet to see anybody wearing one.

"Probably one in every 50 persons is allergic to penicillin, and we can't know if we don't have their medical history," she explained. "In accident cases, particularly if the persons are from another area, there is no way of knowing if they are allergic to tetanus anti-toxin if they are brought in unconscious."

Mrs. Alma McCully, head nurse in the emergency department, agreed the tags would be beneficial to both wearers and persons attending them in emergencies.

DR. ROBERT Kloempken, formerly chief of staff of Northwest Community and a doctor of internal medicine in Arlington Heights, also endorsed the tags as "a good idea." He said several of his patients who are allergic or need anti-coagulant drugs wear them, but he does not know any doctors who are promoting use of the discs.

Alfred Snap, reading specialist at Arlington High School, is one person keenly aware of the advantages of wearing a Medic Alert bracelet. Snap did not know he was allergic to penicillin until he reacted violently to the drug just after coming to Arlington Heights in 1950. He couldn't even report for his first day of teaching.

Later he learned about the identification service and registered with it. When he found he was allergic also to some other drugs, he added that information to his file in Turlock, where he is No. 1,874.

"I've been fortunate never to have had to use it," Snap said.

THOSE WHO can benefit from wearing Medic Alert tags besides persons allergic to drugs include the diabetic who, in case of a coma, must get prompt and proper care; the epileptic, who must be identified immediately when in convulsion; persons suffering from hemophilia, multiple sclerosis, glaucoma or using neck breathers.

Those on life-saving drugs such as cortisone, dicumerol, digitalis or mercupurin; victims of amnesia; the deaf and mute, and even persons wearing contact lenses could at some time be glad they were wearing a Medic Alert identification.

Application blanks may be obtained from the Illinois Foundation for Medic Alert, 208 S. LaSalle St., Chicago. The Foundation recommends the medical information be filled in by the applicant's physician. This goes on file in the central registry in California, and there is no extra charge for adding information to the registrant's record.

Neither is there ever any charge to the wearer if a collect call is made to the registry if more information is needed in an emergency. The only cost is that for the original medal. (A-15

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Playing the Persian game "Dogema-Dogema Key Dare" and breaking a Mexican Pinata was part of an International Friendship party held by the Ta - Kin - Ga Trailseeker Camp Fire Girls Dec. 23. Mrs. Jemick Cook, who is from Persia but now lives in Palatine, was guest of honor. She told the girls of the religion, food and daily life in her native country and taught them the game, very much like the American "Button-Button Who's got the Button. Members of the group are: June Austin, Denise Braun, Frances Kempisty, Regina Main, Mary Ann Pliska, Diane Ostrowski, Kristina Rongner, Susan Schoeneck, Vickie Lobe, and Linda Walker.

Miss Rebecca Condon, an eighth Grade Indian girl at the St. Joseph's Indian School in Chamberlain, S.D. received a new dress, skirt, sweater, socks, underwear, hair bands, curlers, and cosmetics for Christmas. They were from the Chickiyapi Junior High Camp Fire Group, eighth grade girls from Miner and Thomas Junior High Schools as their Christmas Service Project. Mrs. Taft Lowell is guardian of the group and Mrs. Jack Lacker is co-guardian.

MOUNT PROSPECT

Mount Prospect Blue Birds attended a Play Day last Saturday afternoon in Mount Prospect Country Club. Originally, a snow man building contest was scheduled but because of lack of snow, games were played. Leaders brought vacuum bottles of hot chocolate for the 200 girls.

To Wan Ka Horizon Club Girls had a busy month in December. They collected toys for migrant Mexicans and also contributed to "toys for tots." During Christmas week, the group took part in the Camp Fire Girl carolling tour. Dec. 29, the girls had a late Christmas and early New Year party at which they played records, danced and played games.

The group is under the leadership of Mrs. Wilbert Granzin. Girls in the group are Jane Beesley, Cathy Buhrke, Karen Farnsworth, Kris Granzin, Janet Haase, Judy Hansen, Ginger Hasz, Judy Miltozow, Lori Nave, Kathy Piepenbrink, Shelley Pierce, Charlotte Rateike, Barbara Scherpelz and Linda Seils.

O Ki Hi Shle Ta Camp Fire Girls had their first ceremonial recently. They invited their mothers and received their first honor beads. After the ceremonial the girls and their mothers ate cookies which the girls had decorated earlier. At the group's meeting last week, the girls made a symbol game. Indian corn kernels were used as markers. Girls in the group are Barbara Allison, Sally Amling, Roxanne Coughlin, Jane Edstrom, Nancy Floros, Debra Froehlich, Gayle Gehrke, Linda Johnson, Barbara Lett, Janice Olson, Nancy Reek, Shirley Stanko, Kanthy Treece, Debra Ursin, Mary Weatherby and Mary Wyatt. Rental Industry Booming

The rental store industry's annual sales reached a record $168 million in 1964, a gain of 17 per cent over 1963.

Total number of rental stores climbed to more than 4,000 compared with 3,800 in 1963.

This was disclosed by Herman P. Olsen, 780 E. Northwest Hwy., United Rent-Alls operator in Arlington Heights. The national survey was conducted by United Rent-Alls, Inc., Lincoln, Neb., the country's largest rental store system.

The industry is composed of general rental outlets that rent all types of equipment—tools, party goods, invalid needs, household equipment, garden equipment, construction equipment. Items are rented by the day, week or month.

The survey disclosed that average rental volume per store rose in 1964 to $42,000, compared with $39,000 in 1963. This average included the 200 new stores that opened during the year, whose volume was under the industry program.

Projections for expansion reported by surveyed stores indicate an industry growth of more than 20 per cent in 1965. The rate on new store openings is expected to climb to approximately 30 per month next year. (15BB

Flick-Reedy Tells Expansion Program

A $600,000 machinery expansion program for fiscal 1964-65, which will increase production and speed cylinder deliveries, has been announced by Flick-Reedy Corp., Bensenville, manufacturer of machine tool grade air and hydraulic cylinders.

The $600,000 outlay, according to President Frank Flick, is a continuing program to take care of increased sales and the company's decision to expand production on "specials" and to improve quoted deliveries on both stock and custom items.

A RECORD SETTING sales performance by the firm's nationwide field engineer force resulted in a 22 per cent sales gain the past fiscal year, Flick reported. This would have taxed production facilities to the limit except, that with its continuing machinery expansion program, Flick-Reedy had purchased equipment to handle the anticipated increase.

The first 6 months of 1964-65 saw an increase of 36 per cent in sales over last year's record setting sales for the same period. Profits in the first quarter were reported well ahead of last year.

New equipment now being installed includes the latest in tape-controlled, automatic and electric discharge machinery.

Flick-Reedy was selected as one of the top 10 plants of 1960. (15BB

Care Advised When You Buy Used Car

by WILLIAM G. CLARK
Attorney General

If you are buying a used car or planning to do so, this warning is addressed directly to you. BE CAREFUL. Know what you are really getting.

Have the car checked out by a competent mechanic. Read the fine print—all of it—in your contract and guarantee. Better still, ask your bank to examine the documents for you, or your attorney. If you take enough time, at the start, to do these things they may save you considerable money and trouble. Don't be rushed into closing any deal.

MY OFFICE receives many complaints from persons who have been victimized by unscrupulous used car dealers. The fact that such persons are a minority of dealers doesn't help the person who has been victimized. Unless you have taken precautions such as I have mentioned, you can't be sure that you are not buying more trouble than transportation.

You get, with your car, a guarantee or warrantee that the car is in good operating condition. That guarantee is only as good as the character of the person with whom you are dealing.

Very commonly—and you find that this practice is not restricted to Illinois—there is hidden somewhere in the smallest print a proviso that you and the dealer will share 50-50 any costs of repairs for, say, 90 days or six months. Suppose the clutch or transmission or battery fails (these are common types of used car breakdowns). You go back to the dealer, and he agrees to make the repairs. His chief mechanic says that they will cost $200; you know they couldn't possibly cost over $100 at the most. What is going on here?

Very simply this: the dealer has doubled the costs of the repair job; you are actualy paying all of the repair charges, including any out-of-pocket costs the dealer may incur. By doubling the cost, he is making you pay the entire $100 of legitimate charges, and he is out nothing.

YOU COMPLAIN, argue, threaten to take the car elsewhere and send him a bill for half the cost.

At this point, the dealer shows you another item tucked away in the small print. It says that "all repairs will be made under the direction and control" of the dealer. Go ahead and sue, he says; you accepted this warrantee and there's nothing you can do about it. And actually there isn't much you can do. This is what is known as the "worthless warrantee," and you have been hooked. Unless you have taken the precautions I suggest.

The "worthless warrantee" is a common type of fraud. It is used by shyster used car dealers all over the United States.

The only real protection against such practices is vigilance on the part of purchasers. That means you. 15BB

State's Residents Urged to Boost Illinois, Home Towns

Every Illinois citizen can play a part in stimulating economic growth and expansion of jobs in the state.

This is the view of John L. Gordon, chairman of the Economic Development Committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the board of Central Illinois Electric and Gas Co., Rockford.

According to Gordon, opportunities abound for the individual Illinois resident to be a "booster" for his community and state.

"UNFORTUNATELY," Gordon says, "all too many golden opportunities are missed because of lack of knowledge or motivation. The efforts of the many groups working to increase job opportunities in Illinois would receive a remarkable boost if only 100,000 additional Illinoisans made and kept a New Year's resolution to learn more about the desirable aspects of their, locality and state and to conscientiously try to sell them."

Gordon listed these ways in which the ordinary citizen can play an invaluable role in "selling" Illinois:

—In personal and business correspondence and conversations—talk up Illinois! Remember, anyone may be a prospect. Make sure of your facts and sell Illinois at every opportunity.

—WRITE TO FRIENDS or associates who work for out-of-state companies which might expand operations — tell them why Illinois and your community are good places to work and live. Urge them to consider your area when they expand or relocate.

—Keep your eyes and ears open. When you hear of a company that's planning to expand or locate a new plant, contact your local chamber of commerce and let them know.

—Support your chamber or other local industrial development group with time and money.

—When a local industry or business expands, or a new industry comes to town, send a note of congratulations, or write a letter to the editor of your local paper.

—Learn about the tourist attractions in your own area, and visit them yourself. For full information contact your local chamber.

—Take a vacation in Illinois. There's no better way to get to know your state! Urge your friends to do the same.

—Put out the welcome mat to strangers and tourists in your town. Be courteous and helpful —let them know what to see before they leave (an historical site, monument, new building, spectacular vista, a good restaurant).

—Write to friends outside the state—invite them to take a vacation in Illinois. Information and maps are available from the State Department of Conservation, Illinois information Service or Board of Economic Development in Springfield.

—PERSUADE YOUR lodge, club or union to hold a convention in Illinois.

—When it's gift-giving time, choose something made in or related to the state of Illinois. (15 BB

Referral Trick Used In Selling Color TV

The Chicago Better Business Bureau has issued a warning to beware of the referral selling technique being used currently in the sale of color television sets.

Regardless of what the salesman says, according to A. B. Johnston, executive vice president of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Chicago, the buyer of a color TV can become obligated for several hundred dollars, perhaps more, when he signs his name to the contract currently used in this referral technique.

The bureau has received hundreds of complaints from persons who have been duped into believing they could buy some article for a fraction of its usual price by supplying names of friends willing to make a similar deal.

THIS OPERATION is similar to the chain letter and is mathematically impossible of full execution, Johnston pointed out. Literature concerning such propositions is considered unmailable by the post office department because of its deceptive nature. Victims are deluded into signing contracts for large amounts.

Further information about any such propositions may be obtained from the Better Business Bureau, 430 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. (15BB

Dun & Bradstreet Tells '65 Listings

Statistics released recently by E. F. Schenk, district manager of the Chicago office of Dun & Bradstreet, reflect the activity of the business population in suburban Cook County during the past year.

Figures obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1965, totaled 18,501 manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers compared with 17, 605 for a like area in January, 1964.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

SCHENK ADDED that during the past year 9,454 changes were made in the Dun x Bradstreet Reference Book listings of suburban Cook County businesses, including names added, names deleted and changes in the ratings of continuing businesses.

Arlington Heights showed 609 listings this month compared with 571 in January, 1964; Palatine had 323 this year as against 305 a year ago. Three were 262 listings for Mount Prospect compared with 255 in January of last year and 220 for Wheeling compared with 211 in January, 1964.

The Dun & Bradstreet credit rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet, indicates financial strength or the tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol is a number which reflects a composite appraisal of the background, operations, financial stability and payment record of the business.

EACH REFERENCE Book listing, which includes the rating, is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes the following: A history of the business, (who owns it, who runs it and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section which usually includes the latest financial statement and a record of how the business pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by businessmen who want to evaluate the credit risk of a business before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates and coverage for fire and other types of insurance. 15BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

No one wants to take a tumble and slip on the ice. That's why we often use salt to melt the ice. The two most commonly used types of salt for de-icing are sodium chloride (rock salt) and calcium chloride (white flakes).

Although salt is effective in removing ice and snow from sidewalks and drives, it should be used with discretion or damage to lawns and shrubs will occur. Both of these salts will injure lawns, trees and flowers if enough is absorbed by the plants.

As an alternative, fertilizers and plant food materials can be used as de-icers. Sample materials include urea, a 48 per cent nitrogen fertilizer; ammonium nitrate, a 33 per cent nitrogen material, and ammonium sulfate containing 21 per cent nitrogen. While most any form of inorganic plant food material could be used, these three are particularly well suited for the job.

THE THEORY behind using the nitrogen compounds is that they are available for plant food after they have served as de-icers. Of course, they should be used sparingly . . . same as the chloride salts . . . you can also kill vegetation with too much fertilizer.

When using any de-icer, use only in the amounts recommended by the manufacturer, and place the materials only on the areas that absolutely need melting. Don't pile or blow "salted snow" on shrubs or lawn. As a further precaution, flush, when weather permits, the salted area with water to wash the material away before excess amounts are absorbed into the soil.

During the fall we spoke of the importance of winter protection for newly planted trees and shrubs. Since the next three months are the most critical as far as winter injury is concerned, we feel a reminder is in order . . . especially considering the current lack of snow protection. This winter protection is especially important for trees and shrubs that have been installed in the last three years.

WHEN CORRECTLY installed, it provides protection from both wind and sun. Cold drying winds cause death to twigs and branches not only by their intense cold, but also by their drying effect. Winter sun does its damage in a similar fashion. By heating exposed portions of newly planted shrubs, it causes a loss of moisture which can not be replaced from the frozen ground. The result is the typical winter dieback.

Wind and sun protection is readily accomplished by the erection of burlaps, screens or similar opaque barriers. Although plastic gives excellent wind protections, it does not provide for the dissipation of the sun's heat. This results in the drying and eventual death of twigs and branches. So if you haven't protected your newly planted trees and shrubs, do it soon. You can still protect your shrubs from damage this winter. (15BB

Booming Business Expected in 1965

The coming year should be an outstanding one for area business firms according to a survey conducted by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

Soaring sales, profits and employment coupled with stable prices and widespread wage increases are anticipated during 1965 by the metropolitan companies which responded to the annual CACI survey.

SPECIFICALLY THE report showed that over 82 per cent of those business leaders queried were looking forward to increased sales while 65 per cent expected larger profits. This despite what the survey termed "record breaking years in both departments for 1964."

In the area of employment, if the projections revealed in the survey are accurate, more than 45,000 new jobs will be made available for the Chicago area workers in 1965. In addition, 76 per cent of the businesses contacted anticipate a higher level of wage rates.

Regardless of the growing wage scales, only 33 per cent of all firms expect to increase prices, 4 per cent will decrease prices while fully 55 per cent said that no price changes would be made in the coming year.

OTHER AREAS touched on in the report revealed very little or no expected change during 1965 and the report concluded by predicting that the coming year should be "another great year for business in Chicago."

The outlook survey, taken for the eighth straight year, was compiled from the responses of over 390 Chicago metropolitan companies employing over 90,000 persons. Those contacted for the report included manufacturers, retailers, and wholesalers, plus those firms dealing in services, construction, transportation, finance, insurance and real estate. (15BB

Paint Store Owner Quoted in Magazine

"I don't consider a salesman an order taker."

That was the view expressed by Bud Mills, owner of Webber Paint Store in Arlington Heights and quoted in an article carried in the December issue of American Paint and Wallpaper Dealer.

A former painter himself, Mills explained how he feels about the supplier salesman who keeps him stocked with paints and wallpaper.

"I feel the supplier salesman has several functions to perform," Mills said. "He must keep dealers informed of new products and their application. He must keep us aware of coming price changes. He must tell us when new wallpaper books are coming out and advise us what to do with books in which patterns are discontinued."

THE PAINT STORE owner also specified what he would like the salesman to do.

"I would like to have a salesman make regular calls on specified times, so that we can discuss what is new and consider any complaints that I or my customers may have. I'd like him to have 'spec' sheets, and keep me well supplied with both color cards and with chips to hand out to customers.

"Most important would be his mission to keep me informed of color trends. These don't spring up overnight."

Mills expressed his opinions during a panel disucssion at a meeting of the Paint and Wallpaper Association of Greater Chicago. (10BB

IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS

If you are lucky enough to have space in your bathroom that is not being utilized, you might consider a sun-bathing shelf. An easily-constructed shelf such as shown in the illustration requires an area of only 2 by 6 feet.

You can cover the shelf with terry cloth, which absorbs spilled liquids quickly and is easily washable. Sun lamp is pull-down type which can be adjusted to convenient height.

Now, with a radio playing softly, and, perhaps, a good book, you're practically on the beach.

In case you should get too comfortable or relaxed, however, keep an alarm clock nearby, set it for desired "exposure" time.

Modernizing Congress

Suburbs Have Vital Stake In Reorganization Bills

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bruce Ladd, associate editor of Paddock Publications, Inc., is on leave of absence from his newspaper duties to participate in the 1964 Congressional Fellowship Program in Washington, D.C., sponsored by the American Political Science Association. Periodically, Paddock Publications will publish special reports written by Ladd in the nation's capital and dealing with metropolitan problems, the Congress, legislation, and other matters of interest to northwest suburban readers. This is his first report.)

by BRUCE LADD

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As the Congress of the United States — often described as "the world's greatest deliberative body" — opened for business last week for the 89th time, scores of legislative proposals were dropped into hoppers in the Senate and House chambers.

The opening week flood of bills reflects both the legislators' genuine interest in getting on with the nation's business and also their prolonged inactivity since the Nov. 3 General Election.

Few of the newly-introduced bills are of more importance to suburban residents than those submitted in the Senate by Sen. A. S. "Mike" Monroney of Oklahoma and in the House by Rep. Clark MacGregor of Minnesota. The bills call for action in examining the means of overhauling and modernizing the Congress itself.

THE MONRONEY and MacGregor bills, proposing creation of a Joint (both Senate and House) Committee on the Organization of Congress, are of prime importance to the suburbs because of suburbia's growing investment in national affairs, and also because many of the current deficiencies of of Congress are responsible for preventing progress toward solutions for suburbia's problems—education, transportation, air pollution, and many others. In other words, a modern and efficient Congress will permit legislators to better and more rapidly represent more and more suburbanites.

The Monroney and MacGregor "reorganization" bills, identical in form, would establish a bi-partisan committee of 12 members — six from the Senate and six from the House. The committee would set about thoroughly examining the weaknesses of Congress and would hold hearings to allow Congressional critics to air their ideas for reform. At the end of the committee's studies (observers say a full year will be needed), recommendations for changes will be made for approval by the Senate and House.

The heavily Democratic 89th Congress has already begun some modernization of its procedures. In the House last week, three significant rules changes were passed.

THE CHANGES would:

(1) permit the House, by majority vote, to call up bills that have been awaiting clearance in the Rules Committee for 21 days or longer;

(2) allow the House, also by a majority vote, to send differing bills that have passed both Senate and House to conference committee, prohibiting the current practice of one member's objection blocking a conference and requiring approval by the Rules Committee; and

(3) eliminate a single member's right to stop all action on a bill for a day at the last stage of passage by demanding a printed copy of the bill.

THE SENATE, always a little slower to act, has taken up the question of amending its procedure for cutting off a filibuster. As it now stands, if 66 Senators vote "yes," a filibuster is halted. An amendment to the rules would block a filibuster with the votes of only 60 Senators.

But the Monroney and MacGregor bills are not aimed so much at the working rules of Congress, but rather at the machinery with which the Congress operates.

Monroney points out that the Congressional machinery was last overhauled by the LaFollette-Monroney Act of 1946. At that time, Monroney was a member of the House and led the reorganization with the late Sen. Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The Oklahoma senator says one of the most essential tasks is to improve the ability of Congress to consider and pass upon the federal budget which now totals close to $100 billion annually. Modern accounting methods, he says, are needed by the Congress in considering the budget. He proposes staffing of the important Appropriations Subcommittee with certified public accountants as well as with present staff members.

MONRONEY ALSO believes the Congress should use computers to determine facts about the budget and save the time of members poring over the many complexities of appropriations requests.

MacGregor has similar goals in sight. He says: "In a very practical sense, our efforts to modernize our own procedures will determine to a great extent the kind of performance we will be showing in years to come right here in the Congress. The joint committee proposal is a reasoned and moderate approach to the much-discussed question of Congressional reorganization."

MacGregor, who represents Minnesota's 3rd District north and west of Minneapolis, feels a "modernized" Congress will be of major benefit to suburban areas because of suburbia's increasing representation in Washington, D. C., and because "solutions to suburban problems seem to linger unnecessarily in the archaic structures of the House and Senate."

OTHER QUESTIONS the proposed joint committee might answer are: Is there any workable substitute for the seniority system? What should be done about the filibuster? Should adjournment of Congress come earlier? Should some committees be abolished or realigned?

The Monroney and MacGregor bills have been referred to the Rules Committee for study. The sponsors hope for an early report.

Aid for Migrants Topic of Workshop

Northwest suburban educators have been invited to participate in a second of four workshops being conducted by the Northwest Church Council for Migrant Aid Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Congregational United Church of Christ 1001 Kirchoff Road, Arlington Heights.

Many of the schools in the local six township area have as their students children from the estimated 1,500 family Mexican-American settling group. School officials will be asked to share with the church-orientated migrant aid council ideas of how assistance might be extended to these Spanish-American children.

All interested people in the area are invited to attend any one or all of the remaining Sunday evening meetings, Jan. 17, 24 and 31.

CHAIRMAN Virgil Bass moderated last Sunday's workshop on family services which featured a panel of four prominent Chicagoland Welfare agency leaders. Outlining family service possibilities for settling migrants were the Rev. James Gordon Gilkey Jr., director of suburban planning, Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago, and Herschel L. Allen, regional director, Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. Assisting them was the Rev. Daniel Alvarez, director of Casa Central, an agency of the Chicago City Missionary Society.

Each spoke of the programming within their agencies which might effectively be used to aid both local migrant settling families and the hundreds of Mexican - Americans who come to the area for summer farm work.

It was pointed out that welfare agencies are now concentrating greater emphasis on the fast expanding northwest suburban area.

Petitions to Seek State School Aid

Members of area PTA units and local teacher associations this week started work on a state-wide effort to collect more than one million signatures on petitions seeking more school funds.

The petitions are to be presented to Gov. Kerner in February by state district PTA and Illinois Education Association local division representatives.

THE PETITIONS include three major sections:

—The state constitution provides that it is the obligation of the state to provide a thorough and efficient system of free schools;

—Local property tax is carrying too heavy a responsibility in bearing the cost of public schools and cannot be expected to undertake the necessary increase to improve the educational program; and —Quality education for all children of Illinois can be provided only if the state assumes a greater share of financial responsibility.

The petitions further request the governor and the legislature to increase the amount of state aid to local school districts to assure a "realistic minimum level of expenditure."

THEY ALSO ask state officials to initiate revenue revision to enable Illinois to meet "its financial obligations for furthering the education of Illinois children."

Heading the circulation of petitions in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships are Mrs. John Hoppe of Mount Prospect of the area PTA organization and William Urbanek, principal of Lake View School, Hoffman Estates, for the Northwest Suburban Division of the IEA.

Cooperating in the petition program is the Illinois Association of School Boards.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon of Arlington Heights, PTA district secretary, said the local organization hoped for at least 10,000 signatures on the petitions.

Ladd Joins Staff Of Rep. MacGregor

Bruce C. Ladd Jr., 815 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, has joined the staff of Congressman Clark MacGregor, Republican from Minnesota's 3rd District.

Ladd has taken leave of absence from his duties as associate editor of Paddock Publications, Inc. to participate in the Congressional Fellowship program in Washington, D. C., under sponsorship of the American Political Science Association and Ford Foundation.

AN INTEGRAL part of the Fellowship program is actual service on the staff of a Congressman and a U. S. Senator. Ladd will serve on Rep. MacGregor's staff until mid-April, when he will join the staff of a U. S. Senator.

He is the first suburban journalist to participate in the Fellowship program, which is now in its 11th year.

Rep. MacGregor's 3rd District is suburban in character and includes Anoka and Hennepin Counties north and northwest of Minneapolis. The 42-year-old Congressman is recognized as a "moderate" Republican legislator and is now serving his third term in the House.

IN ANNOUNCING Ladd's appointment to his staff, MacGregor said this week: "It is a great pleasure to welcome Bruce Ladd to our staff. His background as a suburban newspaper editor will aid immeasurably in our attempts to develop solutions to suburbia's many problems — problems which have to be solved."

While in the Washington area, Ladd and his family are living at 1808 Metzerott Road, Adelphi, Maryland.

NOTICE IS hereby given that the said Collector of Cook County will, pursuant to the provisions of Section 235a of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939, as amended, apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County on the 11th day of Jan., A.D., 1965, for judgment against lands and lots hereinafter described, being parcels upon which general real estate taxes for 10 or more years remain due and unpaid, and for an order to sell said lands and lots for the satisfaction thereof according to law.

Notice is further herein and hereby given that on the 16th Monday next succeeding the 11th day of Jan., A.D., 1965, to-wit, the 3rd day of May, 1965, at the hour of 9 o'clock A.M. all said lands and lots hereinbefore described, for sale of which an order shall have been made, will be exposed to public sale at the County Building of Cook County where the County Division of the Circuit Court is held in said County to the highest bidder for cash.

The following is a list of delinquent lands and lots upon which the general real estate taxes remain due and unpaid for 10 or more years, the names of the owners where known, the total principal amount due thereon, and the years for which the same is due.

(The total amount due in this application on each tract or parcel of land or lots is the total principal amount, due as hereinafter set forth, plus the statutory penalties, interest and costs which may be computed for each year for which said parcel is delinquent.)

EXPLANATORY NOTE — In this list in all places where no other notation is made the figures in the column headed "$" (meaning dollars) and the "cts" (meaning cents) represents the total principal amount of the general real estate taxes due and unpaid for all years for which that parcel is delinquent, whether or not that parcel was forfeited for any or all of such delinquent years.

Payment of taxes made after printer's copies are sent to publishers for listing are not reflected in this list, but such payments will be posted before judgment is entered on the application advertised herein.

In lieu of legal description, each parcel of land or lot is designated by a permanent real estate index number.

In the permanent real estate index number system the area is designated by the number appearing in the column headed "A," the sub-area by the number in the column headed "SA," the block by the number appearing in the column headed "Blk," and the particular parcel by the number in the column headed "Pcl."

Comparison of the permanent real estate index number with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross indices maintained in various County offices.

After stopping at the State Street fire station the cadettes sang in each scout's neighborhood. At the last stop, the George Biebers, parents of a troop member, served hot chocolate and donuts. Accompanying the troop were Mrs. Ben Zaboronski and Mrs. Al Kargol, leaders, and Mrs. George Mahoney and Mr. Kargol.

NORTHWEST ARLINGTON

Eight Cadettes of Troop 380 went caroling Dec. 20. Their leader, Mrs. George Maybee, drove the girls to each of their homes where they sang three songs ending at the home of Mrs. Harold Fluhrer where not chocolate, pop corn and cake were served and more carols sung.

Brownie Troop 390 held traditional investiture ceremonies Dec. 17. Officially becoming Brownies were Tara Stoltzner, Susan Helfers, Laurie Barron, Carol Carolson, Kathy Roden, Sally Grabow, and Lauren Knudsen. Mrs. James Spiel, leader, presided over these ceremonies and those awarding membership stars to 16 other scouts. The afternoon was climaxed by refreshments served under the supervision of Mrs. Nick Shuman. Assisting throughout were co-leaders Mrs. Lester Carlson and Mrs. Robert Roden.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

Sharing their Christmas goodies with the children at Little City were the Brownies of Troop 768. The girls had a party Dec. 22 with games, refreshments and a grab bag and made up a package of cookies and cupcakes for their leader, Mrs. Walter Clemmons, to deliver to the retarded children.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Members of Brownie Troop 151 were the guests of their sister Junior Troop 370 at Fairview School Dec. 17. The juniors were responsible for planning all phases of the event, fulfilling several badge requirements. Presentation of the flag was followed by songs and games.

The Social Dependability Challenge was met by Cadette Troop 543 when they entertained Brownie Troop 203 at the Donald Rogers' home Dec. 15. Working in patrols the girls played games, presented a puppet show and served refreshments. Both troops exchanged grab bag gifts.

A second party for Troop 203 took place Dec. 22 when Junior Troop 293 planned a Christmas party for their sister troop at Fairview School. Opening with a flag ceremony, the program included songs, games, "Beatle" songs pantomined by several Juniors and a play, Nine Cheers for Christmas, presented by the troop. A tree centerpiece, made of newspaper, decked the refreshment table. Each Brownie received a candy favor.

A rewarding experience was provided for members of Brownie Troop 203 by Mrs. Edward Bertoglio. Three groups of girls used her kitchen to bake their Christmas cookies. Mrs. Bertoglio supervised the girls and they learned proper baking procedure. The girls spent their regular meeting decorating the cookies. (B9

Modern Etiquette

Q. What is the proper amount of the fee that a bridegroom gives to the clergyman?

A. There is no stipulated amount. It really all depends upon the bridegroom's finances . . . and wishes.

Q. Should a couple decide to have a party to announce their engagement, who is supposed to give it?

A. Normally, this is given by the parents of the bride, just before the published announcement appears in the newspapers. Relatives and friends of both families are invited, so that they are all "the first to know."

Chesney Explains Position

Democrats Refuse to Offer Slate in Township Election

A Democratic slate of candidates for Elk Grove Township post in the April election, will not be fielded according to Chester A. Chesney, township Democratic committeeman.

He attributed the party's decision to township government being no more than patronage for one party, an obsolete form of government, and too costly.

Said Chesney, "We believe township government as now constituted serves no useful purpose."

HIS STATEMENT concerning the issue, concurred with by the board of directors of the Elk Grove Regular Democratic Organization, follows:

"1. In the best interest of the taxpayers of Elk Grove Township the Democratic Party does not see fit to slate a ticket to oppose the Republican Party as a means to gain political advantage. It is opposed to township governments as they now are in existence. It believes such governments serve no useful purpose.

"2. It is our contention that events during the past few years have made Township governments obsolete in their functions. This is proven by the elimination of justice of peace positions and constables by the Blue Ballot. The rapid annexation of land and fire responsibility of Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Elk Grove Village, and the Forest Preserve has almost eliminated the Elk Grove Township Rural Fire District. These happenings alone signify the rapid changes in our Township.

"3. The funds for the operation of Township government are wasteful in relation to the responsibility they entail. The 1963-64 Township budget lists allocations for a supervisor at $2,000, plus $2,400 as supervisor of general assistance, plus expenses, plus a general assistance fund of $32,025. This amount is expanded, with major welfare cases turned over to Cook County welfare officials.

"The General Assembly in Springfield has had in previous years legislation introduced by Rep. Bernard Peskin (D. Northbrook) to eliminate this activity by the supervisor.

"4. The office of township clerk at $2,000 is seldom used. Village clerks administer the bulk of new registrations in the various communities.

"5. Assessor at $7,500, plus expenses of $4,500, plus $500 for travel. There may be some justification for this operation. But the bulk of the appraising is adequately handled by the field men of the Cook County appraiser's office.

"6. The township collector, is listed at expenses of $6,000. This job actually is active only during collection time. We are of the opinion this function can be more efficiently handled by the county treasurer's office through a local representative.

"7. The highway commissioner is listed at $7,200 with other funds allocated from he highway funds. At the present time only a small portion of roads in the rapidly dwindling unincorporated areas are served.

State, county and village highway departments handle the bulk of this work, rapidly eliminating the need for a township high way department.

"8. Board of auditors at $600. At present time there is no need for this activity.

"9. A study of every facet of the township government as to efficiency, service and the best use of the tax dollar would show that the continued existence of such a form of government can only serve as an arm of a political party for the use of patronage.

The population explosion in our villages, the services given by the villages, combined with the services of the county and state, further make township governments outdated and completely useless in this age.

This is our position as a responsible political party in the April township elections.

"We further recommend that if no opposition comes forward to challenge the incumbent slate, all funds allocated for this election should be turned over to the township school districts, which are in dire need of additional monies.

"We also recommend that every citizen who is sincere in the need for good government and the most prudent use of the tax dollar, should write to Rep. Bernard Peskin and Rep. Eugenia Chapman (D-Arlington Heights) to support legislation which will completely eliminate or drastically curtail this unnecessary form of government."

Republicans led by Committeean Carl Hansen, have fielded a slate of candidates for the open positions. They are:

William Rohlwing for supervisor; Robert L. Greinke for clerk; Charles A. Hodlmair for assessor; Arnold Scharringhausen for collector; Ronald L. Bradley for highway commissioner and Carl Hammerl, David J. Regner and Joseph C. Anzelmo for township auditors.

All are incumbents with the exception of Regner and Anzelmo. Hansen said Benjamin C. Campbell, an auditor, has moved to Ohio and Jack Stewart, an auditor, has said he did not wish to run for re-election.

District 214 Okays Teacher Pay Hikes

Salary increases for the 1965-66 school year for teachers of Arlington, Prospect, Wheeling and Forest View High Schools were adopted Monday night.

The new salary schedule proposed by the Teachers Association of High School District 214 was adopted by the school board unanimously.

Annual raises ranged from $95 for beginning teachers with bachelor degrees to $858 for teachers with 15 years of experience who hold a master's degree plus 32 hours of extra study in their teaching field.

The actual salary range is $5,510 to $11,078.

The 1964-65 salary schedule ranged from $5,415 to $10,220.

In addition teachers hired before 1963 who are heads of families receive an extra $300 annual increment.

ALL TEACHERS and administrators salaries are tied by a percentage "index" to the base salary in the master's degree scale. This was increased from $5,700 to $5,800. In addition to the normal increases this would bring, the index figures were increased for most teaching levels, particularly those in the six to 15 year experience ranges in the masters and higher degree scales.

Members of the teachers association appeared at the meeting to officially present the views of the association in seeking the salary increases.

The salary schedule had been worked out in cooperation with Supt. Harold Slichenmyer who recommended it to the school board.

In addition, board members Harold Armstrong and Earl Thompson had served as a special salary committee of the school board to work with Slichenmyer and the teachers in the final drafting of the schedule.

THE SALARY increases this year contrasted with the teachers experience in the past two years when increases had been limited. Last year the major increase for teachers had been a comprehensive major medical coverage on a family plan and an income protection program ranging from 50 to 75 per cent of contract salary depending upon the number of years with the school district. Both plans would become effective at the beginning of the teaching contract on July 1 each year.

Ray DePalma of Rolling Meadows, Forest View High teacher and president of the teachers association, told Paddock Publications after the salary increases had been adopted that this was the first time that the recommendation of the association for increases in the salary scale had been accepted as presented.

"This has been accomplished because there is a good working relationship between the teachers association and the school administration and because there is an appreciation by the school board of the status and needs of teachers," he added.

DePALMA stressed that District 214 teachers "should applaud the diligent effort of their salary committee for their work in arriving at the new salary scale."

He noted that starting next month a new salary committee will begin study of the 1966-67 salary schedules and related educational problems.

Teachers association spokesmen told the school board Monday that 97.6 per cent of District 214 teachers are members of the group.

214 Evening Class Registration Opens

With the mailing of the High School District 214 adult education brochures this week, registration for spring semester is under way.

Mail registrations are being received daily and people are coming into the adult office to register in person. The office is located next to Prospect High School at 799 W. Kensington Road, Mount Prospect.

Approximately 3,000 persons are expected to register for the spring semester, according to W. L. Randle, director of the program.

This semester night registration will be held at all four high schools between 7 and 9 p.m. Registration at Arlington High School will be Monday, Jan. 25; at Prospect High Tuesday, Jan. 26.

REGISTRATION Wednesday, Jan. 27, will be at Forest View and Thursday, Jan. 28, will find the registration staff at Wheeling High. At Arlington and Forest View registration will be in the library, and at Prospect and Wheeling in the cafeteria.

Thirty - five thousand brochures have been printed and mailed to practically every home in Elk Grove and Wheeling Townships. Brochure copies are available by calling CL 3-1700.

As in the past, additional new classes are being offered. Randle stated "All interested persons will find something to their liking in the more than 100 different courses scheduled."

AMONG THE new courses are cooking for company, percussion instruments, technical drawing, transistors and trouble shooting, advanced stocks, bonds and investments and figure drawing.

"The fine support and interest shown in the program at Wheeling High School last fall has encouraged us to continue the program at that school and to provide additional offerings this spring," said Randle.

Paddock Publications exciting twice weekly

NEWSPAPER BINGO

WINNING CARDS can be dropped off at Paddock Publications office through mail slot any time prior to 9 a.m. of following Monday.

TWO GAMES EACH WEEK

Consult Your GRAY Cards thru Jan. 16 for BOTH Games — Once for the Jan. 10 SUNDAY SUBURBANITE Game, then the New Set of Numbers for the PADDOCK THURSDAY Game

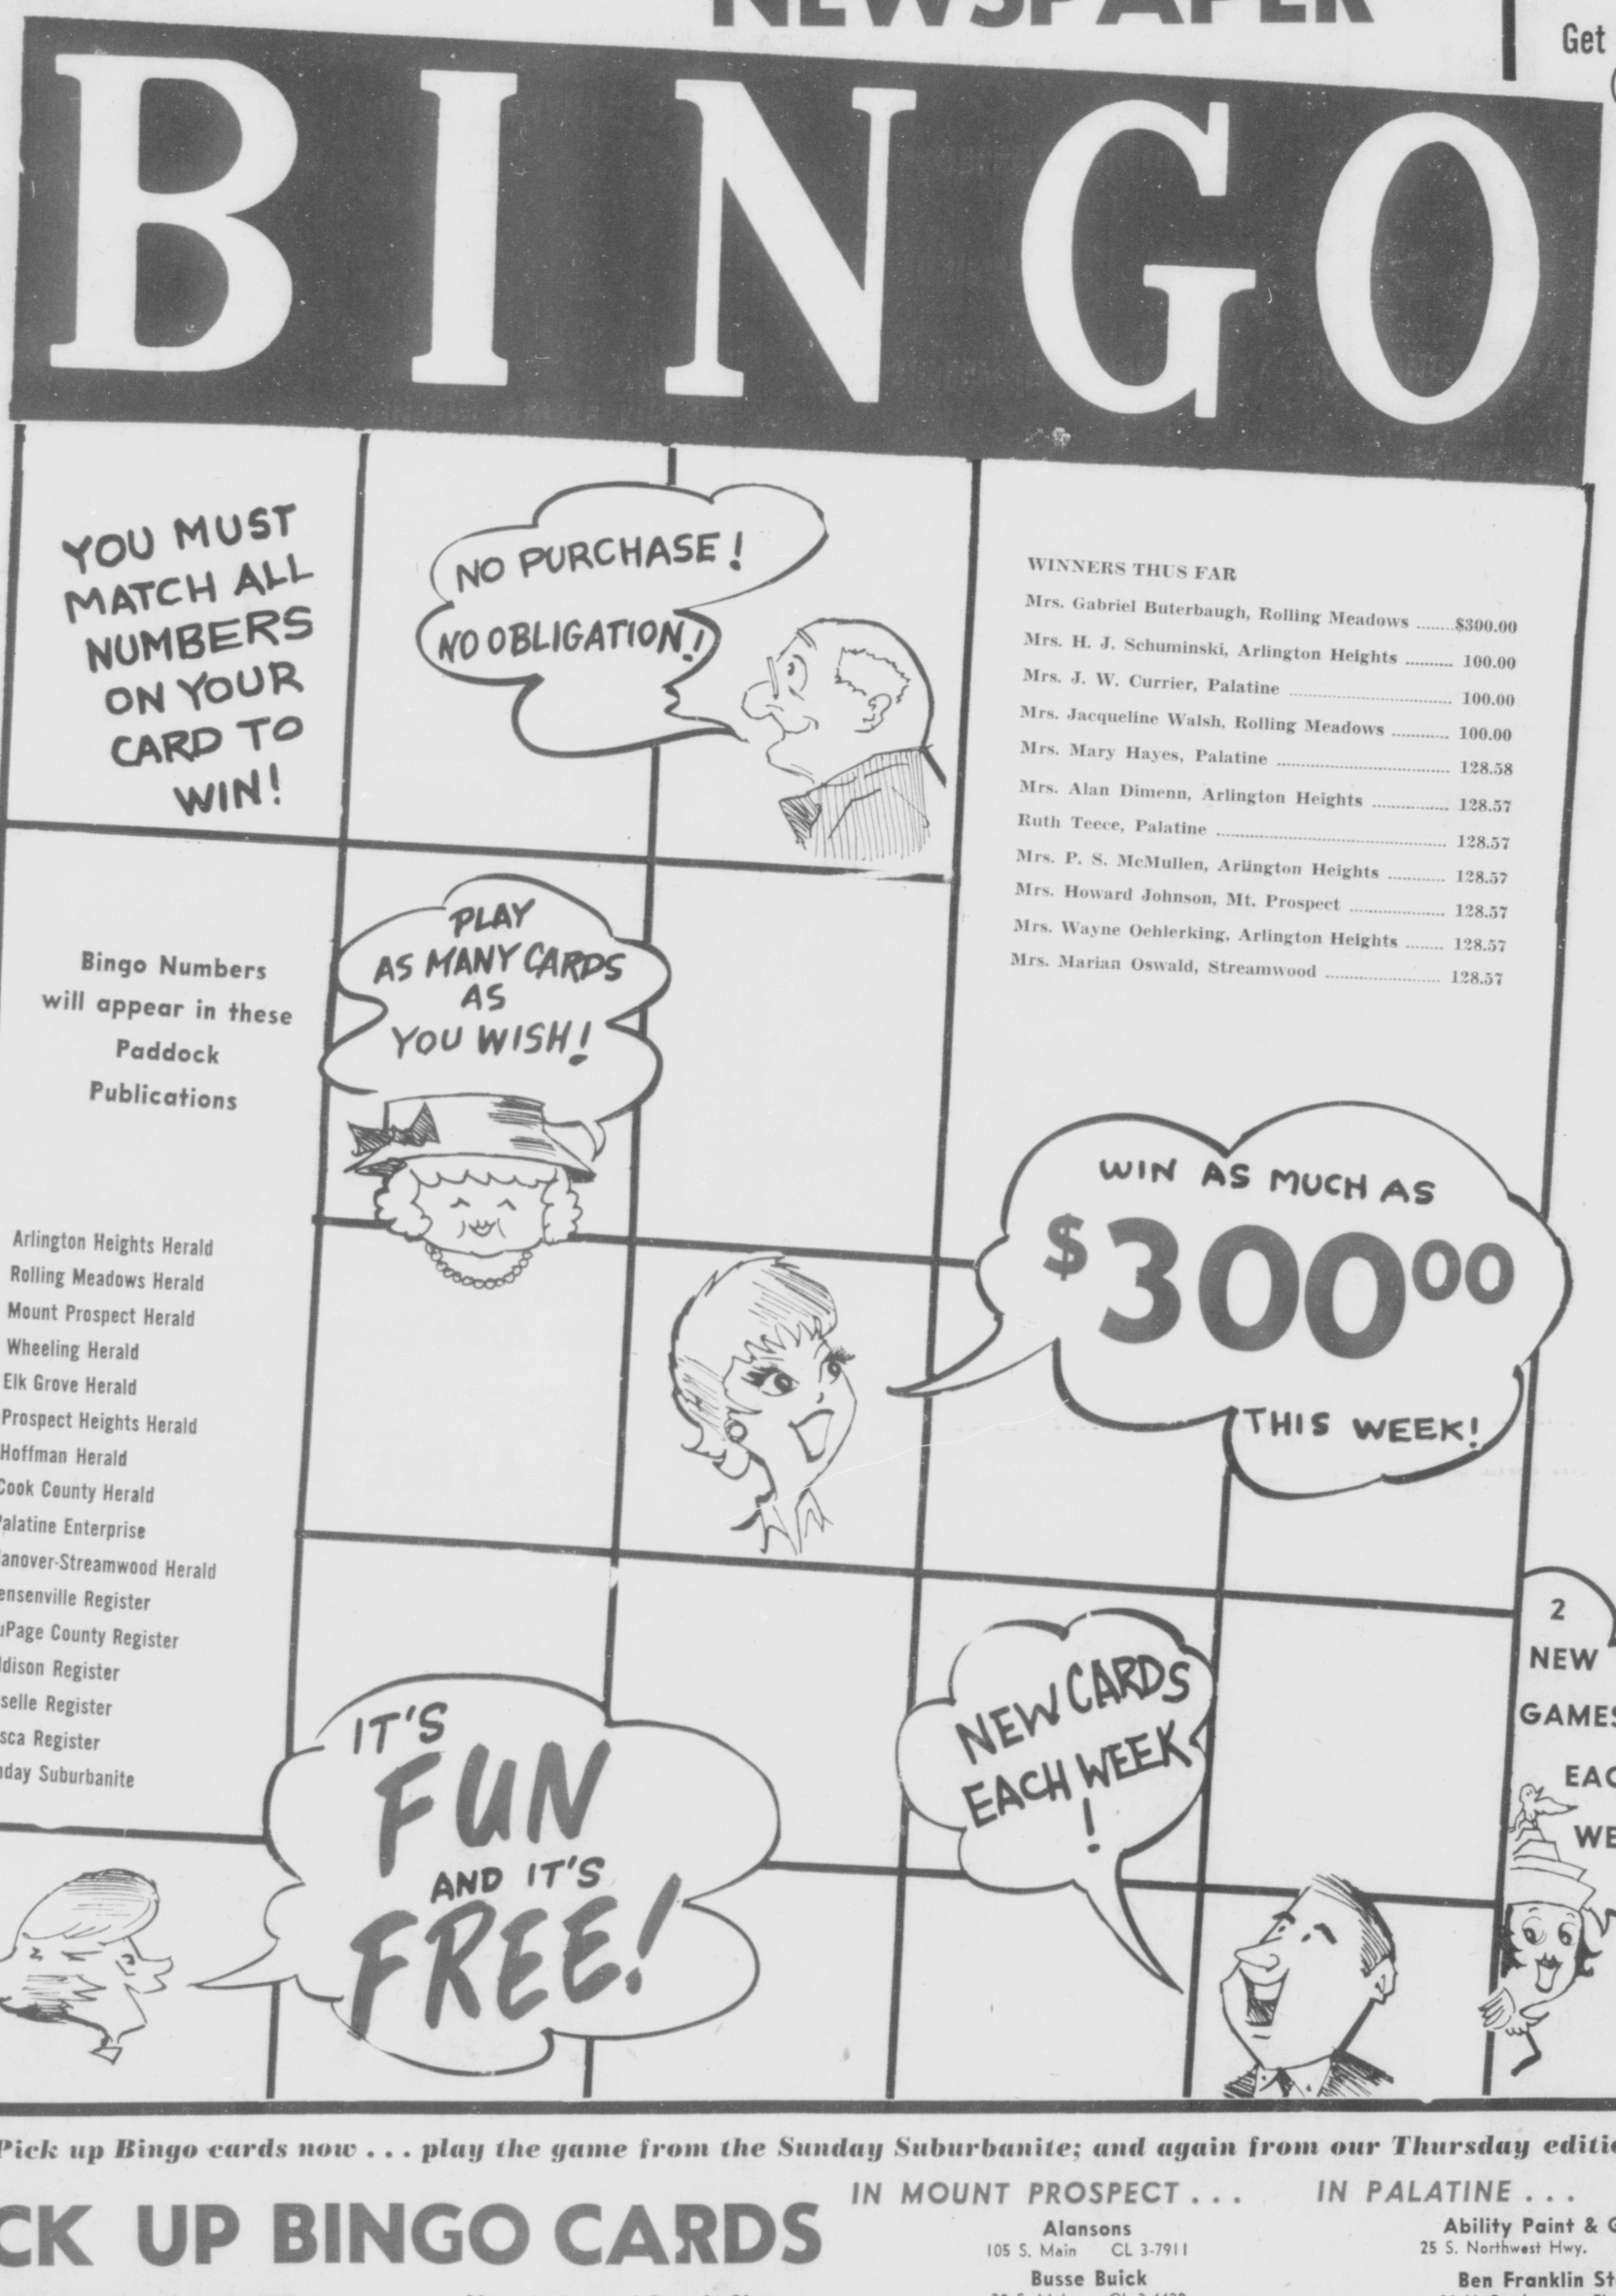
Get Your PURPLE Cards for Next Week's Game (Jan. 17-23) from sponsoring merchants



THESE BUGS CAN WIN YOU $300.00

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

Each week pick up your Free Bingo Cards from any of the sponsors (Adults only, please). Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish. The more cards you play the better your chances of winning!

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$300 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $300. If there is only one winner, he gets all $300. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $300 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you have a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at office of Paddock Publications as well as public libraries and at sponsors' stores. You can play as many cards as you wish — they're free. Get additional cards, one at a time, from the friendly sponsors listed below. (Adults only, please.)

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 Numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in no way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers drawn at random from our Bingo cage appear somewhere in each issue of the newspapers.

Employees of Paddock Publications and their families are not eligible to win any cash prizes.

Pick up Bingo cards now . . . play the game from the Sunday Suburbanite; and again from our Thursday editions . . .

Cards, Lions Battle Touted Quintets

Sports

BY BOB FRISK

KICKIN' IT AROUND

IF YOU ENJOY LIVELY ACTION under the boards at a basketball game, where the rebounding draws as much applause as the long jump shots, you'd probably be interested in the attraction scheduled for the St. Viator gymnasium Saturday evening.

DeLaSalle's high-fying Meteors come to town to battle the Lions of St. Viator, and this Chicagoland Prep League match will feature some teenage jumping jacks who soar through the air with the greatest of ease.

Just the thought of St. Viator's Chuck Grandt (6-4) leaping under the basket with Tommy Hunter (6-4) and Dave Gilmore (6-5) of DeLaSalle makes you wonder if it wouldn't be smart to pad the ceiling for two hours.

Hunter

Gilmore

In Grandt, Hunter, and Gilmore you have three young men who can get off the floor with the best. They're not equipped with exceptional beef to aid in the maneuvering under the basket, but they still get the job done. Hunter is the heaviest at 183 pounds. Gilmore and Grandt are both around the 175-pound mark.

When they're mixing it up under the boards Saturday, this trio won't be doing all the work. DeLaSalle also has Vyto Abramavicius (6-4, 195 pounds) and Sevira Brown (6-5, 210) to help out. Abramavicius joins Hunter and Gilmore in the front-line and Brown works at one guard.

Helping Grandt out under the basket will be 6-foot-6, 195-pound Paul Pomplun and 6-foot-3, 175-pound Paul Dumke, two juniors. Pomplun and Grandt have been running pretty close in the rebound department this season.

The Lions' big boys under the basket are in for a demanding weekend. They run into St. Patrick of Chicago Friday evening, and although the Shamrocks have been bigger in recent years they're still formidable in size. Max Kurland goes with a front line of 6-6, 6-2, 6-2 with Jerry Shea, one of the 6-2 forwards, packing 215 pounds. Shea was an all-league football player so isn't too easy to push around.

There should be some interesting tussles under the boards in both Chicagoland Prep League headliners.

THE GUESSING GAME STARTED this week with the announcement of assignments to the district and regional basketball tournaments. In a few weeks coaches will be asked to seed the teams so the Illinois High School Association can establish pairings.

There were some interesting developments in the assignments with Forest View and Conant sent over to Des Plaines (Maine West) while the other area entries journey to Mundelein.

Based on performances thus far, St. Pat's and Maine West should battle for the top seed at Maine West. Maine South is a likely choice for the third ranking although Forest View could throw everything up for grabs with a win over Maine West a week from Friday.

Other schools in the Maine West regional will be Notre Dame of Niles, Ridgewood, and Maine East.

Host Mundelein and Prospect are the best bets for the top seed at Mundelein with the next slots wide-open.

Should you rate an obviously improving Arlington team over Palatine although the Pirates tripped the Cards in the season opener? What about St. Viator which hasn't played any common opponents but which has been turning in some creditable performances? Those are two of the questions coaches will kick around when rating times rolls around.

Others at Mundelein will be Barrington, Wheeling, and the Wauconda District winner.

Elsewhere in the area, the top seeds could go to Proviso East at Berwyn (Morton West), DeLaSalle at Blue Island (Eisenhower), East Leyden at Northlake (West Leyden), New Trier at Skokie (Niles West), Glenbard East at Villa Park (Willowbrook), and Waukegan at Waukegan.

Pairings and playing schedules will be released by the IHSA on or about January 30. Until then you're free to explore all the possibilities.

LaGrange Is Arlington Foe

Cards to Travel Friday; Host Glenbard Saturday

by BOB FRISK

Now is the time for Arlington High School to come to the aid of the West Suburban Conference basketball race.

That "aid" would be a Cardinal victory over LaGrange's touted Lions Friday evening in the league headliner.

As the season approaches the halfway mark, LaGrange is riding on top of the pack with five straight victories.

The seven other clubs admit the rest of the season would be much more interesting if someone would knock over the highly regarded Lions. Arlington's improving Cards are intent on becoming that "someone."

WEEKEND doubleheaders are scheduled for each league entry as they bring down the curtain on the first half of play. Arlington catches Glenbard West at home Saturday night after taking to the road Friday.

You can be sure LaGrange is worried about Arlington's invasion Friday evening. Ted Wissen's Cards are red-hot, five victories in the last six games, and they have advanced into fourth place in the WSC with a 3-2 mark. Riverside and York are one step behind the leaders at 4-1.

Arlington has the size to give the Lions trouble under the basket. Bob Conner (6-5) and Charley Lloyd (6-7) are taller than any LaGrange starter. Bill Van Dyke is the Lions' starting center and he goes 6-4. Tom Cisar (6-5) has been alternating with Van Dyke but will probably be on the bench at the outset Friday.

LaGRANGE COACH Art Sandusky has more depth than any club in the West Suburban, and this has been an important item in the Lion success. "Our bench has really helped out," Art points out.

Dennis DePaola (6-1), the Lions' all-league end in football, is the squad's top scorer in basketball. He has 98 markers in five league outings with a high of 23 against Maine East. He also helps out in the rebounding department.

Joining DePaola and Van Dyke under the basket for the Lions will be Chris Huson (6-2), who got his first lengthy assignment against Glenbard and responded with six baskets.

JIMMY VOPAT (5-10) and either John Wintermute (6-0) or Craig Schafer (6-2) will be at the guards. Vopat has 61 points in league warfare with a high of 24 against Glenbard. Wintermute, the all-state quarterback in football, has 31 in five WSC games and Schafer, who had 18 in one contest against Arlington last winter, has 48, only six in the last two outings.

At LaGrange

Arlington		LaGrange
6- 5 Conner	F	DePaola	6- 1
6- 0 Lockwood	F	Huson	6- 2
6- 7 Lloyd	C	Van Dyke	6- 4

6- 7 Lloyd	C	Hawk'nson	6-4
6- 2 Allen	G	Martin	5-8
5-10 Frase	G	Faulkner	6-0

Arlington entertains Glenbard West Saturday and although the Bards carry a 3-7 record they did give LaGrange fits before succumbing last week. They had the Lions by nine late in the first half but wilted in the closing minutes.

LaGrange bumped the Glenbard five, 76-66, after tailing 36-33 at the intermission.

"We hit real well early," Bard coach Gary Williams said "but couldn't keep up the pace. However, I thought tht kids played a fine game."

Todd Faulkner, a 6-0 junior guard, is Glenbard's top scorer in league play with a 15.2 average. Don Borling, 6-1 junior forward, is next in line with 63 in five games.

Rounding out the Glenbard alignment Saturday will be Kirt Biggs (6-4), Jon Hawkinson (6-4), and Mike Martin (5-8).

Ticket Info

Arlington High School will be allowed 400 tickets for its game with LaGrange. Adults may purchase tickets in the attendance office Thursday and Friday. Ticket sales will close Friday at 3:30 p.m. Visiting spectators should be in their seats by 7 p.m. Friday at LaGrange

St. Patrick, Meteors Next

St. Viator Entertains DeLaSalle on Saturday

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator gets the prize this season for tackling the most demanding basketball doubleheader of any area entry.

When they were making up the Chicagoland Prep League schedule for 1965, there must have been an enemy of the Arlington Heights school in the crowd.

It's a formidable assignment to battle St. Patrick and DeLaSalle on successive weekends but catching them on successive nights presents a monumental task for any schoolboy quintet.

That's what faces Larry Nomellini's St. Viator Lions Friday and Saturday.

St. Viator journeys to St. Pat's Friday night and returns home to entertain DeLaSalle Saturday.

IT DIDN'T TAKE the Shamrocks of St. Pat's and Meteors of DeLaSalle long to go to the head of the class in the Chicagoland title scramble. After the first weekend of play they're the only unbeaten teams remaining.

The Shamrocks blistered St. George Friday, 63-40, and came back to rock St. Ignatius Saturday, 83-60. DeLaSalle coasted past St. Joseph, 64-46, and St. Mel, 68-40.

Four teams, including St. Viator, divided their first two Chicagoland assignments while Holy Cross and St. Mel suffered two straight setbacks. The eight schools will engage in conference doubleheaders once again this weekend.

ST. PAT'S AND St. Viator, Friday's adversaries at the Chicago site, got together in December in the semi-finals of the Chicagoland tourney and the Shamrocks posted a 65-53 victory.

Max Kurland, who guides the St. Pat's cage fortunes and who has experienced amazing success in recent years, has seen his club post 10 victories in 12 games with the only losses to East Leyden and DeLaSalle.

Kurland is pleased with the progress of his outfit, pointing to "two pretty good efforts last weekend." The Shamrocks featured balancing scoring in their two league wins with only six points separating the top four scorers.

DAN PIERCE, a fine 6-foot-2 forward who gave St. Viator fits in that first meeting, rebounded from an eight-point effort against St. George with 21 against St. Ignatius. Joe Burke, a 6-foot-6 junior center who is making great progress, and 6-foot-1 guard Howie Rosenmeyer each have 28. Guard Bill McManaman (6-0) has 23.

Jerry Shea, a 6-foot-2, 215-pounder who is a handy guy under the boards, only hit 11 in the two league games, but he can be expected to help out more in the offensive columns.

When you're battling DeLaSalle's Meteors, you hope for a hot shooting night. Jerry Tokars' crew is murder under both baskets with boys like Tommy Hunter (6-4), Vyto Abramavicius (6-4), and Dave Gilmore (6-5). Then they have a 6-5 guard (Sevira Brown) to help out.

THE METEORS have won 10 straight after a so-so start, and they bumped St. Pat's 55-46 for the holiday tourney title. When you talk to buffs about DeLaSalle, they immediately mention Gilmore and Hunter, two front-line aces, but this isn't a two-man team.

Abramavicius is the squad's leading league scorer after two games with 35 points. Hunter has 33, Brown 23, Gilmore 18, and 5-foot-8 guard Johnny Ryan seven.

After belting St. Mel 75-60 with an impressive performance last Friday St. Viator went flat and dropped a 49-45 decision to St. George Saturday.

"We've got to forget about that one at St. George," head coach Nomellini admits, "and think about these two this weekend. We just made too many mistakes Saturday. We had an early lead but couldn't hold on. They got the momentum going for them and we could never get rolling."

CHARLEY GRANDT, the Lions' 6-foot-4 center, rimmed 45 points in his two Chicagoland games to rank second in scoring behind St. Joseph's junior center Tom Miller. Miller has 55.

Paul Dumke, St. Viator's 6-foot-3 junior forward, came to life on offense last weekend and collected 34 points. He's fifth in the point parade after the first conference returns.

Pomey Praised By Head Coach

George Pomey, former Prospect High All-Stater, was praised by Michigan coach Dave Strack Saturday for his performance in the Wolverines' 89-83 victory over the University of Illinois.

Pomey didn't start but he was soon inserted at one guard, replacing John Thompson.

"We've looked at Pomey before at guard, but not this much," Strack noted. "He gave us a good game, a fine job."

Pomey, a 6-foot-4 senior, scored seven points and collected six rebounds. With George in the lineup Michigan averages just a shade under 6-6.

Wildcats Entertain Powerful Warriors

by TOM TULLY

You've had this picture painted for you before. You know, the one where you are to visualize a big, tough bully with dirt under his fingernails. He has a snarl on his face. His sleeves rolled up to expose a self-inflicted ballpoint tattoo and a magazine with a picture of Charles Atlas on the cover hangs out of his pcket.

The bully has a small boy backed up against a fence. The young lad has horned rim glasses, knickers, a runny nose and two pounds of greasy kid stuff matting down his hair, which is incidentally, invariably parted in the middle. Just as the big kid is about to whip the tar out of him, the little fella rips off his glasses and proceeds to soundly trounce the ruffian.

There is no need to go any farther with the story except to say that the Wheeling basketball team is asking for seconds on Wheaties this week.

MIKE OWENS' Wildcats are preparing for the roughest test of what is developing into a rough season. Now 1-9 after a double loss weekend, the Cats are preparing to take on the toughest kid on the block. That would be Maine West and Gaston Freeman's quintet pays a visit to the Wheeling court Friday evening.

The Warriors have been rolling along just doing what comes naturally. The Warriors, 10-2 for the season, have a 4-0 record in the Mid-Suburban. This goes on top of a 10-0 record last year and a 12-2 record in the old Interim League the year before. The Warriors are rather strong.

They stay that way with formidable types like Jim Smith and Stoney Jackson. Smith, a regular for two years and an all-league performer last season, is currently fourth in league scoring. Another thing that makes him tough is the fact that he stands 6-6. Jackson, a forward type at 6-2, is tied for second in the league with 69 points. These Warrior mainstays will be joined by the likes of Chuck Peterson, Bill Verber and Don Kinder. Ted Walters may start instead of Peterson.

Wheeling will counter with the Mid-Suburban's other number two scorer, Mark Newman. Newman, still recovering from a gimpy knee, scored 12 points as a reserve last Friday against Deerfield.

Owens thought his club came up with its best effort of the season before losing to Deerfield in the fourth quarter, then slipped back a notch or two the next night against Conant.

St. Viator Soph Tankers Triumph

St. Viator's sophomores swimmers toppled Arlington last week, 65-30, picking up nine firsts in the onesided decision.

The Lion tankers, coached by Tom Hansen, topped both relays and posted victories in seven individual events. They yielded firsts in only the 50 free and 50 backstroke.

Dick Robinson gave Arlington one first with a :26-1 clocking in the 50 freestyle. Cary Oliver, a freshmen, ruled the 50 backstroke in :33.3.

Individual firsts for St. Viator were picked up by Bob Brown in the 150 free (1:44.2), Tom O'Gara in the 100 individual medley (1:07.8), Bob McNamara in diving (23.65), John Lyons in the 50 fly (:31.5), O'Gara in the 100 free (:59.5), Bill Richardson in the 300 free (3.49.0), and Mike Madden in the 50 breaststroke (:35.1).

O'Gara was the individual standout. He set pool and school records in the 100 individual medley and came back with a pool record in the 100 free. Richardson had a school mark for the 300 free.

St. Viator's victorious relay teams were made up of Bob Kumoski, Mike Madden, John Lyons, and Tom Lehrke (200 medley) and Fred Schmidt, Gary Fern, Bob Brown, and Rick Gottas (200 free).

Double Record Set

When Indiana drubbed Ohio State by 122 to 92 in a 1959 Big Ten basketball game, the Hoosiers total set a conference record and so did the combined total of both clubs.

Low-Scoring Game?

Prospect Entertains Niles North Friday

by MICHAEL HESS

Those who long for the good old days of low scoring, slow motion basketball should be around tomorrow night when Prospect hosts Niles North.

The Niles quintet is noted for playing a hold-on, wait-'em-out, keep-away type of game and combined with the Knights' semi-stall ball control this contest could end up as a real watch-and-wait affair.

Of course both clubs can move when they want to but, at Vivings' coach Babe Baptist put it, "We may play our running game and we may not. If we run, the final scores could be in the fifties, if we don't the scores will probably be in the thirties."

WARREN COLLIER, the Knights' coach agreed with that estimate: "I expect a very low scoring game, maybe somewhere in the thirties, and we'll probably play their slow control game once we get ahead." That outlook should satisfy even those looking for a score suitable to the 1920's.

Perhaps it doesn't matter what kind of game Prospect plays. After all, the Knights own a 9-2 mark in action so far and they've won their last four in a row. Niles is just 1-7 overall and the Vikings have lost three straight. Could the Vikings' visit be considered a breather for

by DON SASS

"We just might win another ball game if we could just score in the second half," said Wheeling coach, Mike Owens. Owens comment came after watching a poor third quarter for Wheeling pave the way for the Conant Cougars to beat the Wildcats 59-48 in a revenge battle. Last time Conant bowed to Wheeling, 51-48.

For Conant the victory was their third in thirteen outings, but this improved ball club may make things pretty rough for their future opponents.

A tight first half saw the game tied on nine different occasions. Three points was the widest margin between the teams in the first sixteen minutes. Jim Whittington a 6-1 forward tallied eight points in the first half to keep the Cats in the game, but he got into foul trouble early in the third quarter and was forced to leave the game. Walt Riley provided the Cougars with a two point margin (26-24) at half with a ten foot jump shot in the closing seconds. The Cougars widened the gap and by the end of the third quarter the Cats were 12 points down.

CONANT'S outside shooting attack was impressive. The Cougar shooting was led by John Glassoff, who showed the home crowd a real touch from outside. John netted 22 points on ten baskets and two free throws. The addition of 6-6 center Larry Powell helped the Cougars tremendously as the lanky junior was tough under the boards and added 17 points.

Mark Newman led the Wheeling attack in scoring with six baskets and two free throws for 14 points. Utility man John Ferguson might have worked himself into the starting line-up as he played a good all around game and contributed nine points. Whittington scored all eight of his points in the first half.

In the jayvee contest, Wheeling came from behind to beat Conant 44-39. The Wildcats trailed throughout most of the game and by the end of the third quarter they were still down by six 32-26. However, with just a little more than two minutes left in the game the Cats had trimmed the lead to only a point 39-38. With less than a minute left to play Wheeling took command 39-38 and coasted home for the last 55 seconds to win 44-39.

John Ellithrope of Conant led all scorers with seven baskets and one free throw for 15 points. Teammate Ed Johnson had 14 points. Wheeling scoring honors were shared by three players; Ken Traversone, Bill Brown and Horst Schneeweis each had eleven points.

He praised the work of Newman and Bob Domres. Both will be in the lineup against Maine. They will be joined by three members of a group including Scott Bischoff, Jim Whittington, Al Gibbon and John Ferguson. Ferguson is a transfer from Thornton who became eligible in December and was recently promoted to the varsity.

Falcon Mat Teams Win

In lower level wrestling action last week the Forest View sophomores and freshmen each defeated Elmwood Park.

The sophs won their meet 39 to 10 and the freshmen took a 39-11 decision.

Pacing the sophs, who took their fourth decision in six dual meets, were Phil Reder (heavyweight), Shutt (180), Dave Kaspari (154), Frankel (145), Bergan (138), Haddick (133), Rohner (127), Taylor (120), Bob Urban (112) and Hansen (103) all of whom scored victories.

Prospect Cagers

Prospect?

"NO!," stated Collier, "they are tough. Their players are agressive; they're very much improved. They don't take many shots but when they do they're lay-ups. Anytime you play a Babe Baptist - coached team, they're bound to be tough."

THAT TEAM which Collier calls "tough" comes to Prospect tomorrow with some height, some scoring and one newcomer.

The height on the Vikings is 6-2 center John Butor. Butor, a junior, is averaging seven rebounds and ten points a game. Doing much of the scoring is forward Jim McKay a 5-11 junior, carries a 14 point per game average. Larry Larson, a 6-3 forward, another junior, is the Vikings' newcomer who last week played in his first varsity contest. Larry, another junior, is counted on to assist Butor in snaring the rebounds.

"Rebounding is the weakest part of our game," said Baptist. "We'll have to improve there to improve our record."

WHAT DOES the Vikings' coach think of Prospect? "They are good all around," answered Baptist. "They have good balance; they're good on defense."

The same two areas concerned Collier: "We have to correct some aspects of our rebounding setup," said the Knights' director, "and our defense needs more overall consistency."

Both coaches are worried about rebounds and defense, but if the two opponents don't shoot any more than can be expected, there won't be that much rebounding or defending to do.

Maybe the Knights and Vikings should simply practice patience. They may need it for tomorrow's game of watching and waiting.

St. Joseph Falls To Lion Tankers At Both Levels

St. Joseph of Westchester proved to be no match for St. Viator's varsity and frosh-soph swimming teams last Thursday.

Charles Mondi's varsity Lions posted an easy 71-24 victory, and Tom Hansen's frosh-sophs won, 64-31.

St. Viator collected eight firsts on a varsity level and set four school records.

JIM SPEARS set a school mark in the 200 individual medley with a 2:29.5 clocking and in the 100 breaststroke at 1:09.9. Rick Withrow splashed to a new mark of :57.5 in the 100 freestyle.

The Lions also set a school mark in the 200 freestyle relay with the quartet of Hugh Zito, Kevin Shea, Christianson, and Ren Tague posting a 1:39.9.

Tague topped the 50 yard freestylers with a :24.6 clocking, and Bob Nicholos won the diving event with a 49.7 score. Jim Collins covered the 400 yard freestyle in 4:58.1 for another first.

TOM O'GARA, Rick Kalinowski, Joe Herrity, and Shea combined for a 1:59.5 in topping the 200 medley relay.

On a frosh-soph level St. Viator picked up six firsts en route to the 33-point victory.

Bob Brown won the 150 freestyle in 1:42.5, and George Steiner ruled the 50 free at :28.1. John McNamra headed the diving event.

John Lyons covered the 50 fly in 31 seconds for another first, and Tom Lehrke had a :59.9 in the 100 freestyle.

St. Viator won both sophomore relays. Pat Burns, Mike Madden, Lyons, and Lehrke worked together on the 200 medley (2:06.8) and Steiner, Rick Gottas, Dennis Wittry, and Brown operated on the 200 free (1:51.1).

Warrior Wrestlers Beat Cats

Deerfield defeated Wheeling at all three underclass levels in Mid-Suburban wrestling duals last Friday evening.

The host Cats won the jayvee match 44-7 as Wheeling's only victory came on a pin by heavyweight Steve Bacon.

The Warrior sophs earned a 34-13 decision. Wheeling winners included Chuck Nute, Phil Reed and Coe Meyer. Mike Henry battled to a draw. Reed's victory came on a pin.

The Deerfield frosh handed the Cats their first loss in six outings by a 29-16 score. Ron Goffman, Steve Strom, Mike Alsup and Ron Frediani won on decisions for the Cats and Dan Stavros wrestled to a tie.

Lion Sophs Post Two League Wins

St. Viator's sophomore basketball team successfully opened play in the Chicagoland Prep League last weekend with consecutive victories over St. Mel of Chicago and St. George of Evanston.

The young Lions seemed to come of age in these two games after an exhibition campaign that can be described as no more than fair.

Coach Ed Wasielewski's boys came on strong in the fourth period Friday night to overpower the scrappy visitors from St. Mel 47-40. The following night the Lions journeyed to Evanston and displayed their finest offensive attack of the season in a resounding 61-39 victory over St. George.

FORWARD DAN Collins and guard Frank Hogan led the team offensively in both encounters. Collins, a big strong boy who also put in two good nights' work under the boards, collected 14 points against St. Mel and added 22 counters in the St. George game to raise his weekend total to 36.

Hogan, a shifty little playmaker who has led the Lions' offense all season, netted 29 points for the two nights with 15 against S. Mel and 14 Saurday night at St. George.

The locals hope to keep their winning streak alive this weekend in another conference double header. They travel to St. Patrick's tomorrow night and then De LaSalle Saturday night at home.

Heavyweights Star

Lion Matmen Keeping Busy

St. Viator's wrestlers haven't been idle in recent weeks. Joe Gliwa's matmen have engaged in two dual meets and two tournaments and although victories have been scarce there have been some bright spots.

The heavyweight division is giving Gliwa reason to smile after the performances of sophomore Denny Forston and senior Mike Graczyk.

Forston picked off a third place in the Glenbrook Holiday Tournament and won two straight meets against St. Mel via pins. He applied the clinchers in 1:40 and 1:22.

Graczyk came through with a second place last week in the Maine East Quadrangular.

ST. VIATOR had two boys place fourth or better at Glenbrook. In addition to Forston, senior Greg Edwards was fourth at 145 pounds.

St. Mel tripped the Lions in the first of two duals, 27-16. Individual winners for St. Viator were Edwards (145), Pat Phee (180), Bill Horrell (95), and Forston. Bob Cooper emerged with a 2-2 deadlock at 127.

St. Mel turned on the power in the next dual and tripped the locals, 45-10. Forston again registered a fall and Horrell triumphed 8-0 at 95 pounds for eight points. Cooper again came through with a 2-2 deadlock against the same opponent at 127.

ON A sophomore level in the latter meet St. Viator topped St. Mel by one-point. Local winners were Cunningham (95), Chris Mitchell (103), Bob Markay (133), John Krebsbach (138), Dave Gorman (145), and Doug Domin (heavyweight). St. Viator also scored with two forfeits.

In the Maine East Quad the St. Viator varsity grapplers showed two thirds and the second by Graczyk. Cooper was third at 120 and Horrell took a third at 95.

In coming action the Lions were scheduled to travel to St. Procopius yesterday (Wednesday) with a home meet Friday against St. Francis of Wheaton at 4:30 p.m.

Knights Edge FV Wrestlers

The wrestlers of Prospect High School registered their fifth straight dual meet win by beating Forest View's matmen 24-21 last Friday.

Leading the way for the triumphant Knights were Mark Pasdiora (heavyweight), George Freeland (138) and Bill Becker (127) Co-captains Freeland and Becker won their meets to help pull Prospcet from behind and Pasdiora scored his win to cinch the Prospect victory.

As the meet opened, the Knights' Mike Mohr (95) pinned Forest View's Tom Bohac. Then Omar Aviles evened things up at 5-5 for the Falcons by pinning Prospect's Bob MacMillan. Aviles' win was his eighth in nine matches this year.

DAVE KNUDSEN (112) and Randy Haydel (120) also registered wins for Forest View by decisioning Bill Kalvog and Sid White the Falcons were up by six at 11 to 5.

Then Becker started the comeback by beating Jim Kubic and the Knights' John Haight (133) evened the score with a 6-0 decision over FV's Bob Andrews. By pinning Forest View's Paluso, Freeland put Prospect ahead to stay, 16-11.

Pete Phillips (145) of Forest View beat the Knights' Rick Bertoglio 6-2 to close the gap to 16-14. That two point margin didn't change after the following match as Doug White of Prospect and the Falcons' Ted Lambert fought to a scoreless draw at 154. At 165 Prospect's Bob Davis took a 6-1 decision from FV wrestler Mike Severans and it seemed as if the Knights were definite winners.

BUT THEN Royce Leonardson picked up a forfeit for Forest View at 180 and the score was suddenly tied again at 21-21. The victor in the final bout would determine the winner of the meet.

When he entered that last match Prospect's Pasdiora had not lost in any meet this year. He kept his string alive, increasing it to eight straight, and won the match for Prospect with a 4-0 shutout of the Falcons' heavyweight entry Al Guildermeister.

With the victory the Knights, coached by Dick Mudge, kept alive their dual meet streak and also remained in a first place conference tie with Deerfield at 3-0. Forest View, under the direction of Hal Henson, has still to win a dual meet this season and has only a single tie to go with the four losses on its record.

Cat Frosh Beat Conant

The Wheeling frosh basketball teams avenged earlier setbacks last Friday when they defeated visiting Conant on both levels.

Jay Newman tossed in nine points to pace the Wildcat 'A's' to a 36-28 win. Steve Bradshaw had nine for the Cougars.

The Cat 'B's' outscored the Cougars 9-2 in the third quarter and beat them 23-16. John Fedyski led the winners with nine points, while Russ Law paced Conant with seven.

Falcons Win On Frosh Mat

The freshmen wrestlers of Forest View beat Prospect 28-21 in a meet held last Friday night.

Individual winners for the Falcons frosh were Gary McMorrow (95), Scott Pregent (103), Paul Harnish (120), Mike Corteen (127), Pat Murphy (133) and Jerry Stocking (145).

Those who captured their bouts for Prospect were Bob Link (138), Don Burkhardt (154), Mike Sanders (165), Jeff Schneider (180), and Mark Kitzing (heavyweight).

Pro 3rd in Big Ten

Walt Bellamy, now playing for the Baltimore Bullets professional basketball quintet, pulled down 247 rebounds when playing for Indiana in 1961. That mark is still third highest in Big Ten history.

For Mid-Suburban Test

Spartans to Visit Falcons' Gym Friday

by MICHAEL HESS

One more to equal '64. That's all that Forest View needs and it may come tomorrow night against Glenbrook North.

When the Falcons welcome Glenbrook to their court tomorrow evening they'll be seeking Mid-Suburban League win number four. If they get it they will equal their entire conference victory total of one year ago.

What does coach Ken Arneson think his club's chances are of gaining that fourth triumph? He was cautious: "I think we can beat Glenbrook North. . . .but then I think that they could beat us. We're not that much better. It will probably be their rebounding against our defense.

WE'VE showed a lot of improvement this year and we've been especially good defensively. They're not real strong on defense but they do have good rebounders. Their center Erler and the forwards Brubaker and Holder get a lot of rebounds and they can score. We'll have to stop them to win."

The Glenbrook players Arneson marked as the ones to stop are a trio who come with credentials impressive enough to make any coach give them special attention.

Bryan Erler is a 6-4 senior center who averages over ten points per game as does 6-2 forward Paul Brubaker, a junior. Senior Jim Holder owns an 11.7 scoring average. All three manage to bring down at least 30 rebounds between them each game.

EVEN THOUGH they are good, the Spartans' coach Will Rademacher is something less than impressed with his towering threesome. "They should do better than they have with their height," said Rademacher. "They're not doing the job I thought they would at the beginning of the season. They'll have to do better if we're to improve.

Trying to help the front wall improve the GN 4-5 overall record will be back court men Frank Krohe and Doug Schueman. Schuemann is a 6-2 senior and Krohe, only a sophomore, is six inches shorter than any others starter at 5-8.

How does headman Rademacher view the GN-FV struggle? "It should be a real close game, at least I hope we can give them a close game. We're shooting well but not scoring much. But they're not scoring much either. It could be our defense against their defense. Rebounding should be about even since there will be little difference in height."

THE SPARTANS' remark about rebounding could be correct since the Falcons have a rather impressive front line of thie own.

Under the bucket for Forest View is junior Jim Baumgardt, 6-4, while at forwards are 6-1 Jeff Grismer and 6-5 Steve Jacobsen. That FV trio averages over 30 points a game and in last Friday's action pulled down a combined total of 36 rebounds.

Going into the Glenbrook game the three men up front have paced the Falcons to a 3-1 M-SL record. In all of last year's games the FV quintet gathered only four league triumphs so one more will equal the '64 total.

However, Forest View should beware. The Spartans are now 2-2, just behind their hosts in the league standings, and a win tomorrow would give the Glenbrook invaders the same number of mid-suburban wins that they had all last year and would also eliminate any title hopes the Falcons have.

Wildcats Gymnasts Sweep Tumbling, Whip Cougars

Wheeling toppled Conant at both the varsity and frosh-soph levels in non-conference gymnastics meets at Conant Friday.

The Wildcat varsity used a sweep in tumbling to break up a tight meet and gain a 71½-59½ victory. The Cat sophs utilized a sweep on the horizontal bar and a near sweep on the side horse as the springboards to a 77½-52½ win.

The Wheeling varsity gained a narrow 12-10 lead on the trampoline. Rod Tison of Conant won the event with a score of 99, but the Cats took the next three places.

THE COUGARS shaved the deficit to 22½-21½ on the side horse. Greg Klopf won it for the hosts with a 64. Mike Allen of Wheeling was a close second with 61 and Butch Lochinger of Conant and Steve Groot of Wheeling tied for third with 59.

Conant took a three point lead with a 13-9 edge on the horizontal bar. Gary Funke won with a 107 and Lochinger finished second with an 82. Third went to Jim Bowker of the Cats.

Wheeling crept within one with a 12-10 edge on the parallel bars. Funke gave Conant its fourth straight first with a judging of 125, but Greg Shornden and Mike Bangs took second and third for Wheeling.

The Wildcats took a one point lead on the rings, where Bowker and Funke staged the best individual battle of the day. Bowker got the judges nod, 147-146. George Riess secured third for the visitors.

THAT LEFT the decisive tumbling mats. Jerry Fontecchio was an easy winner with 114 and Shornden and Jim Dyson tied for second giving Wheeling a sweep and the meet.

The Wheeling sophs won every event but the parallel bars on the way to their seventh straight win. Bob Johnson was a double winner, claiming firsts on the trampoline and the mats. John Armfield was Conants only individual winner.

Warrior Rally Topples Cats 48-41 in MSC

by DON SASS

If the "Law of Averages" holds true in basketball, Wheeling's future opponents better be on their guard. Friday night Wheeling dropped its eighth game in nine outings at the hands of the Deerfield Warriors.

Wheeling stuck with their opponents for three quarters, but lost 48-41. The game was knotted at 33-33 with eight minutes to play. Dick McDermott and John Ferguson exchanged baskets in the first minute of the final quarter to make it 35-35. With 6:06 remaining in the game Tom Fuzzy put the Warriors ahead to stay on a charity point.

In the next three minutes, Deerfield racked up eight more points, while Wheeling was unable to score. Finally, with 2:47 left on the clock, Scott Bischoff hit a ten foot jumper to close the gap to 44-37. Wheeling made a desperate effort to come back, but McDermott would concede nothing as he hit four more points in the final two minutes of play.

MARK NEWMAN, ailing from a knee injury, was not in the starting line-up. However, with only a little less than three minutes gone in the game, coach Mike Owens had to call on the Mid-Suburban League's leading scorer. Newman showed the home crowd some real ball-handling talent. He maneuvered through Deerfield's full court press almost single-handedly with his slick dribbling and accurate passes. Mark also led the Wildcats in scoring again with six baskets.

Wheeling shot well. They hit 15 of 36 shots from the floor for a respectable 42 per cent average. However, poor ball handling and numerous floor mistakes allowed the Cats to get only three shots off in the entire fourth quarter, resulting in their defeat.

Next to Newman's twelve points, Al Gibbon contributed eight points. McDermott, leading point maker for the Warriors, averaging 14 points per game, was high again for the winners as he hit seven baskets and one of two free throws for 15 points. Fuzzy was right behind with twelve.

WHEELING jumped off to a 6-5 lead and never surrendered it until the closing minutes of the third quarter when Deerfield tied the score. The biggest Wheeling lead was eight points. It happened with 5:00 to go in the third quarter (29-21), but then things started going bad. With 2:53 left in the same quarter Deerfield had scored ten straight points and the Wildcats found themselves on the short end of a 31-29 count. After Newman tied the score 31-31, Ferguson put the Cats back out in front, but Fuzzy knotted it again as time ran out in the third quarter.

In the jayvee contest, Deerfield's man to man full court press was just too much for Wheeling and the Cats fell to the Warriors 51-33. Deerfield pressed throughout the game and caused Wheeling to make numerous floor mistakes. Only the poor shooting on the part of Deerfield enabled Wheeling to stay in the game for the first half. However, by the end of the third quarter Deerfield was out of reach, commanding a 39-25 lead.

Bill Brown was the leading scorer in the game.

The Wildcat center hit five baskets and two of three throws for twelve points. Mandler and Mroz shared the scoring honors for Deerfield with eleven points each. McClelland added ten for the winners.

Knights Turn Back Forest View, 49-45, In Conference Clash

by MICHAEL HESS

If at first you don't succeed .... The rest of that old saying is just what Forest View did against Prospect last Friday but those old sayings just aren't working any more.

The Falcons tried, and tried, and tried but each time they tried they failed and finally the Knights pulled out a 49-45 triumph as three FV comebacks fell just short.

The defeat was this season's first in Mid-Suburban League action for the Falcons and dropped them into a second place tie with winning Prospect. Both quintets were left with 3-1 conference records, trailing only perennial M-SL leader Maine West.

HOWEVER, even the lure of Maine's champions could hardly have drawn a larger or more enthusiastic audience than the one which crammed into Forest View's gym last Friday. The standing room-only crowd of around 3,000 witnessed a tight, evenly matched contest which gave fans for either side plenty to cheer about.

Leading the Falcons was 6-1 junior forward Jeff Grismer. Grismer was the main reason why Forest View stayed close to the leaders as he scored 12 points, high for his team, and also grabbed 12 rebounds. "That was Grismer's best game of the year," said FV coach Ken Arneson.

Pacing Prospect was guard Jim LaRocco. Though he entered midway in the second quarter, the 6-0 senior still captured games scoring honors gy tossing in 13 points. And, most of Jim's total came when his team was closest to giving up its lead.

THE PROSPECT forces, coached by Warren Collier, gained their first lead soon after the battle opened. Five minutes into the game guard Steve Kerr sank a field goal to put the Knights in front 4-3. Two minutes later, with the margin increased to 5-3, Prospect's Rick Mader stepped to the charity line. He made his shot and the Knights immediately went into a full court press.

On the Falcons' throw-in Steve Johnson intercepted for Prospect and put in a field goal and on the next throw-in Mader intercepted and put in another field goal. Within six seconds Prospect had increased its margin to 10-3 and Forest View had to make its initial try at coming from behind.

The Falcons took ten minutes to catch up but shortly before the halftime intermission they were back by only one at 21-20. Then LaRocco popped in the first of his back breaking two-pointers and Prospect pulled away once more. One minute into the second half the Knights had established another lead, 28-22.

THE FALCONS took only two minutes for their second up hill try and when Grismer sank a jumper from 12 feet with 5:47 left in the third quarter he had tied the score at 30 all. But again LaRocco was there with the points and his bucket put Prospect back on top by two.

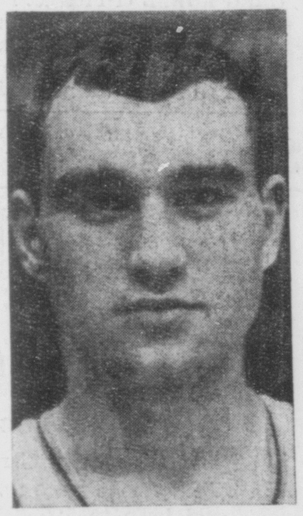
With LaRocco hitting for seven of the next 11 tallies the Knights once again stepped out in front and 3:33 before the end of the game the score was Prospect 43-Forest View 37. However, the Falcons weren't finished yet.

FV's Pat Dunnigan put in a lay-up and was fouled. He hit on the free throw and his team was down by only three. The Knights' Jim MacKay sank a foul shot to bring the score to 44-40 with just 1:57 remaining.

FORTY SECONDS later, after Prospect had missed on four straight charity tosses, Forest View owned the ball in its front court. Grismer received a pass, dribbled twice toward the center, went up, shot, sank it and was fouled. When he made good on the three point play the score was 44-43 and only one minute showed on the clock.

Not one of the howling crowd knew it then, but the last Forest View comeback was finished.

The final seconds of the contest were spent with Prospect stalling and the Falcons fouling. No more field goals were scored but the Knights gained five points and Forest View two, all on fouls, to establish the closing 49-45 totals. The game was over.



JIM LaROCCO

STATISTICS showed that FV had outrebounded Prospect 45 to 37 and had gotten 15 more shots at the basket. "It was the best ball we've played all season," said coach Arneson. "We were getting the good shots but we just weren't hitting. Poor shooting was what pulled us down, especially in the early part of the game."

Commented winning coach Collier, "Anytime we come away from Forest View with a win, I have to be satisfied." All the Prospect fans were more than satisfied.

Post 39-28 Victory

Knight Jayvees Top Forest View

Forest View's JV basketball squad was ice cold last Friday; Prospect's JV team was just a bit warmer. But that slight difference in shooting temperatures gave the Knights a 39-28 victory.

As the game opened coach Bob Rees' FV club grabbed a small lead and was on top 11 to 9 after one period. It was at that point that a deep freeze settled over the Falcons and they could connect on only three of 28 attempts the rest of the way.

Helped by their opponent's dismal marksmanship, the Knights tied the score at 12-12 two minutes into the second quarter. A bucket by Tony Kulasa sixty seconds later put Prospect ahead to stay and the game was close just once more.

MIDWAY IN the final period Forest View had crept to within a single point of the leaders at 28-27. However, the Falcons registered only one more point in the game while the Knights, paced by Dan Agard, built their final margin. Agard scored seven points in the closing four minutes of action and Prospect had its victory.

Agard's burst for the winners made him their high point man with nine while Kulasa, Ray Kleinhuzen and Tom Beard each had eight. A nine point effort of Jim Buckholz topped the FV scorers.

The triumph gave Prospect, coached by Don Arseneau, a 7-1 overall record, a seven game winning streak and an undefeated league mark of 4-0. The defeat slipped the Falcons to 5-3 for the season and left them 2-2 in conference action.

Both Jayvee teams have their next contests tomorrow evening at 7:00 p.m. when Prospect hosts Niles North and Forest View welcomes Glenbrook North.

Things were looking up for Forest View's gymnastics teams last week as the Falcons picked up three victories in two separate meets.

The FV varsity, coached by Gay Hughes, defeated Oak Law 73 to 59 while the frosh-soph gymnasts were gathering wins from Oak Lawn 83.5-40.5 and also from Wheaton 80-52.

For the varsity Falcons, top performances were turned in by Dave Hippensteel on the trampoline, John Medley on the side horse, Garth Freeman on the parallel bars and Jeff Weaver on the rings. All four captured firsts in their events.

TOP SCORER FOR the Forest View varsity was Dick Antti who ran up a total of 17 points. Antti took seconds on the side horse and parallel bars plus a third on the rings and a fourth in tumbling.

Records Fall In Tank Meet

They rewrote the record book last week at the St. Viator pool as the Lion swimmers entertained Arlington High School.

The hosts pulled out a 55-40 victory on a varsity level although they could pick up only four firsts. Seconds and thirds paid off for Charley Mondi's squad.

Three pool records fell and Arlington's tankers figured in each new mark.

Greg Stafford set a pool standard in the 200 freestyle relay with a 2:08.8 clocking. Greg Inman whipped off a 1:03 mark in the 100 back for another pool mark, and Stafford had a 4:48.7 in the 400 freestyle.

JOHN GARDNER'S Cardinals also picked up three other firsts thanks to Tucker in the 100 free (:56.9), Brown in diving (51.85), Inman in the 200 individual medley (2:27.8), and Tucker in the 50 free (:24.3).

St. Viator established six school records and tied one in registering the 15-point victory. The Lions gained four firsts.

Joe Herrity set a school mark of 1:09.0 in capturing the 100 butterfly event, and Jim Spears ruled the 100 breastroke in record-setting time of 1:12.9. The 200 freestyle relay team of Hugh Zito, Bill Christianson, Kevin Shea, and Ren Tague posted a 1:40.6 effort to tie a school mark.

OTHER SCHOOL marks fell in non-winning performances. Jim Collins set a mark of 2:11 in the 200 freestyle while finishing second, and Ren Tague had a :24.6 in taking the runnerup slot in the 50 free.

Rick Withrow was second in the 100 free at :57.5 for another mark and Tim Wallace and Collins set records in the 100 back and 400 free respectively. Wallace had a 1:08.4 clocking for second in the backstroke, and Collins was 4:49.6 for second in the 400.

St. Viator's 200 medley team also placed first with a 1:56.8 time. Tim Wallace, Rick Kalinowski, Joe Herrity, and Kevin Shea worked the four legs.

On a frosh-soph level St. Viator posted a 65-30 victory over Arlington. See separate story.

Arlington's frosh basketball team saw its winning streak snapped at five Saturday and also dropped a two-point decision Monday.

Glenbard West tripped Tom Pitchford's Cardinals, 42-36, and Barrington posted a 54-52 victory.

Gregg Lemein and Gary Price tossed in nine points each to pace Arlington against Glenbard West.

Arlington turned in a strong performance Monday but it wasn't enough in a two-point loss to highly regarded Barrington.

The Cards received balanced scoring with Dave McGaffey high with 14. Price had 13, John Theroux 12, and Lemein 10.

"Love on a Leash"

One of the merriest and delightful books of the fall publishing season turns out to be a "doggy" production, reports Gaines Research Center, New York.

"Love on a Leash" is the hilarious account of the tribulations of an unsuspecting male who finds out that he has married a beautiful girl but a "dog nut."

Author Kurt Unkelbach traces his experiences from the time he discovers an unexpected guest—a Labrador Retriever—in the back seat of the car as he drives off on his honeymoon. Later he finds that his new wife favors big families—of dogs—and matters become even worse when his children turn out to feel the same way she does.

The book takes the reader on a light-hearted journey through dog shows, house hunting, vacations and some tiffs with the law and the neighbors. The amusing moments it describes make for some of the most enjoyable reading about the dog world to come about in a long time. The nation's reviewers are hailing it as one of those rare times that appeals to both old and young.

Cards Usher In '65 With Conference Win

by BOB FRISK

Arlington's varsity Cardinals, who said farewell to 1964 with a second place finish in the Kankakee tournament, said hello to 1965 Friday evening with a West Suburban Conference victory over Downers Grove.

Coach Ted Wissen's rapidly improving quintet pushed its season record to 5-6 and league standard to 3-2 with a 65-57 conquest of the host Trojans.

The Cards vaulted into sole possession of fourth place in the West Suburban with the win.

A SNAPPY 23-for-27 night at the free throw line, some amazing second period markmanship, and a tenacious defense contributed to Arlingotn's fifth victory in its last six outings.

"We weren't as steady as we were in the Kankakee tourney," Cardinal boss Wissen said, "but you could still see some signs that the boys are coming around."

Arlington took command in the second quarter Friday after the two clubs had finished a lackluster first period with a 10-10 deadlock. Bob Conner, who turned in a fine performance for the winners, slipped in a layup that ignited the Cards' explosion, and soph Dave Lockwood drilled four long jump shots to keep things rolling.

THE VISITORS hit on 80 per cent of their shots from the floor in that second quarter and carried a 31-25 advantage into the locker room.

Chuck Lloyd, Arlington's 6-foot-7 center who had been saddled with three fouls in the first six minutes of the game, returned to action in the second half and hit two straight jumpers that pushed the Cards out to a 10-point bulge.

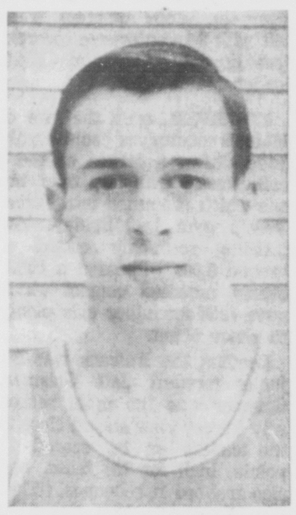
Lloyd hit a 10-footer seconds after the tip when Downers center Bud Bocker headed for the wrong end of the floor, and Chuck came right back with another two-pointer from the side.

SOPHOMORE Rick Howat, a deadly out-shooter, kept Downers from getting run out of the gym in that third quarter, and Bocker took over in the final stanza with nine of his 25 points. Bud didn't see the basketball much in the third quarter.

Downers builds its attack around Bocker, a 6-foot-4 junior, and although Bud did contribute 25 markers he would be the first to admit that he had to work for those points against the Cardinal zone.

After Downers closed to within six midway in the third quarter Arlington went to work as Lloyd, Conner, and soph Steve Allen counted. The Cards were on top 45-34 with eight minutes remaining and had a 16-point lead (57-41) with 4:55 left.

THE TROJANS managed to close the gap in the wild windup as floor errors plagued Arlington.



DAVE LOCKWOOD

Bocker was high for both clubs with 25 points. Conner topped Arlington's well-balanced attack with 18. Lockwood, whose long-range bombs delighted the fans in the first half, had seven baskets and a free throw for 15.

Lloyd had 10 despite sitting out most of the first half, and Allen contributed 12 with a 10-for-11 night at the free throw line.

Card Wrestlers Fall to Downers In League Match

Downers Grove's powerful varsity wrestling team, runner-up in the Prospect Invitational tournament, toppled Arlington High School last week, 25-14.

The loss was the first for Julius Fliehler's Cardinals in two West Suburban Conference meets. Arlington had routed Maine East prior to the holiday break.

Arlington jumped off to a quick 9-0 lead against Downers and was on top 11-5 after five bouts when the Trojans made their move.

Ray Herda, who has suffered only one loss this season, got things rolling for the Cardinals with a 2-0 win at 95 pounds, and Tom McCarthy fashioned a 4-0 victory at 103 with a first period takedown and third period reversal.

Scott Brown was victorious 8-3 at 112 pounds and Arlington had a 9-0 lead. It was 11-2 a few minutes later as Ken Neal tied Downers' Barton 3-3.

The Trojans picked up victories in the next seven bouts and coasted home with the decision. It wasn't easy, however, with Pohlman a 4-1 winner over Bruce Conti at 127, Krefft a 3-2 victor over Doug Duss at 133, and Salus a 2-1 conqueror of Don Lindmark at 145.

Arlington finally got back on the board at heavyweight when junior Mark Frase rode a second period takedown to an impressive 2-1 victory.

Arlington will host Antioch Friday afternoon at 4:30 and travel to LaGrange Saturday at 2 p.m. The Cards will journey to Riverside-Brookfield next Wednesday, Jan. 20, for an afternoon bout.

Card Sophs Win on Mat

Arlington's sophomore wrestlers turned back Downers Grove last week, 22-20, as they resumed competition in the West Suburban Conference.

The Cardinals picked up six decisions and two ties in the 12 bouts.

Individual winners for Arlington were Jim Whitnell (95), Mike Mills (112), Dave Bakas (120), Brad Philo (133), Bruce Weber (154), and Tom Hyde (180).

Brad Somers, (138) and Clark Sims (145) were involved in deadlocks.

Prospect High Sophs Win 9th Straight, 55-50

Victory number nine was picked up by the undefeated sophomores of Prospect when they slipped by Forest View 55-50 in a game played last Saturday.

Pacing the winning Knights were Dave Kingman, who tallied 24 points, and Al Shers, who tallied 14 points. Bob Arnold and Frank Calvello paced the Falcons' forces with 15 and 12 points respectively.

While Prospect, coached by John MacDougal, is now 9-0, Forest View directed by Bob Steingraber, has a 5-3 record.

Both quintets see action on this Saturday morning when the Knights welcome Niles North and the Falcons host Glenbrook North. Each game begins at 9:00 a.m.

After Impressive Win

Lions Suffer 49-45 Loss at St. George

by FRED BOEDEKER

"Win a little lose a little — that's the story of, that's the glory of sport." Yon convince Larry Nomellini!

Nomellini, head varsity basketball coach at St. Viator, watched his charges open play in the Chicagoland Prep League with an impressive 75-60 victory Friday night over St. Mel of Chicago and then looked on as the Lions wen down to an agonizing 49-45 defeat Saturday night at the hands of St. George of Evanston.

The defeat was particularly significant since the Lions carried an 8-3 record into this game and were rapidly gaining respect as one of the conference's more formidable quintets.

Also, a 2-0 record instead of 1-1 would have put the St. Viator cagers in a far better position to make a drive for a championship for this weekend when they meet both De LaSalle and St. Patrick, co-favorites to cop the title.

IN THE FRIDAY night home game senior captain Chuck Grandt turned in one of the finest offensive performances that will be seen in the area this season.

The 6-4 center netted seven field goals and displayed his usual uncanny accuracy from the free throw line as he scored on 13 of 17 attempts for a total of 27 points.

However, Grandt was not the only Lion to corral offensive accolades in the victory. Forwards Paul Pomplun and Paul Dumke each contributed 19 points and combined with Grandt to completely dominate their shorter opponents in the rebounding department.

ALTHOUGH GUARDS Mike Hogan, John Erfort and John Loughman did not contribute heavily in the scoring column, all three did a fine job of ball handling and playmaking.

In effect, the Lions looked like a polished ball club, stronger on offense than on defense but yet well rounded enough to do nothing but encourage their followers.

Saturday night the locals traveled to Evanston to meet St. George, who had been roundly defeated by St. Patrick Friday night.

With the exception of another fine offensive performance by Chuck Grandt and Paul Dumke, any resemblance to the Viator team of the previous night was purely coincidental.

ADMITTEDLY, the locals were playing the game with a stronger liability than a strange court usually effects, but they were still unable to ignite any real offensive spark.

The old Evanston school sports a small, over-crowded gum that has the bleachers begin just 10 inches from the end lines.

If it's any consolation to St. Viator boosters, St. George should prove to be a troublesome opponent for any visiting quintet.

ST. VIATOR got off to an early 4-3 lead but lost that with 2½ minutes remaining in the first quarter. The closest they came after that was the final score 49-45.

Grandt collected 18 points on three baskets and 12 free throws and Dumke collected five in each department for a total off 15. Grandt's 12-14 from the charity line raised his weekend free throw totals to an impressive 25-31.

The St. Viator five was outrebounded and outhustled by the Dragons, who had four scorers in double figures. St. George's high point man was Terry McGrath with 14 counters, but he was ably supported by Don Geist and Art McGivery with 13 and 10 points respectively. Jim Bachta completed the home team's scoring with 12 points.

St. Viator travels to Chicago tomorrow night to meet defending conference champs, St. Patrick, and then return home Saturday night to encounter highly touted De LaSalle, who have now won ten consecutive games and are tied with St. Pat's for the lead with an identical 2-0 record.

Prospect took the final three titles as Bob Davis, 165, Earl Smith, 180, and Mark Pasdiora, heavyweight, all captured firsts. Defeated by the Knights trio were Bob Straub of Fenton, by Davis, Bill Dritlein of Maine, by Smith, and Mike Croczyk of St. Viator, by Pasdiora.

Thirds in the final three weight divisions went to Dan Tokoph, of Maine, who decisioned Viator's John Mosura; Phil Olson of Fenton, who decisioned the Lions' Andy Orgler; and Emil Collias, of Maine, who scored a pin win over Mike Miller of Fenton.

Kouros Fires 279; Sports Chalet Tops Three Season Marks

Season leaders in three of the four divisions fell by the wayside as the Concourse Sports Chalet, sparked by anchorman Tom Kouros, turned in the best team effort of the season.

Only the high individual series of 722, turned in a month ago by Ernie Koche of Morton Pontiac, withstood the Sport Chalet-Kouros barrage.

The three new standards occurred in the Sports' 5-2 victory over the Casares Pro Bowlers on the Casares Lanes last Saturday evening. Two of them happened in the first game. Kouros fired a 279 to erase the former high of 259 established by Koche to lead the Sports to a team score of 1128, 23 pins better than the former high established by Jeffery Lanes December 12.

THE THIRD mark to fall was the team total pin figure of 3019, set by the Sports back in September. This one fell easily as the Sports put together a 3052. Kouros added a 226 and a 192 to finish with a 697 series, second best in the PCTL this season. The Sports also got a big lift from Ron Steil. Steil had a 640, including a 256 in the big opener. Casares had a 617 from Don Oberg and a 615 from Dave Catherwood.

In other action, Pioneer Lanes vaulted into first place with a 7-0 win over Morton Pontiac at Beverly Lanes. Defending individual champion Mike Dinschel paved the way with his biggest evening of the season. His 246-235-201—682 ranks behind Kouros and third on the high series list this winter. George Schmidt took over the league individual lead with a 630 for the Pioneers. Teammate Pat Peterson lost the lead with a 579. Schmidt now has a 201.17 average, Peterson a 200.13. Les Zikes had a 620 for the Pontiacs.

Country Lanes matched the Pioneers and moved to within one point of the top with a 7-0 whitewash of the Brass Rail Restaurant. Country Lanes had just one close shave, a six point decision in the second game. Wayne Hahn led the winners with a 581, Paul Zubak had a 552 for the Railers.

The Bill Cook squad authored the third shutout of the evening and slipped into third by blanking Jeffery Lanes. Paul Borvig led the Buicks with a 596.

Winston Theatre Slates Tryouts for Original Revue

An innovation in community theater will be inaugurated Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 20 and 21, when Winston Little Theatre holds tryouts for its first original revue, to be presented later this spring.

Patterned along the lines of Chicago's famed Second City revues, the Winston show will feature original comedy sketches written, acted and produced by members of the amateur theater group.

According to Ted Weiss, president of Winston Little Theater and producer of the revue, the show will inaugurate a new era in community theater activity.

"FOR THE first time," said Weiss, "we'll be able to offer suburban audiences fresh, nevmunity theater in its most creative form.

"We hope these tryouts will uncover not only new performers, whose full talents were largely untapped in the past because there was no existing vehicle for their special artistic gifts, but also amateur comedy writers, who never before have had an opportunity to see their ideas come to life."

The revue will be presented in a night club format at a local show place still to be determined. Weiss believes the informality of a cabaret lends itself to the nature and style of a review-type production.

WEISS ADDED, "There are a number of people who have a special gift for spontaneous, creative comedy . . . people who may have been reluctant in the past to try out for plays because they might not have felt comfortable memorizing a great many lines and portraying a characterization already preconceived by another writer.

"There are also a great many amateur writers in our midst, I'm sure, who have a particular knack for creating funny sketches and comic dialogue. These people also have had few opportunities to exercise their particular talents.

"These are the kind of people we'd like to bring out for our tryouts. We're going to try to find the best talent available in the northwest suburban area and utilize it for what we hope will be only the first of many future productions of this kind."

TRY-OUTS WILL be held Jan. 20 and 21 at the Palatine Fireman's Hall, 117 W. Slade St., at 8 p.m. each of the two nights. For further information, please call Betty Kandlebinder at 358-2354. All interested parties are encouraged to attend the tryouts and also the general meeting of Winston Little Theatre tonight at the 1st State Bank of Palatine, 35 N. Brockway, at 8 p.m., Thursday.

Weak Characters Sap Fun in 'Yum Yum Tree'

by JIM PHILLIPS
Paddock Drama Critic

Some of the sap leaked out of the Des Plaines Theatre Guild's "Yum Yum Tree" Friday night.

True, the Lawrence Roman comedy about a collegiate, somewhat naive Perry Mason and his mating game girl friend who attempt to test their marital liveability by living it up but not bedding it down in the same apartment on a pre-marriage basis is fun and games. But when your characterization leaves a lot to be desired, the fun becomes tedious and the games become slightly less exciting.

Robin Austin, the young female of the true love test, was played by Judy Fisher. Miss Fisher was sprightly, cute, relaxed and interpreted her role well except that she let her voice continue to squak and scratch until you wondered if the anxious Miss Robin Austin had a tender, quietly-lovable bone in her body.

THERE WERE some important non-comedy lines in "Under the Yum Yum Tree" for Miss Fisher—important because they revealed Robin's real character. And to reveal that character, Miss Fisher needed to know where those lines were, which she evidently didn't.

Nancy Raus' Irene Wilson was well done. Miss Raus took command of the stage. It's a good thing. Her lines demanded it.

Bob Behling, in the role of the young lawyer, Dave Manning, was well cast. He has a talent for knowing when to play facial reaction for its full impact of laughs, but his greater talent lies in the fact that he allows his voice much latitude for mood expression, from bewilderment to tenderness. Behling is a good looking addition to the DPTG leading man list.

Perhaps the most demanding role in "Yum Yum" is that of Hogan. Here is a crazy mixed up can of character hash if there ever was one. And Ken MacCowan just couldn't open the can and partake of the dinner.

MacCOWAN was much too matter-of-fact a Hogan, too businesslike, and too quiet of manner and speech. The interpretation would lead you to believe that Hogan is every bit as normal as the frustrated couple he pesters, and not an extroverted Don Juan with a trace of peeping Tom, a collection of females and a booze passion on the side.

Even MacCowan's bits of comic business were slightly underplayed—the searching for the socks, the use of the sprinkling can that had no water for the flowers that were artificial—these were examples of how accurate interpretation of Hogan's character and actions could add further hilarity to the lines already donated by playwright Roman.

Also cast in "Yum Yum" were Don Mroczek as the milkman and Jim Fisher as the cab driver. Fisher livened things up in the first act by going through a Jerry Lewis routine. The action was brief but very funny. I'll tell you no more.

TOM VENTRISS, the director of "Under the Yum Yum Tree," staged a smooth show and paced the general action well. It's too bad he was thrown a few curves, such as haphazard lighting and sound effect cues. The set design and furnishings were excellent; there was plenty of color, yet little gaudiness.

Taking the entire tree into consideration, the Friday evening performance was only slightly above par for DPTG. Of course, it could be that I'm getting tired of seeing so many sex comedies — the suburban dramatic forests are full of them these days. It will be nice to get out of the underbrush and into the open meadow when next the Guild presents what I consider a classic, Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie."

Village Theatre to Entertain at BOB

The highlight of the Tuesday, Jan. 19, general meeting of the Best-Off-Broadway Players will be the presentation of cuttings from the comedy, "The Four-poster," given by members of Village Theatre of Arlington Heights.

Shirley Freeman, 1140 S. Douglas, Arlington Heights, and John Lobenhofer, 108 S. Albert, Mount Prospect, will comprise the cast. Richard Tyler of Chicago will direct, and Lynn Lobenhofer, also of 108 S. Albert, Mount Prospect, will produce the program.

BOB PRESIDENT Fred Schiavo, 1812 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, invites anyone interested in community theatre to attend the Jan. 19 meeting, which will be held at 8 p.m. in the Hasbrook Park Fieldhouse, 333 W. Maude, Arlington Heights. Refreshments will be served.

Best-Off-Broadway Players produces only musical comedies, with "Kiss Me Kate" next on the agenda. Village Theatre presents only legitimate plays, either drama or comedy. BOB members plan to entertain Village Theatre at the latter's February meeting. (Bill

Mrs. Chapman Starts First House Term

Suburban Living
Especially for Women

Workshop Aims At Good Will

A 1965 human relations program of "workshops for neighbors" will be launched Tuesday, Jan. 19, in Chicago and suburban communities to guide mothers in "rearing children of good will."

The women's committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews is sponsoring the six-week project to explore the problem of children and prejudice.

The Arlington Heights workshop will be under the steering committee leadership of Mrs. Richard Frisbie, 631 N. Dunton. In Mount Prospect the committee is headed by Mrs. William Kuivinen, 403 S. Wille.

Another Mount Prospect woman, Mrs. John R. Hoppe of 500 N. Fairview, will lead a Park Ridge workshop.

Interested persons may contact them.

THIS YEAR the NCCJ women's committee is expanding its program by coordinating the workshops with a new series of FM radio broadcasts. Experts on all phases of human relations will be interviewed by Studs Terkel every Tuesday, beginning Jan. 19, on his 10 a. m. WFMT show, "The Wax Museum." Terkel and his guests will discuss ways children can be reared free from prejudice.

Groups of mothers will meet on these six Tuesdays from 9:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. in one of their homes or a community center or church to hear the programs and continue discussion of thought-provoking questions. NCCJ will provide trained workshop discussion leaders and related afternoon programs.

6.2 Burgers Per Week

School-age children ate an average of 6.2 hamburgers a week during 1964, reveals a year-end survey by the nationwide McDonald's chain of hamburger restaurants.

They're the hamburger-hungriest age group, with teenagers second and young adults third. Over-all, Americans ate an average of 3.5 burgers a week — or a total of 182 a year, on the average — but actual consumption varied widely from age group to age group, McDonald's found.

Here's how McDonald's broke down weekly hamburger eating by age categories: Under 7 years old — 1.7 hamburgers; 7 to 13 — 6.2 hamburgers; teen-agers — 5.2 hamburgers; 20-29 — 4.2 hamburgers; 30-45 — 3.3 hamburgers; 45 - 60 — 2.6 hamburgers; over 60 — 1.3 hamburgers.

The hamburger held its own in 1964 as the most popular food item in the United States.

MRS. ENGENIA CHAPMAN and her husband, Gerald, discuss plans for remodeling of this basement room into a combination family room-office. The new arrangement will permit Mrs. Chapman to do much of her work as a state representative at home on days when she isn't commuting to Springfield for sessions. (Staff photo)

Mix Homemaking, Politics, Stir Well

by NANCY ANDERSON
Staff Writer

"Yes, I know, you probably think I'm nuts," Eugenia Chapman tells bouncy two-year-old son Andrew as she tugs a jersey over his head, "but . . ."

But, as a newly sworn "blue ribbon" Democratic state representative, one of just seven women in the 177-member house, Mrs. Chapman, 42, frankly revels in her first experience in practical politics on the statewide level.

So, it would seem, do the rest of the family, who live at 903 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights.

"The babysitter bills are astronomical," exclaims attorney husband Gerald, "but the simple point is, I started going with Eugenia in high school, and I've known since then that she isn't just the pots and pans type. She has a lot to offer."

LONG ACTIVE in community affairs, Mrs. Chapman says she had thought for some time she would be interested in working in state government "when the children were older. It never occurred to me I'd have the opportunity this soon." Then, with the at-large election, she was a practical choice for the Democrats. Some women were needed, the men agreed, and she had experience.

Chapman himself has political interests; the two have worked together on various issues, such as institution of the village manager system in Arlington Heights and promotion of judicial reform. And, the husband, he points out, "Genie asked my permission before her name was submitted as a candidate to the Cook County Democratic Central Committee."

Sons George, 12, a seventh grader, and John, 10, fifth grader, went along to Springfield for swearing-in ceremonies last week, and George stayed up to help greet guests at a party the Chapmans had after the Democratic caucus.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Chapman, John takes some of the credit for the fact she led Democrats in election returns in the three precincts around his school, Ridge, because he did a lot of talking among his young friends, who in turn talked to their parents.

And last Thursday and Friday kindergartener Katherine, 5, proudly wore to school Mom's two corsages—one from the League of Women Voters, the other from Democratic committeewomen—from the first official day in Springfield.

That first day last week was one of about 70 Mrs. Chapman will spend in Springfield in the months until the biennial assembly session ends June 30. In addition, she will have other representative duties to fulfill during her two-year term.

AS WIFE, mother and homemaker, how will she manage?

"It has taken considerable planning, because this is very different from my previous activities," she explains.

She just recently resigned as member and secretary of High School District 214 Board of Education, which she had served since April 1961. Among other activities she has also been president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters and member of the executive committee of the Tri-County Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards, the steering committee of the North Cook County Community College Committee, the Northwest Suburban Relations Council, and Ridge School PTA.

"However," she points out, "these were primarily all things I could do in the evening, after I had put the children to bed. And I could be at home with them during the daytime. Then, too, I could do a lot of the work at home —reading, telephoning . . ."

While she campaigned, a neighbor and friends looked after the youngsters when she was gone. Now the family has a housekeeper for the days Mrs. Chapman is in Springfield.

And a room in the basement of their home is being converted to a family room for several uses—the housekeeper will stay there when both parents are gone, and Mrs. Chapman will have it for her office. This way, she notes, much of the time she will be working from "home base," as she has previously.

HER ACTIVITIES will probably take much the same direction they have over the past few years: schools. Mrs. Chapman listed education as a first committee choice, and since her experience in this field was one of the factors in her selection as a candidate, it should be a major area of work.

She plans to work toward increased state aid to schools; changing the office of state superintendent of instruction to an appointive position; establishment of a state board of education; developing recommendations of the state board of higher education, especially with respect to a system of junior colleges.

On education, particularly, Mrs. Chapman can get pretty voluble; friends on the school board teased her about the possibilities of filibustering in Springfield.

But, as a newcomer, she will as a matter of form and necessity be fairly silent, while she gets acquainted and finds her way around. And, frequently, she points out, more can be accomplished by work behind the scenes.

AS, FOR EXAMPLE, with revenue reform, which she agrees with many others is an absolute necessity. A signer of the bill introduced last week by Rep. Bernard M. Peskin of Northbrook, she realizes the ultimate legislation "can't be everything I would hope for, but I will help promote that which is worthwhile, decided improvement."

While she's working for this and other legislation in Springfield, the family pets will help carry the message to voters and future voters at home. They are a dog, Judy, short for Miss Judicial Reform, and cat, Still the Suffragette, named after a neighbor instead of Carrie Chapman Catt.

Children Should Feel Consequences of Acts

Parents should allow unruly children to experience the consequences of their acts.

This is the advice of Dr. Rudolph Dreikurs, Chicago psychiatry professor in a new booklet, "Your Child and Discipline."

Dreikurs also says parents often speak lightly of not knowing what to do about the children — "They don't pay the slightest attention to what I say."

These parents may speak lightly, Dreikurs writes, but the situation is serious for they often really don't know what to do. He says children of such parents are defiant, inconsiderate and contemptuous, and "the parents stand around helpless."

The small booklet is included in the National Education Association's January issue of the "NEA Journal." The booklets are also offered for sale to groups.

AS AN EXAMPLE of children experiencing the consequences of their acts, Dr. Dreikurs writes about four - year - old Anne. Anne is described as a "poor eater who blows bubbles in her milk" and "pushes food around on her plate." Mother decides to let "natural consequences" take over. She doesn't criticize, but removes unfinished food from the table.

At the next meal, uneaten food again is taken away. Later, Anne is hungry. Mother refuses milk and cookies and lets her wait until evening dinner time.

Children "respond to such consequences if they are not used as a threat or imposed in anger." Although "it may take a little time," Anne probably will begin to eat normally.

"LOGICAL consequences," on the other hand, are those fitted to a special situation, and "always represent order and avoid possible chaos," Dreikurs says.

"We must use logical consequences cautiously if a power contest is involved," the author warns. "Logical consequences easily become punishment and make matters worse. But natural consequences always work. One must simply be sure what follows the act represents the pressure of reality—that which would just naturally happen."

Neither punishment nor reward will work in disciplining the child, Dreikurs maintains. The child may try to gain attention by being pleasant, "but if this approach doesn't work," he may have a tantrum and will deliberately repeat his misbehavior with a "just try and stop me" attitude.

The wise choice for the parent is to withdraw from the scene to "avoid yielding to his demands." The child will find then that "there is no point in being victor in an empty field."

"REWARDING children for good behavior can be almost as bad psychologically as punishing them," Dreikurs contends. Paying the child for doing his part of the chores at home, for instance, plants in his mind the "what's in it for me" attitude. The booklet states young people should receive an allowance as a share of family spending money, but without any connection with chores.

"It is a popular concept that we should deal with each child individually and award praise or condemnation as each child's behavior warrants." In contrast to this, Dreikurs advocates putting children "all in the same boat."

He notes that children often team up against their parents tother to defeat them or to keep them busy. "Furthermore, members of a peer group have a code which abhors tattling."

"WHEN WE deal with each child individually after some general misbehavior, we tend to promote a seesaw action in which one child seeks parental approval . . . at the expense of another." Such parental action, Dreikurs says, intensifies competition among the children, since it plays one child against another.

"We thereby stimulate and fortify the false goal of each child to seek satisfaction of approval rather than contributing."

To those who say it is unfair to treat the innocent and guilty alike, Dreikurs says, "It would seem to be far more unfair to each child to reinforce his false goals, which disrupt harmony and cooperation. It all depends on what we want for our children. If we put them all in the same boat and make them responsible as a group for what each one does, they have no desire merely to impress each other, so their misbehavior becomes meaingless."

Apollo Spacecraft Articles Displayed

The most extensive display of flight items related to the Apollo moon spacecraft ever publicly shown in the United States went on exhibit Monday at the Exchange National Bank of Chicago, 130 S. LaSalle.

The exhibit, titled "Apollo—America's Leap to the Moon," is being presented as an educational program by the bank in cooperation with the Space and Information Systems Division of North American Aviation, Inc., prime contractor for the Apollo project.

Nearly 300,000 workers, involving 20,000 companies in all 50 states, now are involved in the $20 billion task to land two men on the face of the moon by 1970—and bring them and a third orbiting companion safely back to earth. In terms of national effort, the Apollo program has no equal in the history of the world.

THE MONTH-LONG exhibit, culmination of nearly a half-year in planning, will occupy all of the Exchange Bank's street-level windows on LaSalle Street, as well as space in the bank lobby. The bank will also distribute a free illustrated booklet describing the lunar mission, which has been prepared by North American in cooperation with NASA.

The drama of the historic lunar landing will be seen in a specially constructed light-box occupying one full window with large, full-color transparencies —and a recorded voice describing each phase of the mission.

The individual items on display will range from a full-size mockup of a portion of the spacecraft cabin, including a mannikin inside a pressure suit strapped into the contour couch, to a unique "space water pistol" which will enable the astronauts to quench their thirst while in flight inside their pressure suits.

The contour couch in the spacecraft is one which has been used in test drops of full-size spacecraft "boilerplates"—subjecting the mockups to the tremendous shock of ground impact to learn how to cushion the astronauts against injury upon landing.

FEATURED IN THE display will be specially prepared packages of "moon food," multi-food packets containing dehydrated space flight meals for the 14-day round trip between earth and the moon.

A typical day's moon menu will consist of:

Breakfast: applesauce, potatoes, bacon, cocoa; lunch: crab newburg with toast, bread pudding, coffee, mints; dinner: pea soup, ham chunks, cashews; snack: petit-fours, coffee, tea.

Other items on display will be toothpaste tablets; in-flight sandals with Velcro adhesive bottoms which will allow the astronauts to freely walk around the cabin during weightlessness; a multi-purpose "space wrench" for maintenance; communication hats which the astronauts will wear after removing the bulky helmets; and an in-flight data recorder designed as a movie projector for easy viewing of mission data.

Dishwasher Has Many Advantages

"By the time I scrape, prerinse and stack the dishes in an automatic dishwasher, I could do the whole thing by hand." Right?

Wrong. Granted, there was a time when automatic dishwashers demanded more preparation of dishes prior to washing, but even that's been eliminated now. A recent survey showed that this modern kitchen servant saves the homemaker an average of one to two hours every day. And it does far more than just save time.

The Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports the following advantages:

1. Hygienically clean dishes washed in super-heated (140-180 degree) water for maximum health protection.

2. Larger-than-ever capacity to handle all utensils and a complete dinner service for as many as 12 or 14 persons.

3. Cabinets that roll out for easy and safe loading of even the most delicate china and glassware.

4. Multi - cycle action that washes away every type of food soil—from film on glasses to drippings baked on broiler racks.

'Y' Women Set Date For Pancake Day

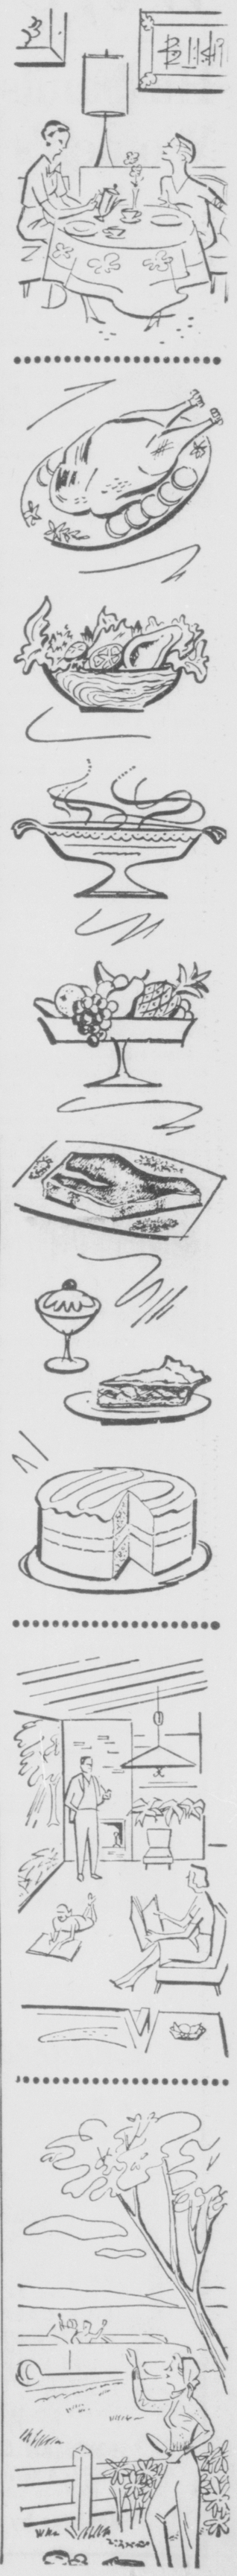
Northwest Suburban YMCA Women's Auxiliary is sponsoring its annual Pancake Day on Saturday, Jan. 30. This one fund-raising event of the year will feature pancakes — all you can eat — sausages and trimmings, and there will be continuous entertainment during the serving hours.

Serving will take place in the 'Y' all-purpose room from 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

HUSBANDS OF auxiliary members and some of the men from the 'Y' board of directors have already been practicing flipping pancakes for their stint at the grill on Pancake Day.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Donald Mead of Arlington Heights. Entertainment will be programmed by Mrs. Stephen Jurco of Arlington Heights, and tickets are available from Mrs. Clifford Stock, Mount Prospect, CL 5-8703. They also may be purchased at the 'Y' from now until Pancake Day.

CHAPMAN YOUNGSTERS, from right, Katherine, 5, John, 10, and George, 12, are all part of their mother's new political life. The corsage Katherine wears is one of those Mrs. Chapman received when she was sworn in, and Katherine's kindergarten teacher even helped pin it on her painting smock so she could wear it all day at school. The smallest youngster, Andrew, 2, isn't sure he knows just what this is all about. (Staff photo)



Wife Plays Big Part in Buying Man's Suit

Husbands Solicit Women's Decision

by BETTY AINSLIE

Do you go clothes shopping with your husband? Does he ask for your opinion and advice on sock and tie combinations, and take you along for your decision on the suits he buys?

Generally, most men prefer to stay home when wife goes on a clothes buying spree for herself, but they like to have her along when they're selecting a wardrobe for themselves.

Betty Ainslie

Of course I have seen men uncomfortably occupying chairs in the women's dress department — while waiting for their wife to appear in a selection picked from the rack.

"That doesn't look as good as that green silk one you have at home," one will declare critically eyeing his wife's new gown.

"SAY, THAT'S a real knockout," exclaims another.

"Gosh, that one's fine. They all look good. Let's go home," say the impatient ones forced along by a wife who needs him to chauffeur her to the dress shops.

"I don't mind my husband going along with me when I buy a dress," said a friend of mine. "When he does, I usually end up with the more expensive one as that will be the one he likes and will insist I get. Now if I were shopping myself, I'd probably select the cheaper one thinking of the money involved."

"Usually he'll say," she continued, laughing, "what's a few dollars more when that's the best looking dress? So I buy the more expensive one with a free conscience."

SOME MEN—a few of them—enjoy selecting wearing apparel as Christmas gifts for their wives. They're fussy over color and style and seem to know just the pattern and type of ensemble that is best for her. Others are bored and uncomfortable when forced into any feminine section of a department store.

They're the ones who glance up indifferently from their newspaper when wife asks their opinion of a new purchase.

"It's fine, dear," they say absentmindedly. Or before they make any statement they ask, "How much?" and let the price tag influence their decision.

I'VE AN out-of-town friend who never selects her own wardrobe. Her husband seems to have a special knack of knowing just what colors, materials and styles are just right for her.

"I don't really mind as the things he picks out look much better on me than my own selections," she always said when questioned. "Anyway I know I'm pleasing him as aren't we all—the gals I mean of course — dressing to please some man?"

But this same gal is always taken along when her husband selects his own clothes. He carefully considers her likes and dislikes and will never buy anything for himself she hasn't approved. Her outfits are unusual and she always looks attractive.

"He's just blessed with a better clothes sense than I have," she admits. "And after I finally decided he was right and I was wrong I dressed better. Friends always complimented me on my outfit—but Pat would just grin and let me take credit."

MEN ARE often fussier about color combinations and styles than women. If fashion decrees narrow lapels or new colors some men must have this new addition to their wardrobe immediately. Some are strictly conservative in their tastes. White shirts, dark suits and mild ties are Pop's business apparel.

The badge of the standard commuter seems to be a series of white shirts and dark suits. Most suburban men don't care to be obviously or flashily dressed and sorta seem to blend together anonymously when seen en masse at the train station.

But the majority of men take their wives along when they select a suit. Just look in any men's department or store you will find us patiently nodding approval.

NOW YOU take Pop. For some unknown reason I'm taken along when he selects a suit. As he limits his choice to strictly black or dark blue I don't have much to approve and spend my time trying out the upholstery on the chairs or wandering around seeking a sale sweater for sons. All the light grey, pin stripes, tweedy mixtures, nubor this oxford grey one," he'll ask. And where's the difference between two shades of black?

"How about that dark one with a slight sheen to the material," I ask hopefully.

"No not for me," says Pop. "It looks shiny already", he'll declare.

So I watch him select the usual black. But I'm content by browns or chocolate colors I admire are ignored—they're not for him.

"Do you like this black suit this time. I persuaded him to purchase the suit coat with the side vents rather than that ordinary back slit. So my suit shopping with Pop hasn't been in vain.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Balloon Party Gets January Birthday 'Off the Ground'

by DOLORES HAUGH

Get that birthday off the ground by using an air-borne balloon. The kind of balloon chosen for this party theme is the kind used in "Around the World in 80 Days." This is for a January Birthday, for the child 8 or 9 years old.

INVITATIONS

The invitations start with a circle cut from shiny shelf paper in bright red. Draw a corresponding circle on white construction paper and paste the balloon on it. Cut a basket from an old woven mat or use toothpicks and form the basket. If you use this heavy material, use cardboard for the backing.

Cut a slit above the basket and insert a note with the following written on it:

We're all up in the air over ———'s birthday

And we'd like you to sail over too for fun and food and a real "lift."

State time, place and tell the mothers about transportation home, that is, if you will provide it or not. It is best to provide the transportation home if you intend to go to a movie, the planetarium or anywhere outside the home.

Finish the invitation by gluing on string in bright gold, running it from the balloon to the basket. Trim basket with a gold sand bag or two and mail. Keep the guest list small if you intend to take a trip—a real trip, that is.

DECORATIONS

Make a balloon for the centerpiece and fasten to an overhead fixture. You may use a large balloon, ribbon and a real basket. After the balloon is suspended, attach small favors, such as balloons, space ships etc. for boys, hair ribbons, Barbie accessories, etc. for girls. Have each tied with a bright ribbon and let them dangle from the balloon at a height each child may reach. Allow them to pull the gifts from the balloon before they leave for home.

The plates will be the balloon for the table. Draw on a paper cloth the lines and basket. Slit each basket and insert the bright red napkin. This makes a very unusual table.

The cake may also be made in this way and may be used as the centerpiece. Make the usual 9-inch cake and frost in bright pink. Again attach the gold cord to the basket.

Use one layer for the balloon and cut the other for the basket. The scraps of cake cut off may be added to chocolate pudding for dessert the next day or dipped in frosting or melted chocolate bits.

Make a large circle to be placed on the wall and use heavy twine fastening it to a reed basket for the children to place their birthday gifts in for the host or hosttss.

ENTERTAINMENT

An excellent way to really get these kiddies in the air is to take them to the planetarium. However, this is quite a jaunt and you must plan well on time, transportation and supervision. A movie could also be well chosen to fit the theme, although many never do get off the ground.

Don't be up in the air about your child's January birthday. Bring something round and have an "Up in a Balloon" party. (S

Northwest AAUW Plans Luncheon

The annual luncheon of the Northwest Suburban Branch of the AAUW will be at Park Ridge Country Club Saturday, Jan. 23. Guest speaker will be Keki Bhote, a native of Madras, India.

Mr. Bhote, an electronics engineer, received his bachelor's degree from the University of Madras and his master's from Harvard. He has also studied journalism at Northwestern University. At present he is foreign correspondent for a leading daily newspaper in Bombay and teaches courses on India, China, the Middle East and American Foreign Policy at the YMCA College.

In 1959 Mr. Bhote was named as one of the 10 outstanding men in Chicago by the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry.

LUNCHEON reservation slips, which are in the AAUW Newsletter, should be in by Jan. 18.

Representatives of the 69 Illinois branches will meet for the Annual President's Conference and the Board of Directors Meeting in Chicago Jan. 15 and 16 at the Sherman House Hotel. During the meeting, a special program, "Legislative Round-up Day," will offer a new approach to the study of legislation.

Attending the 2-day meeting from Northwest Suburban Branch will be Mrs. E. V. Carlson of Prospect Heights, branch president, Mrs. R. C. Cooper, Mount Prospect, vice president, and Mrs. J. W. Allen, Des Plaines, representative from the Legislative Study Group.

All women who are graduates of AAUW approved colleges are eligible for membership in the association. (S

Carousel Travel Tells Plans for Europe Tour

For the first time, the Chicago suburbs will have their own 42-day planned European tour this summer.

This announcement was made this week by Tom Roche, owner of Carousel Travel and Tours of Mount Prospect and Barrington.

Roche said Burton L. Showers, director of student activities at Forest View High School, will conduct the tour, which is planned for eight European countries commencing June 21.

It will take approximately 40 people via TWA 707 Jet and European motorcoach over what Showers calls "the most interesting areas of a fascinating continent."

SHOWERS, CAROUSEL'S foreign promotion manager, said months of planning have gone into organization of the tour. "We have kept the cost down to approximately $1,500 per person," he added, "and yet we have come up with a trip which will have every experience a modern world traveler wants: culture, history, education—and fun."

For years, Showers, as both a civilian and soldier, has explored "far away places with strange sounding names" on every continent but Antarctica. And he has traveled in most of the 50 states, including five camping trips with high school students to Alaska before that territory achieved statehood.

In recent years, he has conducted student tours of South America, Central America and Mexico. In World War II, he was a technical sergeant with General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia, New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan.

A high school teacher for 15 years, Showers formerly headed the social science department at Palatine High School.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the State College of Iowa and his master of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin, specializing in European history.

LAST SUMMER, at his own expense, Showers toured Europe, traveling in the same countries he will cover this summer.

"I wanted fresh background and the additional experience," he said, "besides looking for any 'bugs' in our planning which could be ironed out beforehand."

Some highlights of the tour, Showers believes, will be Copenhagen, Berlin, Salzburg, Innsbruck and Vienna.

He also emphasized inclusion of a boat trip up Germany's Rhine River.

Travel arrangements will be first class, he said, including hotels with bath and motorcoaches with toilet facilities.

OTHER AREAS on the tour, in chronological order, include London and surrounding area, Amsterdam, Hamburg, Cologne, Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Nuremberg, Rothenburg, Munich, Oberammergau, Garmisch, Trieste, Venice, Florence, Assisi, Rome, Naples, Pisa, Genoa, Milan, Lucerne, Mount Pilatus, Geneva and Paris.

Interested persons may contact either Roche or Showers at the Carousel agency in Mount Prospect or Barrington. Information by telephone is available by calling 381-0600. (S

Modern Art, Gospel Is Fellowship's Topic

During the next week, the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational United Church of Christ, Kirchoff and Kennicott, Arlington Heights, will see a program on "Modern Art and the Gospel" and hear a talk by Mrs. Betty Quimby, program director of the Chicago City Missionary Society.

"Modern Art and the Gospel" will be shown in film strip form at the fellowship's meeting Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. in the church. Providing the narration and discussion following will be Mrs. Louise Elam, local artist who is a member of the congregation, and Mrs. William Koch.

The film presentation, highly recommended to the fellowship by the pastor, Rev. W. Rowland Koch, deals with the relationship between modern art and the church's teachings.

Mrs. Quimby will speak informally of Chicago City Missionary Society needs for volunteer work at a get-together coffee for all women of the church Thursday, Jan. 21, at 10 a.m.

MRS. ROBERT Staley, fellowship president, said arrangements are being made for baby-sitting so that women with small children can still attend the coffee. Serving as hostesses, she said, will be Mrs. Carl Vigstedt, Mrs. John Schneiter, Mrs. Guenther Hermann, Mrs. F. W. Spiecker and Mrs. Richard Carleton.

Arrangements for Mrs. Quimby's appearance were made by Mrs. Kirke White, program chairman. "We're particularly hoping," Mrs. White said, "that Mrs. Quimby will have suggestions for projects we can undertake at Pleasant Valley Farm."

The farm, located near Woodstock, is used by the Missionary Society as a year-round fresh air vacation and retreat area for center city children and their parents. The Congregational Church has already carried out several work projects at the farm, building library shelves and filling them with donated books.

Mrs. Dennis Kelleher will lead devotions at the Tuesday evening meeting, and hostesses will be Mrs. William McNeal and Mrs. Frank Livermore.

Asian Sub-continent Tour Is AAUW Program for Thursday

A Concordia College professor will draw on experiences of a 1963 9-week tour of the Asian sub-continent for his illustrated lecture on India tonight, Jan. 14, before the Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women.

"India at the Crossroads" is the topic of the talk which the AAUW members will hear at their 8 p.m. meeting in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building. Speaker will be Dr. Wilbert Rosin, who joined the Concordia faculty in 1961.

Tickets for the AAUW's benefit bridge luncheon Monday, Jan. 25, in Long Grove Country Club will be on sale at the branch meeting. The 12:15 p.m. event will benefit the Association fellowships fund, which makes it possible for women scholars to do advanced work in science, social studies and the arts.

"THIS IS one bridge benefit that everyone should be able to attend," asserted Mrs. Paul Davis of Palatine, chairman. "We deliberately picked a day when there's no school so everyone can get a sitter. Even members with pre-school children will be able to get away to go."

Non - AAUW members are more than welcome at the event, Mrs. Davis said; tickets may be secured by calling her at 358-5643. Main dish on the luncheon menu will be Chicken Eugenia, featuring boned chicken breast.

Dr. Rosin, whose Summer Institute in Indian Civilization was underwritten by Fulbright Act funds, says he believes few countries have more complex and frustrating problems than does India. The Indian leadership is attempting to convert these obstacles into positive opportunities for their 460 million people.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Donald Murry of Roselle, chairman; Mrs. E. Roy Keller, also of Roselle, and Mrs. Robert Kocher, Mrs. Francis Egan and Mrs. N. E. Rawson, all of Arlington Heights.

MRS. CHARLES Toot, Arlington Heights AAUW president, and five other members of the local branch will attend a 2-day meeting of the AAUW Illinois State Division Friday and Saturday, Jan. 15 and 16, at the Sherman House, Chicago.

Announced at the meeting will be the four topics around which AAUW branches will build their programs during 1965-67. Currently the program topics are "Expectations for Education," "Occident and Orient," "Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Layman," and "The American Family in a Changing World."

Mrs. John Gessert of the local branch was a member of an Association committee that recomended topics for use in AAUW programs in the next two years. She will be attending the division meetings Friday and Saturday, as will Mrs. Robert Nelson of Rolling Meadows, first vice president; Mrs. Beaver Waring of Mount Prospect, second vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Lucas of Palatine, legislative chairman, and Mrs. Charles Aldag, education implementation chairman.

THE MIGRANT Ministry can use volunteers with talents of all types, an AAUW human relations study group was told Jan. 5, by Mrs. Dennis Moore.

Mrs. Moore, former chairman of the recently-renamed Northwest Church Council for Migrant Ministry, spoke to the Arlington Heights branch's study group in the home of its chairman, Mrs. F. D. Swanson, 517 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

The northwest area migrant program, Mrs. Moore told the group, serves 1,500 families residing here year round. Its summer program includes a nursery program for 350 preschoolers and projects in which volunteers use the Laubach "each one teach one" method for combatting illiteracy.

"Our year round residents are people who are trying to move out of the migrant stream," Mrs. Moore said. Migrants who decide to stay here year round have no trouble finding work, she said, adding that the big problem in for them is finding housing.

VOLUNTEERS ARE used by the Migrant Ministry to supervise preschoolers, teach reading and writing, or to drive persons needing medical or dental care to clinics at Evanston or Cook County Hospital. The program is under the auspices of the National Council of Churches. Persons interested in the volunteer work should call Mrs. Moore at CL 5-3602.

Other AAUW study groups will meet this week and next. A new study group, the first Arlington Heights branch has organized to meet in the daytime, will have its initial meeting Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. T.A. Meyer, 205 S. Louis, Mount Prospect. The group will have as its topic, "Making Use of Leisure Time," and will survey such diverse activities as travel, reading, interesting employment (volunteer and otherwise), theater, exhibits and hobbies.

The Contemporary Thought study group, for couples, will discuss "Federal Aid to Schools" at a meeting Friday, Jan. 15, at 8:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons, 508 S. George, Mount Prospect.

"THE ROLE OF the Individual Member" will be spotlighted at a study group meeting Thursday, Jan. 21, at which AAUW goals and program will be discussed. Mrs. Gilbert Tierney, chairman, said the 8:15 p.m. meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. Jack Englick, 500 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights.

The Literature study group will meet at 8:15 p.m. Monday, Jan. 18, in the home of Mrs. R. M. Campbell, 802 Bonnie Brook Drive, Prospect Heights. Mrs. Thomas Wittkoff will lead a discussion of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy."

Physician, Congo Missionary Head Woman's Club Programs

A missionary from the Congo and a physician teaching aviation physiology and first aid courses to stewardesses will headline two study group meetings of Arlington Heights Woman's Club during the next two weeks.

The first meeting, being held at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 21, by the International Relations Study Group will take place in the home of Mrs. Frank Broniarczyk, 331 S. Phelps, Arlington Heights, with Dr. H. Wilbert Norton speaking on "Congo, Past and Present."

Dr. Norton and his family lived for seven years as missionaries among the Ngbaka tribespeople of the Congo-Ubangi District of the Congo Republic.

Dr. Norton is currently taking sabbatical studies in a post-doctoral missions program at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago in preparation for assuming the chair of missions and church history in the Graduate School of Wheaton College next September.

DR. H. WILBERT NORTON

SINCE returning from Africa, Dr. Norton has been working with college and university students interested in the overseas mission of the church. Joining the faculty of Trinity College and Evangelical Divinity School in 1950, he was appointed president in 1957, serving until 1964.

Dr. Norton has recently participated in several radio panels on the current Congo crisis. He was one of the speakers at the seventh triennial international student missionary convention sponsored by the Intervarsity Christian Fellowship at the University of Illinois between the holidays. The convention was attended by 7,500 students from every state in the union and most of the provinces of Canada. He is treasurer of the board of directors of Intervarsity.

DR. NORTON will illustrate his lecture with native materials from the Congo, pointing up the problems facing a nation emerging from the stone age and entering the society of nations in the atomic age.

He holds the doctorate in theology from Northern Baptist Theological Seminary while his seminary studies were taken in the Graduate School of Columbia Bible College, Columbia, S. C., following his under-graduate work at Wheaton College where he majored in history.

THE SECOND scheduled program is that of the American Home Study Group which will be held at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27, in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association. Dr. Edward J. Havlik, regional medical director for United Air Lines, has chosen "Pulse of Life" as his theme for this meeting.

DR. EDWARD J. HAVLIK

"Because of the importance of and the wide publicity given to the life saving value of mouth to mouth respiration and external cardiac massage, many people are eager to learn how to do these emergency procedures," commented Mrs. C. Scoggins, a member of the American Home Committee. She added, "Many people die needlessly every year who might be saved if someone around them knew the simple basic principles which are so effective if properly performed. The lecture will be about one hour long and will be basic in its presentation so that anyone can become expert in these resuscitative techniques."

RESERVATIONS for the lecture may be made by Woman's Club members and their guests by phoning Mrs. Scoggins at CL 5-7055 or Mrs. R. McAllister at CL 5-6749.

Members attending the winter meeting of Seventh District, Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs at St. Timothy's Church in Chicago Jan. 13 included Mrs. Z. R. Rogozinski, Mrs. Steven Jurco, Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson, Mrs. Raymond Thill, Mrs. Donald Knox, Mrs. Ben Carns, Mrs. Laddie Poduska and Mrs. Albert C. Peters. (S

Dorcas Aid to Mark 43rd Birthday at Dinner Party

The Dorcas Aid of St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, will be celebrating the 43rd anniversary of its founding with a dinner at Ignatz and Mary's Grove Inn, Northbrook.

Organized on Dec. 4, 1921, the society has grown from a charter membership of 18 to its current roll of 82 ladies. Four of the charter members are presently members of the organization. They include: Miss Minna Clausing, Mrs. Edwin Jannusch, Mrs. William Lussman and Mrs. William Wilke.

Purposes of the Dorcas Aid include promoting and supporting the work of St. Peter Lutheran Church both by soliciting new members for the church and rendering financial support to various church, Sunday School and community projects. The Aid also assists the Missouri Synod with its support of various missions and institutions of charity. An ever-present goal of the Aid is to promote the general religious knowledge of its members. All interested ladies in St. Peter congregation are eligible for membership and invited to attend the meetings, held the second Tuesday of each month.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT is rendered through various fund-raising projects conducted throughout the year. In the past, these have included: a rummage sale, bazaar and luncheon, and serving the local Lions Club. The ladies have also served at dinners commemorating special occasions within the church congregation.

Present officers of the Dorcas Aid are: Mrs. Henry Leark, president; Mrs. Roland Bolte, first vice president; Mrs. Calvin Maurer, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph Meyer, secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Lashin, treasurer. (S

Pinocchio Players To Present 'Cinderella' at St. Viator's

Pinocchio Players Guild will present "Cinderella" in a live performance here Saturday afternoon, Jan. 16, at 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m., on the stage of St. Viator High School's auditorium. The first of two children's plays by the professional touring company is sponsored by the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

This original version of "Cinderella" was written especially for the guild, which specializes in living theatre for the 6 to 12 age group, by Loyd Brady," commented Mrs. Harry Krol, chairman of the play. "The story line is perfectly preserved, but action is added to hold the children's interest," she added.

Tickets for "Cinderella" may be obtained from any Junior Women's Club member, or parents in Arlington Heights may call these numbers: northside, CL 5-3675, southside, CL 5-3673, eastside, 392-1774, or westside, CL 3-2623.

Local philanthropies and Illinois Federation of Women's Club state projects, such as scholarships for teachers of exceptional children and the Brain Research Foundation, will benefit from proceeds Arlington Juniors earn from the sale of play tickets.

ROSEMARY THURBER Sauers, daughter of the late James Thurber, designed the settings for "Cinderella," and she will also create one of the stepsisters.

The other stepsister will be portrayed by JoAnne Craig, formerly a featured dancer at the Diamond Horseshoe in New York, and veteran of the national company of "Oklahoma," where she took the part of Ado Annie.

Carmencita McDonald, who created the part of Anybodys in the Brush Hill Music Theatre production of "West Side Story," will take the title role in "Cinderella."

According to Mrs. Krol, "the Pinocchio Players Guild is one of the Chicago area's best known professional troupes." A second play will be presented by the Guild on March 20, which will be "Rapunzel."

NOW IN ITS sixth year, the Guild was organized by two couples, Loyd and Marie Brady, and Fred and Rosemary Thurber Sauers. Mrs. Brady directs and acts; other members of the Guild write the plays, using classic story lines, design and build the sets, and attend to the other chores required by trouping nearly every weekend to a wide variety of stages and communities within 150 miles of Chicago.

Mrs. Brady is a graduate of Goodman Theatre, drama school of the Chicago Art Institute, where she studied under the founder of the children's theatre movement in this country, the late Charlotte Chorpenning. Since graduation Mrs. Brady has appeared in all of the Chicago stock theatres, in educational and industrial films, and on television.

All Guild scripts are written by Loyd Brady, formerly an Associated Press staffer and writer for Encyclopedia Britannica Films, with special reference to the needs of the 7-12 age group. (S

REVIEWING THE STORY of "Cinderella" for Mary Beth Heine and Donna and Greg Krol is Mrs. Harry Krol, who is chairman of the Pinocchio Players live performance of the fairy tale being presented Saturday in St. Viator's High School. Scheduled for 1:30 and 3:30 p. m., the performances are sponsored by Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club.

Cook's Chicken, Salad are 'Calculated Risks'

Recipes Published In Auxiliary Book

by LOIS SEILER

A dinner that can wait — casseroles are surely a cook's best friend! This is especially true when the dish is easy, yet excitingly different to serve.

And so it is with Mrs. Richard Revnes' elegant chicken and avocado casserole which is featured in the "Under Cover" (casserole) section of the "Calculated Risks" cook book.

As ways and means chairman of the Northwest Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Revnes and her committee worked diligently collecting, selecting and testing recipes for the auxiliary's cook book over a period of two years. The interesting assortment of excellent recipes featured in this book, coupled with clever illustrations and introductory comments, is proof that their venture was successful, indeed.

"Proof of its success will be in its sale," commented Mrs. Revnes, "and we are already encouraged by the enthusiastic response."

Proceeds from the sale of this book will go towards the auxiliary's pledge of $100,000 to the hospital, and the small risk of $2.50 (the cost of the book) is calculated to give homemakers and their families an incalcuable amount of eating pleasure.

INTERESTED in cooking as well as auxiliary work, Mrs. Revnes was naturally enthusiastic about this project, and enjoyed testing many of the cook book's recipes.

Her own chicken and avocado casserole has withstood the test of time, and is a recipe which she has enjoyed serving on many occasions, for either luncheons or buffet suppers. It combines chicken and mushrooms in a rich cream sauce which is flavored with grated cheese and herbs.

Verne Revnes calls this a "mystery dish" because guests are puzzled by the flavor of the avocado which is baked on top of this casserole. Just before serving, it is topped with a sprinkling of toasted almonds. Wild rice and a tossed salad with Green Goddess dressing are appropriate accompaniments for this savory dish.

MRS. REVNES' delicious Green Goddess dressing is featured in the "Mix and Match" section of "Calculated Risks." It combines mayonnaise, sour cream and tarragon vinegar with minced parsley, scallions and garlic. Dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce and anchovy paste lend additional flavor.

This is an exotic dressing to serve over salad greens, and the addition of shrimp makes this an exceptional luncheon salad.

In addition to her fund-raising activities for the auxiliary, Mrs. Revnes, the busy mother of three, works one day each week as a volunteer in the X-ray department at the hospital.

The Revnes family lives at 414 S. Na-Wa-Ta in Mount Prospect. Their children are: Barbara, 15, a sophomore at Sacred Heart High School; Diane, 13, an eighth grader, and Michael, 9, who is in fourth grade at St. Raymond's.

CHICKEN AND AVOCADO CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup light cream
½ cup grated sharp cheese
½ teaspoon salt
Pinch of rosemary
Pinch of basil
Dash of hot pepper sauce
2 cups diced chicken
½ pound sliced mushrooms
Salt and pepper
2 ripe avocados, diced
½ cup toasted, slivered almonds

In a saucepan, melt the butter; blend in flour. Stir in chicken stock and cream, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cheese, herbs and hot pepper sauce.

In the bottom of a casserole place the chicken and mushrooms which have been sauteed in a little butter. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Pour the sauce over the mixture and bake, covered, for 25 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Remove casserole from oven, add the diced avocado and return to oven. Cook, covered, for 10 to 15 minutes, until acocado is warmed through. Just before serving, sprinkle top with toasted almonds. Serves 6.

GREEN GODDESS DRESSING

1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon anchovy paste
3 tablespoons tarrangon vinegar
3 tablespoons minced scallions
½ cup minced parsley (dry)
1 cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon black pepper.

Mix the ingredients together thoroughly and serve over salad greens. Adding shrimp, this makes an elegant luncheon salad. (SH

Meat for Freezing

When you prepare meat for freezing, remove the meat market wrapping, and wrap meat closely in moisture-vapor-proof material.

The store wrap is not intended for freezing and probably is not moisture-vapor proof.

Franks, Kraut

Jan. 24 is the beginning of National Kraut and Frankfurter Week. Try to serve this old-time, tasty pair to your family at least once during this week.

Cut Food Budget With Budget Cuts

The keynote for meals in most homes during January is economy. As the Christmas bills arrive, the food budget feels the squeeze.

Take heart, for thrifty meat cuts can come to your aid. This doesn't mean drab meals either. Because many economy meats are braised, exciting flavor blends can result.

SPANISH STEAK is an example. Budget beef arm or blade steak slowly cooks with tomatoes and onion slices to yield a zesty dish adapted from the cookery of Spain.

Arm and blade steaks, like arm and blade pot-roasts, are braised to be deliciously tender when served.

SPANISH STEAK

1 arm or blade steak, cut 1½ inches thick
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 large onion, sliced
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
Flour for gravy

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings.

Add onion and tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 2 hours or until tender. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy.

Additional seasoning may be added, if desired. Four to six servings.

Pot-Roasts

You can cook pot-roasts and other braised meat dishes and stews in the oven as well as on top of the range. If you wish, first brown the meat on top of the range.

Then place in an oven-proof baking dish and cover tightly. Cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F.).

The time will be approximately the same as that recommended for top-of-the-range cookery.

Meat Loaves Brown Meat

You can vary the texture and flavor of meat loaves several different ways. Toasted or plain bread (white, whole wheat or rye), cracker crumbs, rolled oats, rice and other cereals are some ideas.

Vegetables and fruits such as grated potatoes or carrots, peas and grated apple can be added, too.

Remember to keep the amount of these foods relatively small so that you taste the good meat flavor.

Ward Cooper Takes Bride Amid Holiday Decor

Two baskets of white glads, snaps and pompons, each with pine boughs rising to form a single arch, decorated Faith United Presbyterian Church in Monmouth, Ill. Jan. 2 for the marriage of Mary Elizabeth Bowen and Ward Stephen Cooper. Also part of the holiday decor were the gowns with ruby red velvet skirts and pink peau de soie bodices, worn by the bride's attendants.

The bride, daughter of the Robert Bowens of Monmouth, was given in marriage by her father during the 2:30, double ring service. The groom is the son of Mount Prospect residents, the Richard C. Coopers, 221 S. George St., and after Jan. 15 he and his bride will be making their home in Madison, Wis. where he is continuing his studies of languages and majoring in French at the University of Wisconsin.

A floor-length gown with re-embroidered lace empire bodice, florentine neckline, eased skirt of slipper satin, elbow-length sleeves and chapel train was chosen by the bride. Her headpiece was a pill box of the lace with top bow and seed pearls, which held her silk illusion veil, and her flowers were a crescent of phalaenopsis with white velvet streamers. Completing her costume was a pearl necklace surrounded by tiny diamonds, a gift from her bridegroom.

MAID OF HONOR was the bride's roommate from Illinois State Normal University at Bloomington, Miss Karen Walker of Park Ridge. Bridesmaids were sisters of the bridal couple, Jane Bowen and Jane Cooper.

Their gowns were fashioned with bell-shaped floor-length skirts and their headpieces were pink pill boxes. Pale pink fuji mums arranged in crescents with varied foliage made up their bouquets.

Carrying out the color scheme of red, white and pink were the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Bowen in a raspberry red 3-piece double knit suit with pale pink sweetheart roses and Mrs. Cooper in an off-white wool with corsage of red sweetheart roses. The bride, too, chose red, a claret red ensemble for going-away costume.

JON CRABBE of Arlington Heights served as the groom's best man and the bride's brother, David, served as groomsman. Ushers were Richard Lamoreaux and Roger Moore of Monmouth, friends of the bride's family.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

Besides Normal, the bride also studied at the Ray Vogue School of Merchandising in Chicago and until her marriage was employed as a fashion merchandiser for Montgomery Ward at Randhurst.

Waa-Mu Film, Next On Juniors' Slate

"What is a Waa-Mu?" For members not conversant with the traditions of Northwestern University, this question will be answered at the coming meeting of the Palatine Junior Woman's Club. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 19, at the Gray Sanborn School, 101 Oak St., Palatine, at 8 p.m.

Featured in the entertainment will be a color and sound film depicting skits and musical numbers from several of the Waa-Mu shows, with selections from the most recent production.

With a lengthy tradition now recorded, students of Northwestern will present their next production in May. History of the entertainment began in 1929 when two students, Joe W. Miller and the late Darrell Ware, decided that the university could support an annual, original, co-ed musical production, jointly sponsored by the organizations of the Women's Athletic Association and members of the discontinued Men's Union.

THE PRODUCTION was heralded in 1961 the Associated Press as the "best college show in America," and by "Life" magazine as America's "most lavish college show." Joe Miller has directed every Waa-Mu show since its inception. He is now the associate dean of students and director of student affairs.

The program for the evening is under the auspices of the program committee chairman, Mrs. Sam LaSusa, with the Waa-Mu portion being presented by Mrs. Robert Green, a Northwestern alumnus.

Following the showing of the film, the Juniors will partake of "Serendipity," the finding of unexpected treasures, with an exchange of gift-wrapped white elephant items.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Ray Hammerl, chairman, Mrs. Al Lietz, Mrs. Robert Amster, Mrs. Charles McNerney, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. Charles Buenzow, Mrs. Richard Kole and Mrs. Dean Greener. (S

Prospect Teacher Acquires New Name Over Holidays

Since their return to classes following Christmas vacation, students at Prospect High School are getting used to a new name for their business education teacher, for on Dec. 26 she became the bride of Frank Walter Rhoback. The bride is the former Mary Jeanette Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hendricks of Warsaw, Ill. and her bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ray Johnson of Chicago.

The newlyweds are now residing in Mount Prospect, midway between the bride's teaching position and the groom's work as laboratory technician for Morton Salt Co. in Elk Grove Village.

Their marriage took place in Warsaw's Presbyterian Church with Rev. Everett M. Lee of Carmi officiating. The couple repeated their vows before an altar decorated with white poinsettias and candelabra entwined with evergreens and white satin bows. White tapers and evergreens were in each window and pews were marked with white satin bows. Also part of the decorations was the Christmas tree of the church.

FOR HER MARRIAGE the bride chose a gown of chapel peau and chantilly lace over bridal net and silk. The sleeves were long and the belled skirt featured graduated tiers edged in scalloped lace. A detachable court train, edged in lace, fell just below her shoulders, and her elbow-length veil fell from a lace petal-flower jeweled half-hat trimmed with pearls. A cascade of red roses and ivy completed her ensemble.

Miss Carolyn Hendricks was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Millie Sue Heaton of Macomb and Miss Linda Serven of Avon. All wore identical dresses of Christmas red velvet with belled floor-length skirts accented in back with butterfly bows. They also wore matching bow headpieces with double bouffant veils and carried cascades of white roses.

MRS. FRANK RHOBACK

The bride's sister, June, was junior bridesmaid and wore a white peau, floor-length gown with red velvet sash. Her headdress and bouquet matched those of the older attendants. Cousin of the bride, Miss LeAnne Hageman of Wayland served as flower girl, wearing a dress to match the junior bridesmaid's gown, and carrying a lace basket and red flower petals.

ALSO IN THE wedding party was a ring bearer, Lawrence Hageman, cousin of the bride, who carried a heart-shaped pillow trimmed in lace and ribbon.

Best man to the groom was Matthew Marcisz, and groomsmen were Edward Andrich and Patrick McGovern, all of Chicago. The bride's brother, Robert Hendricks, and Ronald Hartman of Warsaw were ushers.

Following the 6:30 double ring service, a reception was held in the church hall.

The bride was graduated from Western Illinois University in Macomb in 1964 where she became affiliated with Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Her bridegroom also studied at Western Illinois.

SAN CLEMENTE, CALIF. is the new home for newlyweds Mr and Mrs. Griffith Francis Pritchard. The bride, the former Patricia Ann Mackland, is the daughter of Mrs. John Mackland of Des Plaines. The groom, son of the Owen J. Pritchards of Prospect Heights, was graduated from Arlington High School, Grinnell College and Loyola School of Dental Surgery. He is now interning in the Navy at Camp Pendleton. (Jenart Studio

Juniors Go Blonde, Learn Make-up Art

Members of the Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club happily tried on wigs to find out if blondes really do have more fun after the program at their Jan. 4 general meeting. Hazel Schreiner, wig and cosmetic consultant for John and Louis Hair Styling Salon of Glen Ellyn, was assisted by Helen Bauman, cosmetic consultant.

Using club member Mrs. Thomas Fox as a model, they held everyone's attention while demonstrating basic facial care, how to apply make-up and proper make-up shades. Members learned to apply white lipstick under their regular shade and to accent the shape of the lips using a lipliner. "The use of wigs for fashion purposes is fast growing in popularity and when properly fitted can have stunning results," the demonstrators told the ladies.

During the regular business meeting the club elected members to serve on the nominating committee to select a slate of candidates to replace outgoing officers and directors.

Sliced Meat Loaf Reveals 'Stuffing' of Cooked Eggs

...emaker's faith-
The busy ho... loaf has ful standby, n... everyday changed from it... ver-role. In this mo... hens sion from the Lipton ... con-
it has taken on company ...
ners.

Hidden inside its meaty coat ... are four hard-cooked eggs that ... provide surprise and interest ... as the loaf is sliced, and add fla-vor, texture and food value, too. But the wonderful surprise for-tive hostess cook is the speed with which she can mix up and make this elegant dish.

IN ADDITION TO chopped beef, breadcrumbs, catsup and eggs the recipe calls for an en-velope of onion soup mix. This magical ingredient acts as a flavoring and seasoning agent and cuts down on steps in the preparation. The result is a meat loaf that's extra-hearty, yet moist and easy to slice.

The meat loaf is served with a full-bodied gravy made from Lipton's Mushroom Soup Mix.

SURPRISE MEAT LOAF

1 (1 3/8 oz.) envelope onion soup mix
2 eggs
1/3 cup catsup
¾ cup warm water
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
2 pounds chuck, chopped
4 hard-cooked eggs

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In large bowl combine onion soup mix, eggs, catsup and water, then add bread crumbs and meat and mix well.

Spread half of mixture on bot-tom of 9 by 5 ... 3-inch loaf pan. ... to end, pres-Arrange eggs e... enter of meat ing lightly into ... complete-mixture. Cover egg... ...ixture. ...ly with remaining meat ... until Bake about 50 minutes, or ... done.

Lift out to serving platter and slice. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MUSHROOM GRAVY

In one quart saucepan, empty 1 envelope cream of mushroom soup. Mix and gradually stir in two cups water (or use part drippings). Heat and stir until gravy thickens.

Makes about two cups gravy.

HARD-COOKED EGGS are set into the center of this hearty meat loaf to provide extra food value and a surprise garnish as the loaf is sliced.

Spanish Snack

A favorite hors d' oeuvres in Spain consists of hard-boiled eggs with fresh mayonnaise and garnished with capers.

To give commercial mayonnaise a freshly-made flavor, simply add two tablespoons olive oil to each half cup of mayonnaise.

This makes a superb sauce for any kind of seafood. Sprinkle minced parsley over the top, if desired.

Meat for Reducing

For all you who have resolved to lose weight, remember that lean meat is important in a reducing diet.

Meat leaves you with a feeling of satisfaction and prevents hunger pangs for a longer period than other foods.

It provides necessary high quality protein, vitamins and minerals. About 30 meat cuts are low in fat and contain less than 250 calories per 3½ ounce serving.

Sauces Enhance Delicate Flavor of Fried Oysters

Oysters are now available during the winter months all over the country, thanks to modern refrigeration and distribution methods. If, however, you can't get them from your local fish market or store, try one of several good brands of frozen or canned oysters.

For your next fish dinner, fry them to a delicate brown in a light, zesty batter seasoned with Tabasco. Recipes are also given here for a piquant Mustard Tabasco Sauce and a classic Tomato Oyster Sauce that will go well with other types of seafood.

FRIED OYSTERS IN TABASCO BATTER

2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs or cracker crumbs

Drain and pick over oysters. Beat eggs with milk, salt and Tabasco. Dip oysters in egg mixture, then roll in crumbs*. Drop into hot fat heated to 375 degrees F. and Cook 2 minutes until golden brown.

Or, cook in a skillet in shallow hot fat, allowing 2 to 3 minutes to brown each side. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve immediately with Mustard Tabasco Sauce or Tomato Oyster Sauce.

Yield: 6 servings.

*If coated oysters are placed in refrigerator about ½ hour before frying, less coating will be lost during frying.

OYSTERS, EITHER FRESH, frozen or canned, are delicious fried in a Tabasco batter and served with special mustard and tomato oyster sauces.

MUSTARD TABASCO SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons dry mustard
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ teaspoon Tabasco

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat; blend in flour, dry mustard, sugar and salt. Stir in water and vinegar and return to medium heat. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.

Remove from heat; stir in mayonnaise and Tabasco. Serve hot with fried oysters.

TOMATO OYSTER SAUCE

2/3 cup catsup
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine all ingredients. Serve with fried oysters.

Yield: About 1 cup.

Perfect Pecan Pie

If you want to enjoy pecan pie to the fullest, then serve it after a light meal. It is luscious and rich and one of the most impressive desserts you can set before a guest. Given here is a basic recipe with directions for date and fudge nut variations.

DELUXE PECAN PIE

1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup Karo all purpose syrup
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted margarine

Mix eggs, syrup, sugar, vanilla, salt and margarine. Stir in pecans. Pour into pastry shell. Bake in 400 degrees (hot) oven 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees (moderate) and bake an additional 30 to 35 minutes. (Filling should be slightly less set in center than around edge.)

Deluxe Date Nut Pie: Follow recipe for deluxe pecan pie, substituting ½ cup walnut halves for pecans and adding 1 cup finely chopped dates with nuts.

Fudge Nut Pie: Follow recipe for deluxe pecan pie melting 2 squares unsweetened chocolate with margarine and reducing eggs to 2. (SH

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef short ribs.

Q. Where do they come from? How are they identified?

A. They come from the ends of the ribs. They can be identified by their square look and the alternating layers of fat and lean of which they are composed.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. By braising. This means browning them on all sides in their own fat. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour. Pour off the drippings. Season with salt and pepper and other seasonings, if desired.

Add a small amount of water or other liquid. Cover tightly and continue cooking until tender, approximately 1 hour.

Q. What other foods can be cooked with short ribs?

A. Many foods harmonize with this beef cut. Vegetables like carrots, green beans, potatoes and onion are very popular.

Dried fruits may be cooked with them, and so may dumplings. A barbecue or spicy tomato sauce adds zippy flavor to beef short ribs.

Homemade Soup Is Worthwhile

On some particularly blustery winter day there's nothing better than having a kettle of soup simmering on the range.

It's true, not too many homemakers will take the time to make their own soup these days. However, every once in a while, it's just too good to resist.

AS THE MEAT, or meaty bone for the base of the soup, meat experts advise cross-cut beef shanks which comes from the forequarter. Soup flavor and color are intensified when meat is browned before simmering.

TIP-TOP VEGETABLE SOUP

3 to 4 pounds cross-cut beef shanks
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 quarts cold water
1 teaspoon salt
1 small onion, chopped
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
6 sprigs parsley
2 cups coarsely shredded cabbage
5 to 6 carrots, sliced
2 cups cut fresh green beans
1 cup diced potato
½ cup chopped celery
¾ cup rice or barley

Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Cover with water and bring slowly to a boil. Add salt and onion. Simmer 2 hours.

Add vegetables and rice or barley. Simmer 1 hour longer. Remove meat from bone and serve small pieces in soup.

Eight to 10 servings. (SH

The Way We See It

Signs of Revival For Mass Transit

Mass transportation for many years has been a sick part of the economy, but some signs of revival are now being seen, at least in some areas.

In the Chicago area it is doubtful that many more expressways will be cut through the city. In addition to the basic cost of acquiring right of way and constructing the expressways there is the formidable cost of removing thousands of acres of property from the tax rolls, plus the great cost of providing parking at the downtown end.

All of this has made expressways such an expensive method of transportation that we can expect a turn towards rails for moving the ever-increasing population of the metropolitan area.

These considerations give added interest to the recent statement by commuter railroads on Chicago-area transportation and the announcement by CTA of its plan for applying for Federal Urban Transportation Act funds.

The CTA intends to ask $30 million of federal money to help put rapid transit lines in the median strip of the Kennedy Expressway between Central and California Avenues.

It makes good sense to use the expensive expressway right-of-way for rapid transit, from the points of view of CTA efficiency and relieving expressway congestion. Furthermore, E. Wilson Campbell, director of the Chicago Area Transportation Stury, reports that such a project fits into the plan which resulted from his organization's extensive study.

The commuter railroads reportedly do not oppose this proposed CTA line (because it will not go beyond Central Avenue) but the emphasis in their recent statement is elsewhere.

The railroads argue convincingly that since the combined public and private mass transportation resources are scarcely able to meet the needs, any move to create competing facilities would be folly.

They oppose, for example, suggestions that the CTA establish park-and-ride facilities at the edge of the city.

They favor, above all, efforts to coordinate their facilities with the CTA's, particularly in the Loop.

As an example of successful cooperation, they cite shuttle bus service inaugurated by the CTA four months ago from the North Western and Union stations. According to the railroads "It marked the first joint step taken by the CTA and the railroads west of the river within the past 10 years aimed toward improvement and coordination to attract growing numbers of mass transit riders."

Other suggested projects are elimination of "L" structures and their replacement by subways to connect with the rail stations west of the river, as well as more Loop buses operating in express lanes, liberalized transfer privileges, fare and joint ticket experiments, and more conveniences for pedestrians in the Loop.

Greater cooperation between transportation agencies seems certain to benefit the public. It also seems to be the course of action which will do most to encourage state government to assist in the solution of the complex transportation problems of the metropolitan area.

Cutting School Costs

Schools in suburban New York are considering following a plan adopted in California to cut the costs of school construction.

In California, 13 school districts stretching from San Francisco to San Diego are building 22 schools simultaneously, at an estimated savings of $2 million.

Key to the plan is prefabrication of identical construction components constituting about 50 per cent of the total number of construction parts in each school building.

But the schools will not be "look-alikes." Exterior materials, foundations, and specialized components are not standardized. Each school district hires its own architect, who can arrange the prefabricated structural components in any way he pleases.

The California experiment is a project of the Ford Foundation's Educational Facilities Laboratories.

It is almost as sure as death and taxes that school building activity will continue at a high rate in northeastern Illinois.

Much might be gained for the taxpayer if some Illinois school agency undertook to investigate this plan for a school construction pool. Perhaps this could be a project of the Tri-County Association of School Boards. Perhaps a report could be developed by the office of the Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

Certainly the idea seems to have enough merit to demand prompt investigation.

Building Support

In a letter on the Fence Post Page, Mrs. Thomas W. Novotny disagrees with our editorial opinion of Jan. 7 that the issues in township elections do not lend themselves to partisan positions and that the time and energy involved might be applied better by the Republican Party in an arena containing more political significance.

"Which arena would you suggest for us?" Mrs. Novotny asks.

In the preceding paragraph of her letter, she observes, "Under current circumstances Republicans control no part of the city of Chicago, or most of Cook County, the state of Illinois, or the Federal government." We think she has answered her question herself.

Republican representatives at all these levels of government are striving to develop stronger party positions on important political issues. Sen. Dirksen, Cong. Rumsfeld, and State Sen. Arrington can use all the help their party can give them.

Building support for the programs they are presenting seems to us a significant way of strengthening the two-party system at the present time.

World Waits To Be Seen

Are you making full use of your senses? Many people see, but they don't observe. They move through life as in a waking dream. They have eyes, but they do not take note.

Our eyes often see no more of objects than is necessary to avoid collision — they operate as if fixed on a radar screen.

The world awaits us — it is here to be seen and enjoyed — and we are missing so much.

A first step in recovering the true use of our sense of sight is to regain by effort something of the immediacy and innocence of the eye of a child.

FOR AN EYE opener, take your child for a hike around the block or through a park. Now you may be treated to blades of grass, buds on trees, butterflies as well as ants—or, given another season, icicles, silvered trees and wee cold birds.

When was the last time you noticed the patterns frost makes on leaves or studied the clouds in the sky or enjoyed the flames in a fireplace?

Have you looked closely at your companions lately and observed how light and shadow play on their faces and give modelling to their features? Have you sat in a room while it grew dark?

IT TAKES a conscious effort to learn to observe, but by training and practice it can be accomplished.

A keen power of observation is a photographer's chief asset. By its use he, like the poet casts new light on the familiar and commonplace. He, like the poet and the painter, can startle the viewer of his work into a new way of thinking about the ordinary or the sublime.

GRIEGER

His art evokes emotions and moods as does the musician's —but in a quite different manner.

Americans scan pictures at a rising rate—thousands are published each week—but how many do they actually see? Many pictures are worth more than a passing glance.

Color reproduction has improved so tremendously that many pictures are a joy to behold for the color alone. Non-color photographs can be enjoyed for their shimmering grays, their rich blacks and sparkling highlights.

OF COURSE, the eye is always the eye of a human being and what is represented, the subject mattter of the picture, stirs the viewer's imagination. The person's past experiences and prejudices come into play, affecting his reaction.

Many people fail to discipline themselves to enjoy the exquisite pleasures of sight. To see beneath or beyond the apparent is a refined exercise of the sense—and worth the time and diligence it entails.

Some feel, in looking at a photograph or a painting, that they must know exactly what is represented. This sturdy attitude unfortunately detracts from the delight in shape, line and color, which should be enjoyed for themselves.

HOWEVER, the camera's basic value will probably continue to lie in depicting what is real.

The camera, in a fraction of a second, can capture the significance of an event as well as a precise organization of forms which give that event its proper expression. This is a major contribution.

The great French photographer Cartier-Bresson called this important instant "the decisive moment." Other photographers have named it the dynamic or unguarded moment.

THIS MAGICAL moment is most frequently noted when there is a physical tension recorded. It may be when the subject makes a gesture or a revealing change of expression.

It is very difficult to capture these peak instants on film. This is one of the reasons photojournalists take so many pictures of what appears to be the same event. They are not wasting film but are seeking the most true and evocative picture.

One needs a camera to make permanent records of those fleeting moments of significance. The same images may be stored in the memory by perception alone.

The Juvenile Issue

Publicizing Offenders

by JIM CARNS
Staff Writer

Opinion was divided on all quarters this week as police authorities, housewives and teenagers of the northwest suburbs were questioned on a problem which lies behind the news pages of nearly every week's issues of Paddock Publications:

"Should names of juvenile offenders be published in the local newspaper?"

In no group did all those questioned share a common opinion. Area police chiefs closest to the problem, while answering neither yes nor no definitely, ranged greatly between the two extremes in their comments.

CARNS

The present Paddock Publications policy excludes names of male offenders under 17 and female offenders under 18 in reporting of all charges other than those of a serious or felony nature.

THE POLICY follows legal age distinction between those persons referred to family court and those who must appear in criminal court to answer charges as adults.

Of all housewives interviewed, more than half answered that names of juvenile offenders should be published even when charges were minor; but the majority with this opinion tempered it by adding that first offenders should be spared publicity.

"I think the publicity is a good idea," said Mrs. John M. Feeley, 21 Audrey Lane, Mount Prospect. "I think it might get them (juveniles) ready for adult life and . . . make them take their responsibility a little more seriously as to their place in society."

But Mrs. Feeley added that first offenders should probably be exempted and given another chance.

DRAWING A similar conclusion, Mrs. Edmond M. Nagle Jr., 310 Stratford Lane, Streamwood, reasoned that "Too many of our young people today think crime is a joke they can get by with."

But on the other side of the question, Mrs. Jerome D. Reinke, 781 N. Dennis, Wheeling, argued that publication of juveniles' names would solve nothing. "I think some of them do a lot of what they do just to get their names in the paper," she said. "I don't think the repeated offenders care. Sometimes parrents are at fault, but embarrassment doesn't seem to solve anything."

She was joined by Mrs. James S. Howe, 843 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, who said simply, "It is better to help them (juvenile offenders) along than do the opposite. I think they should be punished, yes, but I think their names should be withheld even if they are repeated offenders."

STANDING IN the middle was Mrs. Clifford E. Lamb, 5N273 Andrene, Itasca, who commented, "I can see where it's sort of a touchy subject. Maybe embarrassment would help, but it probably depends on whether the publicity is fair or prejudiced."

She added her feeling that the whole matter would be forgotten quickly if reporting a youngster would not be [illegible] in society.

Police chiefs interviewed agreed unanimously that the name of a first offender juvenile brought in on a minor charge should be withheld.

CHIEF ROBERT Centner of Palatine said that, in his opinion, juveniles "are still in the learning stage and trying to define right from wrong." He contended that, on this basis, even names of repeated offenders on minor charges should be withheld.

SPEAK UP!

"But when you get into more serious felony crimes," Centner said, "that type of person would generally know right from wrong, and his name should be used."

"Otherwise," he continued, "we are trying to work with this boy through the youth commissions and family court and publicity could only hinder his progress."

CHIEF L. W. Calderwood, Arlington Heights, said that for many years he has opposed publication of names of juvenile offenders in any paper on the grounds that "it has done nothing to act as a deterrent to crime."

But he added that, in the case of felons or repeated offenders who show no signs of reform, the names should be used for their value as public information.

Chief Cy Campbell of Rolling Meadows agreed that "you're doing everything you can to keep a kid from getting in trouble again" in the case of first offenders, but that the second or third offenders should not be similarly sheltered.

Schaumburg's Chief Martin J. Conroy termed himself as "possibly in the old school of thought," and said he would not favor publication of names of juvenile offenders, if the crime lent itself to a station adjustment or family court settlement.

BUT HE ALSO said a repeated offender could change the situation.

"In all cases, what we're trying to do is straighten the kid out," Chief Conroy said. "If it's a felony, though, I feel differently about it. The names should be publicized to let other juveniles know."

Junior and senior high school students, themselves falling into the age bracket in question, rendered opinions similar to others questioned. But a minority felt that names should be published in all instances.

Typical of this group were Kathy Katovich and Ray Dix, both 16, who felt that public exposure could serve as both punishment and deterrent to future offenses.

BUT THE opposite and more prevalent attitude was expressed by Barbara Epsky: "If their names are published, a reputation will stay with them even if they reform, and could be really harmful."

Though many residents questioned indicated they would not be quoted on the topic, none said they did not have an opinion—and comments on the evil ways of the younger generation were noticeably absent.

Mrs. Howe of Arlington Heights capsuled many comments by saying, "I have all kinds of respect for our boys and girls. There are many more nice than bad."

Cummins Comments on . . .

A New Literary Career

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I had been told that Paul Powell (our new Illinois Secretary of State) eats, sleeps and dreams politics. So I had simply assumed that Mr. Powell had spent the weeks since his election victory hatching political schemes. How wrong I was! I learned today that Mr. Powell has been occupied with something far more constructive and dignified. He has been writing.

CUMMINS

Yes, here at the paper today we received the first batch of Mr. Powell's literary efforts. He is writing a weekly column, "Driving for Traffic Safety, by Paul Powell, Secretary of State."

An incorrigible cynic here in the office, when he saw the proofs of the columns, said, "Powell didn't write that himself. He probably hired some ghost writer to do it, then cut his signature on it to keep the name of Paul Powell before the public."

HOW THAT scoffing remark made my blood boil! That man doesn't know his Paul Powell. Maybe some other politicians would stoop to such deception, but not our new Secretary of State.

Why, right now I can see Paul Powell at work on his first column.

He is seated at the table in the kitchen of his humble frame home in Vienna, Ill. The table is covered with red checked oil cloth. "Mother" Powell is doing the supper dishes. A flickering kerosene lamp lights the scene.

Paul Powell, the stub of a pencil grasped tightly in his hand, is ready to write the first draft of his first column on the coarse pages of a Big 6 tablet.

He prints in bold letters at the top of the first page the title, "Correcting a Skid."

THEN FOR many long minutes his pencil is poised while the Powell brow is furrowed in thought about skids. Finally he moistens the tip of his pencil with his tongue, puts it (the pencil) to paper, and writes, "A skid sometimes ends in disaster . . . " And thus a literary career is born.

Some think Powell is setting too fast a literary pace for himself. "Correcting a Skid" has been followed in rapid fire order by "Winter Hazards at Railroad Crossings," "Clear Vision a Must for Safe Driving," "Lights On!" "Pedestrian Accident Victims," "Making a Turn Safely," "Tailgating," "Judging Distance," "Obstructing Traffic," "You Can Stay Out of Accidents If You Try," "Some Good Advice for Tourists" and "Slow Down When You See a School Bus."

"How much longer can this man keep it up?" I have been asked. My reply has been, "Paul Powell is brim full of the lore of safe driving; that is precisely why he offered himself to the voters of Illinois as their Secretary of State."

I PREDICT that Paul Powell will write 52 columns this year on traffic safety. But that will only warm him up. It is a little known fact, but nevertheless true, that as Secretary of State, Paul Powell is also State Librarian.

I expect that after a year on traffic safety, Mr. Powell will give that subject to an assistant and put his pen in the service of more serious scholarship.

I expect to see him discuss the authenticity of the Dead Sea Scrolls and things like that.

But as a man of the people, he will, I know, continue to publish his theses in the weekly papers and not restrict them to the journals of the learned societies, as some stuck - up State Librarian might do.

Asks Birch HQ Be Converted Into Hospital

In your editorial of Dec. 23, you say, "Birch Propaganda Must be Answered." You further state that it is important that their "statements and innuendos" be answered "promptly and vigorously."

To achieve that goal, you're going to have to step livelier for in the very same issue of your paper, two examples of such Birch-type propaganda appeared.

1. Frank Flick of Flick-Reedy Corp. of Bensenville could not even restrain his enthusiasm for far-right causes long enough to issue a non-partisan Christmas message. He had to use this occasion to put in a plug for the fulsome emanations of far-right propagandist Dan Smoot.

And who is Mr. Smoot? One of many right-wing commentators who have parlayed anti-Communist hysteria, extreme nationalism, and "kookism" (fluoridation of water is a communist plot!) into a well-paying business.

Smoot is for impeaching Chief Justice Warren, getting out of the United Nations, casting aside President Kennedy's test ban treaty, ending all foreign aid, and repealing the income tax! (The latter is a pet cause of Mr. Flick who is Illinois chairman for the rightist group working for such appeal.) Does all this sound familiar?

I trust that your firm resolve to combat the extremists extends even to answering your own advertisers. Or does it?

2. Mr. Edwin J. Kudalis of Mount Prospect, a frequent contributor to your "Fence Post" column, suggests we abolish the United Nations and use the U.N. buildings as a hospital.

May I offer a counter-proposal? Let's keep the U.N. and investigate the possibility of turning a certain building in Belmont, Mass. into a hospital. Considerable fumigation would be required but we might not even have to change tenants if the hospital be a mental one. Society. Small clinics might be Society. Small clincs might be opened in Glenview and Oak Park, sites of John Birch Society "libraries." A first-aid station for walking wounded might even be opened in Bensenville!

In your heart, Mr. Kudalis, you know I'm right!

Thinks GOP Has Already Revised Reward System

In regard to Bob Cummins' hilarious article "Need to Revise Reward," let me say that in some groups the reward system has already been revised.

Take the Republican party for example: Do the men who did not support the ticket get stripped of their privileges of power in the party? Certainly not! Only Democrats do that. The Republicans revere such men as men of honor. After all, we wouldn't want them to compromise their principles, would we?

The men who bore the brunt of an especially nasty battle—do they win the coveted trophy of party leadership? No, wrong again. For them we have banishment and obscurity.

And what prize goes to those few poor souls, such as Charles Halleck and Les Arends, who had the bad taste to support the whole ticket (after all, that's not done in really good Republican circles)? Well, we all know what they're getting.

So, Mr. Cummins, if you really want to revise the reward system, don't bother. Just join the Republican party.

Fire Department Praised for 'Wonderful Job'

We wish to commend the Mount Prospect Fire Department on doing a wonderful job of fighting a fire at our home on Dec. 23.

Although the second floor was gutted, the heroic efforts of Chief Edwin Haberkamp and his men saved the rest of our house.

They kept all damage to a minimum and even covered the holes upstairs with plastic before they left. We are grateful for their efforts.

I want to express my thanks to Arlington Heights firemen, inhalator squad and police who were so prompt in answering a call to my home Dec. 22. Their action saved my wife's life.

The father and brothers of Virginia Bookless, who died Dec. 20, want to thank the good people of Brickman Manor, South, for their many deeds of kindness to her children. There are so many to thank—some that we know and so many more that we do not know—and we do not want to relegate our expression of sincere gratitude to the personal columns.

Our widowed sister became seriously ill early in November and was admitted to Cook County Hospital. From that date on those good people took it upon themselves to care for the children. Each and every day they prepared and delivered food to the home. They stocked the shelves and clothed the children. We have learned that Mr. and Mrs. Sramek of Holly Court and Mr. and Mrs. Memott of Windsor Street were the "ring leaders" of this great undertaking.

Church groups, the VFW, and other organizations contributed to the welfare of the children. When God took Virginia, so many, many people came forward to take the children into their hearts and homes. Many, many more offered their services without reservation to the family.

Because of personal tragedies; the loss of husband, mother, and brother in less than three years, our sister turned her face from our Lord. Just shortly before her death she confessed again her complete faith in Him. The compassionate people of Brickman Manor and their Christian concern for her family caused her to understand again that He cares for all of us.

So you see, we must find a way to tell these people just how much each and everyone of them mean to us. I, for one, will never allow again to go unanswered the question: What is this world coming to? It is a good world; the people of Brickman Manor have made it so!

Will you please help us to thank them?

Thanks All Who Aided 'Operation Santa Claus'

Dear Sirs:

During December, 1964, "Operation Santa Claus" was launched in Schaumburg Township. Through the wonderful cooperation of community organizations and individuals in the township, an extra measure of Christmas was provided for ten families who found themselves in unfortunate circumstances.

I would like the opportunity to publicly thank the following groups who participated: VFW Auxiliary, Raymond Hartman post; Schaumburg Lions club; Hoffman Estates Woman's club; Schaumburg Junior Woman's club; Presbyterian Church of the Cross; Camp Fire Girls; Girl Scouts; Boy Scout Troop 94; Hoffman Estates Jaycees; fifth graders at Blackhawk School; Hoffman Estates Homeowners Association; Ray's Heating; Weathersfield merchants; neighbors on Hillcrest Boulevard, and Four Seasons nursery.

A special thank-you goes to Mrs. John C. Ward of the Schaumburg Juniors, who organized the effort and to Martin Cusack, who helped with distribution.

It is hoped that this project can be repeated this year, and, with long range planning, be expanded.

Feels Story On Crusade Was Inaccurate

We will not be renewing our subscription to Paddock Publications. We do not believe your publication is doing a satisfactory job of accurately reporting the local news.

Our reason for this statement is the coverage you gave the Billy Graham Crusade last summer. You did not accurately report on this meeting but rather made every effort to belittle the work of Billy Graham.

We believe that Billy Graham is very definitely trying to do the work of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, when he is going into all areas and preaching the gospel and when your publication attempts to ridicule this work we cannot subscribe to it.

We like and wanted coverage of the village news but we have doubts regarding the accuracy of your reporting of this when we consider your extreme bias in reporting on the crusade.

Of small consideration, but possibly of interest to you, we feel the columns you give to local neighborhood news is a waste of space and is not of interest to the general public.

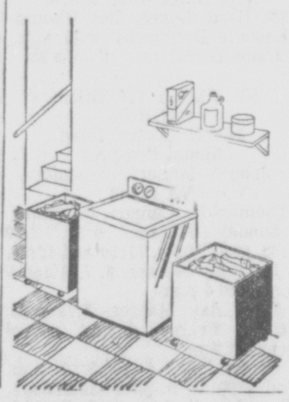
IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS

The modern washers-dryer is a boon to any homemaker. Sometimes, however if the laundry is located in the basement where there just isn't enough shelf and storage space convenient to the washer and dryer the homemaker wastes time trudging back and forth, upstairs and down, taking out a completed "load" and bringing down more soiled clothes.

A good solution to this problem is construction of two clothes hampers, one for soiled clothes, another for "clean" clothes. One on each side of the washer-dryer will save many steps each day. The homemaker can bring all the soiled clothes down at one time, transfer the washed and dried clothing to the other hamper when they are completed.

Rollers on the hampers will be a great help and facilitate moving of clothes from one location to another.



Believes Party Differences Apply to Township Government

Under the title "In the Wrong Arena," you editorialized that "the issues in a township election do not lend themselves to partisan positions" and that "no one has been able to develop a particular Republican approach or a particular Democratic approach" to the questions of "relief of the poor and maintenance of township roads."

For the eleventy - eleventh time, it seems necessary to cite some essential differences between the broad philosophies of the two major political parties which do apply to these problems.

First, however, let me be specific.

It seems to Republicans hereabouts that township government could take care of legitimate welfare problems more efficiently, more privately, and more sympathetically on the township level than on the county level. Incidentally, you said "poor"; Republicans prefer to say "those who need help."

Similarly, we think that a township road commissioner, whose neighbors can and do call him up if their roads aren't plowed out, is more likely to respond to local needs than a county government based in Chicago.

As a general statement of the differences between the parties, I will submit this:

Republicans believe in helping oneself and one's neighbor wherever possible, in a responsible fiscal policy, and in the theory that the closer government is to home, the more efficient and responsive to particular situations it is.

Democrats believe in all-powerful "big" government, in reducing human problems to file folders, and in spending the money and letting the future take care of itself.

What is needed for honest and reponsible township government is simply an interested citizenry. In this the Paddock papers can help.

Finally, we all are, I hope, committed to a system of two-party government, with its concomitant checks and balances.

Under current circumstances Republicans control no part of the city of Chicago, or most of Cook County, the state of Illinois, or the Federal government. We therefore look to local government as a means of developing candidates with experience to hold other public office.

You say that the time and energy involved in local elections could be better spent in an arena containing more political significance. Which arena would you suggest for us?

Or are you really suggesting that the Republican party get out of the political arena altogether and let the two-party system fall into disuse?

Wants Teachers To Explain Stand on Oath

Just in case you are still in the mood to answer things that "must be answered" here is one you might try.

According to an article in last week's paper The Illinois Education Association adopted among other major resolutions, the following:

—"Elimination of the Illinois Teachers Loyalty Oath either through persuasion of the state General Assembly or through a test court case if this fails."

Why do the teachers want to eliminate this oath? What is objectionable in it? As a parent, I feel that I have a right to know what this is all about. How about an answer to this one?

If you want to change the world, start small.

Realize, first off, that in the countries where the Peace Corps works, you have to start small.
Your job may be teaching a child in Nigeria the alphabet.
Maybe he can't use it now — but he will. And it's a start.
Or you may be helping Colombian farmers to start a farm marketing cooperative. And for the first time, they'll work together.
Maybe you'll help set up a health clinic in a Pakistan village.
It isn't going to solve all of the village's medical problems — but it, too, will be a start.
Whatever you do, it won't be easy. You'll have failures and frustrations. You can work for months — maybe even a year and rarely see results you're happy with.
But you'll be finding out things about yourself you can never find out anywhere else. By the end of your two years in the Peace Corps, you'll know how much you can give, as well as how much you can take.
And more important, to many of the people in 46 nations, you will have brought something they never knew was there: hope. If you're willing to take on the biggest dragons of them all: hunger, disease and illiteracy, start right now.

IF 1964 IS YOUR LAST YEAR, TRY A RETIREMENT CALENDAR

THE COMING of the New Year is the signal for a 12-month countdown by those who will be retiring next December 31st.

It is a time for a pre-retirement calendar.

Here is one, designed particularly for those who will be moving away with their pensions:

JANUARY — Get thorough health examinations for both man and wife in order to correct any ailments while still in the company's health insurance program. Buy—and plan to pay for before the salary stops—any expensive items such as furniture, car, and appliances that will be needed.

FEBRUARY—Start grooming a person of your choice to take over your job, if it's a key job (this can keep you a hero after you're gone). Take your vacation, and spend it all in the town where you plan to settle . . . just to condition yourself to the place and get acquainted.

MARCH—Start quietly tapering off on the job—there's no sense in getting ulcers now—and refrain from advertising the fact that your retirement is near. Go to the nearest Social Security office and determine what your benefits will be, when the first check will be mailed, when and how you should come back and apply for the benefits.

APRIL—Put your house up for sale, offering possession next January 1st. Shift your investments into what form you'll want them for retirement, to get used to the new schedule of dividends.

MAY — Start cultivating the children a little better. Start cleaning out the attic and basement. Start packing the things you aren't using. Ask at least three moving companies to give you bids on moving your possessions, telling them you'll do the packing yourself.

JUNE—Start looking for a job, if you'll want one. Determine what businesses and industries are in your new town.

JULY—Take a three-week leave from the company (even at loss of pay), and spend it in your chosen town.

AUGUST — Write friendly letters to everybody you met on your visit. Adopt now another one-third of the budget set up last February. Go to the Internal Revenue Service and determine what income taxes will be on your pension and dividends.

SEPTEMBER—Buy health insurance for both husband and wife (if company policy doesn't carry over). Give children, friends and co-workers some details of your retirement plans.

OCTOBER—Make out a household work schedule, with duties divided between husband and wife.

NOVEMBER — Sign a contract for the moving of your possessions. Put into effect the final third of your budget.

DECEMBER — Set aside $250 for unexpected costs of moving. You'll need it. Change your address at Social Security, the pension company, etc., and at the Post Office. Rent a Post Office box in the new town for six months for better assurance you'll get your mail.

New GOLDEN YEARS 36-page booklet now ready. Send 50¢ in coin (no stamps), to Dept. CSPS, Box 1672, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N. Y.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED USERS

Before you call an ad-visor to place your

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS
Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER
Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS
Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED
Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE
Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. DON'T OMIT IMPORTANT WORDS TO SAVE MONEY
Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and amount to much less in the long run.

7. DON'T OVERLOOK OUR LOWER RATE FOR CONSECUTIVE INSERTIONS
You'll get the biggest parade of readers at the lowest price. Your Needs Satisfied thru Paddock Publications Classified.

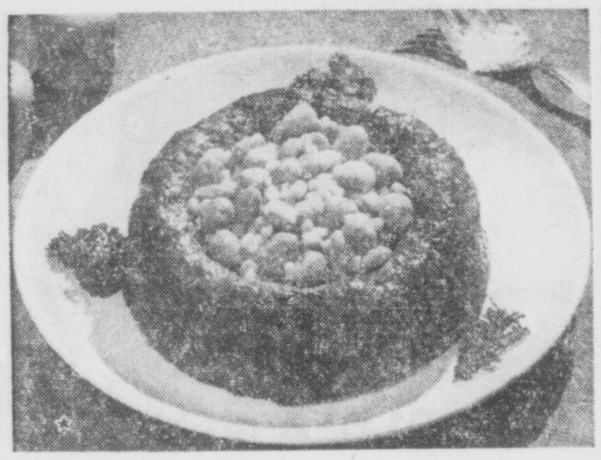
Raw Carrots Give Meat Loaf Ring New Texture



GRATED CARROTS give texture interest to this meat loaf which goes to the table in new style. The ring is filled with succotash for a complete meal-in-one.

When the lady in charge of the food dollar wants to stretch it farthest, what meat does she usually choose?

One at the top of her list is ground beef.

This most versatile of meats can come to the table in many different shapes. What about a meat ring instead of a loaf just for variety?

ANOTHER CHANGE of style for ground beef comes in the form of individual servings when the meat mixture is baked in medium-sized muffin pans. For further variety, try it in individual loaves.

Meat loaf is actually an economy "roast" since it's cooked in the oven, uncovered, without water or other liquid added after it's readied for the oven.

EASY MEAT LOAF

2 pounds ground beef
½ cup prated carrots
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup chopped onion, if desired
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Combine ground beef, carrots, seasonings, worcestershire sauce, onion and beaten eggs. Mix thoroughly.

Pack in loaf pan, ring mold or muffin pans. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees).

Allow 1½ hours for loaf baked in a 1-quart ring mold; 1½ hours for loaf baked in a 9x5-inch loaf pan and 45 minutes for individual servings baked in medium-sized muffin pans.

Eight servings. (SH

Caraway Perks-Up Pork, Apple-Kraut

It's a time of plentiful pork again! It's also the apple season, so why not combine pork and apples in a main dish?

Here's a new combination sauerkraut fans will love. Pork shoulder steaks bake on top of apples, sauerkraut, onion and caraway seeds. The results . . . a real palate teaser!

Pork steaks need braising, therefore, the baking dish is covered for half the cooking time to hold in the steam for moist-heat cooking.

Pork Steaks and Apple-Kraut

4 pork shoulder steaks, cut ½ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) sauerkraut, drained
2 medium apples, chopped
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon caraway seeds

Brown pork steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season steaks with salt and pepper. Combine mustard and horseradish and spread over steaks.

Combine sauerkraut, apples, onion and caraway seeds. Place in a 2-quart baking dish. Arrange pork steaks on top of sauerkraut.

Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 30 minutes. Four servings. (SH

For a Wealth of Flavor Serve Cockaleekie Soup

THRIFTY AND NIFTY—Cockaleekie soup is a Scotch classic. The soup is hearty, tastes wonderful, and costs little to prepare.

Chicken is a thrift food with winning ways—combining low cost with high quality protein, few calories, and a wealth of fine flavor.

A dish kind to the budget and most welcome after fanciful holiday menus is Cockaleekie Soup, a Scotch classic. Tender broiler chickens simmer in a stock enhanced with bay leaves and scallions.

Adding uncooked rice to the soup stock makes it doubly delicious, doubly rich in nutrients.

COCKALEEKIE SOUP

2 broiler-fryer chickens, whole or cut in serving pieces
3 teaspoons salt, divided
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 celery tops
2 bay leaves
2 quarts water
18 scallions, white and green parts, sliced (approximately 5 cups)
1 cup uncooked rice

Put chickens in deep kettle. Add 2 teaspoons of the salt, pepper, celery tops, bay leaves and water. Bring to a boil; cover tightly. Reduce heat and simmer 50 minutes.

Remove chicken; strain broth. Return broth to kettle. Add remaining 1 teaspoon salt, scallions and rice. Bring to a boil. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes. While mixture is simmering, remove chicken from bones.

Discard skin and cut chicken into coarse pieces. Return to soup; heat to serving temperature.

Yield: 6 to 8 main-dish servings. (SH

Garlic Soupcon

When garlic is used in a sauce, it should be added with the greatest discretion - a "soupcon" or "suspicion" of garlic, as the French put it.

And the secret of how to do it is shared with readers by Pierre Franey, French chef now in command of Howard Johnson kitchens.

PLACE A whole garlic clove in melted butter or olive oil, sautee until golden, then remove and discard. Do not allow the garlic to become brown or it will add a bitter flavor to the sauce.

A little trick, but so important using this potent seasoning!

Carve It Thin

Roast pork is most tempting when slices are cut fairly thin. Cut closely against both sides of each rib, alternately making one slice with a bone, one without.

In a small loin each slice may contain a rib. If the loin is quite large, it is possible to cut two boneless slices between ribs.

Balanced Meals a Must For Older Folks' Diet

Today there are about 18 million men and women over 65 years old in the United States—or 10 per cent of the entire population, according to statistics turned up in a geriatrics study by the Lipton Kitchens.

Health is probably the number one problem of these older Americans and the problem of good nutrition is closely allied to it.

In the U.S. Department of Agriculture's booklet, "Food Guide for Older Folks" it is pointed out that many of the minor complaints attributed to old age — chronic feelings of tiredness, vague anxieties and depression, and loss of sleep—are often caused by nothing more than poor nourishment.

AN APPETIZING dish for one or two people is prepared with chicken pieces and carrot rounds baked in a "gravy" made with chicken rice soup. One portion is shown here with buttered grean beans, a roll, and hot tea.

WHETHER A senior person lives alone, with a spouse, or as part of a family, he should have three well-balanced meals a day, with adequate amounts of the basic foods, and plenty of variety.

Attractive garnishes such as a crisp sprig of watercress or parsley on meat dishes, a sprinkling of paprika on creamed foods, or a spoonful of red jelly on milk puddings add a touch of color that often sparks an older person's appetite.

Since the same basic foods are necessary in all well-balanced diets, senior members of a large family should eat the same foods as everybody else as long as they are in generally good health. However, because they are usually less physically active than younger persons, they should cut down on the sweet and starchy foods that are high in calories.

MANY OLDER people prefer smaller helpings at mealtimes but enjoy a snack between meals and before bed. In this case, the soup or dessert course can be saved for a snack later.

This appetizing recipe for Chicken Risotto, was tested in the Lipton Kitchens and serves two.

CHICKEN RISOTTO

1 (1½ oz.) envelope Chicken Rice Soup Mix
Water
2 medium carrots, thinly sliced
½ small broiler, cut up or chicken parts as desired
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour

Prepare Chicken Rice Soup as label directs. Store half in refrigerator for tomorrow's soup.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Arrange carrots on bottom of medium baking dish. Top with chicken pieces.

In small saucepan, combine flour and 2 tablespoons water. Stir in remaining soup; bring to a boil, then pour over chicken. Bake uncovered, about 1 hour, or until chicken is golden and tender. (SH

KNITTERS

Now is the time to start something new — a dress — a suit — a coat — a sweater — or a rug (latch hook, of course.)

Speaking of something new, we are going to try a beginning knitting class at 9:00 Friday mornings. We will limit attendance to 10 people. The project will be your pattern (with our help, of course). We also will teach you basic stitches and a BASIC UNDERSTANDING.

I will also be starting a new advanced class (8:00 Tuesday evenings). Again we're limiting the number to 10. There are a few openings left.
